

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

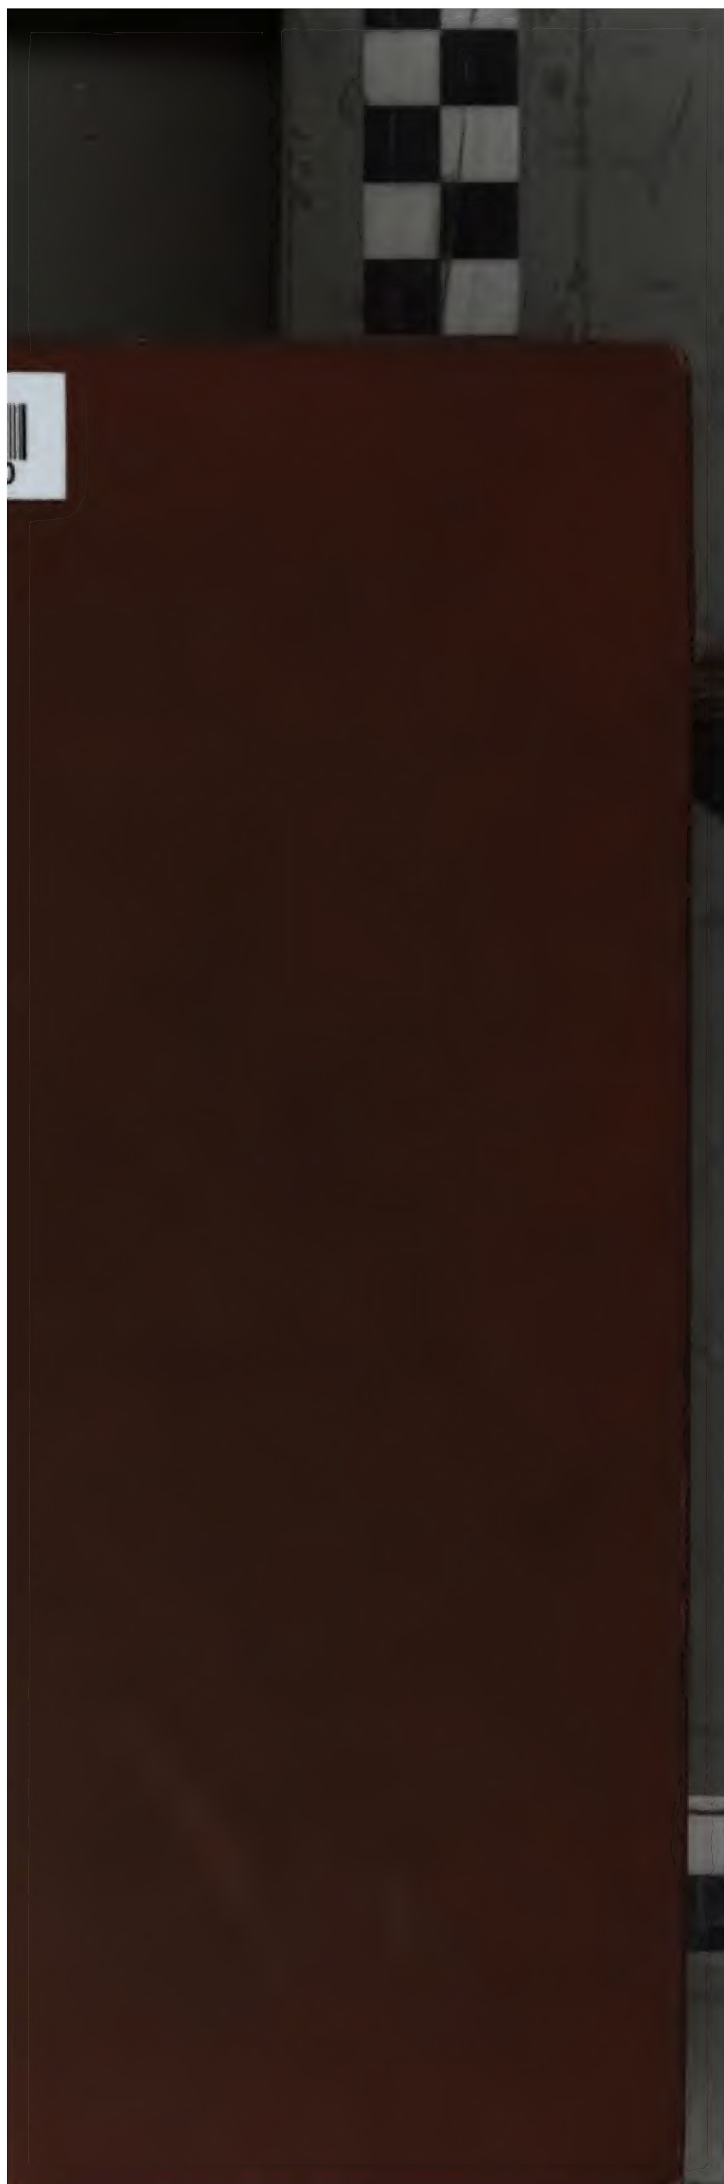

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

The title to the land occupied by St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal Church of Mamaroneck, Westchester County, is to revert to this corporation upon the failure of the parish, which holds a conditional title, to carry out the terms of the grants of the property.

An Endowment Fund for the parish, consisting of bonds of the West Shore Railroad Company, of the par value of $4,500, is held, the income to be applied to the expenses of the parish.

Endowment Fund, All Angels' Church, New York City. This fund is to accumulate until it amounts to $50,000. It amounts at this date to $19,065.75.

Land at Yonkers, New York, with Church Buildings, leased to St. Andrew's Memorial Church.

Since the last report additional property to be used in connection with this church has been received by gift from Mrs. Eva S. Cochran, including a Mission Chapel at Lincoln Park, Yonkers.

Loomis Memorial Chapel, to be held as a memorial of Dr. Alfred L. Loomis. The property is situated at Liberty, New York, at the Loomis Sanitarium, and has been leased on the usual terms to the Loomis Sanitarium, which agrees to maintain the property and provide necessary services.

Property on the south side of East Eighty-eighth Street east of Second Avenue, held by St. James' Church. This corporation holds a reversionary interest in this property in case the Church corporation should fail to comply with the terms of the deed of gift. Endowment Fund of $200,000, to be invested and the income paid over to the Rector, Church Wardens and Vestrymen of St. James' Church, to be applied to the use, maintenance and support of said property in East Eighty-eighth Street.

In addition to this an Endowment Fund of $89,086.64 has been received, to be held by this corporation, and the income paid to St. James' Church so long as it shall be entitled under the terms of the agreement to receive the same, and afterwards to Trinity Church Corporation of the City of New York.

Land at Harrison, Westchester County, New York, with Church Building thereon. As no church corporation has been formed to hold this property, a lease was made to Rev. William W. Kirkby, Frank German, James A. Burnham and William H. Beers, who agreed to maintain the property in repair and provide church services; the property being occupied and held in connection with Christ Church at Rye.

Church of the Holy Apostles, Endowment Fund. This fund was received in 1901, with instructions to hold the same until with the accumulations it amounted to $20,000, after which the income of the fund is to be paid to the Treasurer of the Church of the Holy Apostles, to be expended by him for the general running expenses of said church. This fund at the present time, with accumulations of interest, amounts to $20,243.14.

Since the last report two bonds of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway for $1,000 each, bearing five per cent. interest, have been received, the income to be paid to the Rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles, to be used for the Fresh Air Work of the parish; and a $1,000 bond of the City of New York, the income to be applied for the benefit of the Sunday-school of the parish, the fund to be known as the "John P. Collard Fund."

Fund of $10,000, received under the will of Mary Beech Tousey, the income to be paid to the Rector of St. Clement's Church, New York, to be expended in the employment of a competent and devout woman to care for the poor and sick in the neighborhood of said Church.

Endowment Fund for the benefit of St. John's Church, Yonkers, invested in registered bonds of the West Shore Railroad Company of the par value of $50,000, the income to be paid to the Rector, Church Wardens and Vestrymen of St. John's Church in the city of Yonkers.

Fund of $25,000, received from Mrs. Eva S. Cochran, to be held as a memorial of her deceased husband, William F. Cochran, the income to be paid to the Rector, Church Wardens and Vestrymen of St. Andrew's Memorial Church of the city of Yonkers.

The term of office of two of the Trustees, Henry Lewis Morris and Edmund L. Baylies, will expire October 1, 1904, and two persons should be elected by the Convention for the term of four years to succeed them.

The resignation of William Alexander Smith as Trustee has been presented. Owing to Mr. Smith's infirm health, he feels that he cannot properly perform the duties of his office, and with very sincere regret it is asked that his resignation be accepted by the Convention, and that a person be elected by the Convention to succeed him for the balance of his term, which will expire October 1, 1905.

The building at 29 Lafayette Place occupied as the Diocesan House needs repairs to the furnace. The income of the Endowment Fund is entirely insufficient to provide for the support of the building, and at a meeting of the Trustees held this day a resolution was adopted requesting the Trustees of the Diocesan Fund to provide for a new furnace at a cost of $160.

The Treasurer's Report submitted herewith shows in his charge securities and cash of the estimated value of $682,141.58.

Income received and paid out, $29,137.82.

The Treasurer's accounts have been examined and found correct by the Executive Committee, consisting of George R. Schieffelin and J. Pierpont Morgan.

Dated New York, September 26, 1904.

HENRY LEWIS MORRIS,

REMARKS.

Referring to the foregoing statement by the Union Trust Company, Assistant Treasurer, and custodian of the securities belonging to our funds, the Widows and Orphans' Fund now has invested capital of only $5,000, while the Aged and Infirm Clergy Fund has $218,598.83.

The Trustees have no power to divert income from the larger fund to the needs of the beneficiaries of the smaller.

The income of the Widows and Orphans' Fund during the past year was $8,457.41 (donations from individuals having increased $1,955 over the preceding year), but the payment of the stipends required $8,917.84, although the beneficiaries of the Widows and Orphans' Fund are still getting only three quarters of their allowances.

Owing to the resignation of Gen. Charles F. Roe, a vacancy exists in our board.

Respectfully submitted,

The Rev. R. B. Kimber presented the following report:

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CITY MISSION SOCIETY.

In presenting the Seventy-third Report of the City Mission Society the two important features of the year to place before you are the record of the Church's work, still more efficiently done by men of better training, and the more liberal response of the people of the Church to our appeals for the support of the Society. The general fund shows an increase of $12,100 over last year and the Fresh Air and Festival funds are each the largest in our history.

It will interest you to know that the income from the invested funds more than covers the entire office and administration expenses as well as the cost of the unusual repairs. Thus every dollar contributed by parish or individual goes directly to the support of the missionaries and their work.

The Treasurer's books show the sources of the Society's income have been as follows:

Income applicable to General Expenses.....	$57,652 90
Fresh Air Fund.....	5,112 53
Festival Fund.....	3,117 61
Special Objects.....	978 59
Mission News, Subscriptions, etc.....	794 60

The Missionary Staff numbers at the present time sixteen clergymen on regular duty, four deaconesses, four lay readers, and 121 others in minor capacities, but for whom salaries must be provided.

The method of filling all our vacancies from the bottom is firmly established with most happy and satisfactory results. Promising young men from our Seminaries are set to learn the various phases of our work before their graduation, and during their diaconate they act as assistants to the members of the Staff. In this way we are able to make the selection of a fit man for each vacancy as it occurs and are least liable to mistake. There are places where the need is for a man of mature years and experience, and such a one is chosen with reference to his special gifts for the particular work, and must accept the position conditionally until his ability properly to discharge the duty has been proven.

These figures will give an idea of the amount of work done from May 1, 1903, to May 1, 1904:

The one new field added to our work is the New York Skin and Cancer Hospital, where services have been held in the past by a devoted layman of the Church of the Incarnation.

At the request of the Bishop Coadjutor active missionary work will be begun this fall among the colored population of the city. Many of them were communicants in the South or members of the English Church in the West Indies, but have had no church affiliation in the North, and so are in a most pitiable spiritual condition.

The important addition to our material plant since the last report is the acquirement of Milford Haven for our Fresh Air work and the building of Schermerhorn House and the Chapel adjoining. Milford Haven is a farm of fifty-six acres in the town of Milford, Connecticut, with ample water front upon the Sound. In the old farmhouse upon it, remodelled for our use, we entertained the past summer 175 girls, while 200 boys spent two weeks each in Camp Bleecker upon another part of the property.

Under the will of the late Miss Sarah Schermerhorn, the Society received a legacy for its Fresh Air work.

With the consent of Miss Schermerhorn's family this money is being used for the erection of Schermerhorn House, a large well-equipped Fresh Air Home, with a chapel building connecting. Upon the completion of these buildings we will be able to care for 750 children a season in the House and Camp.

The Rethmore Home at Tenafly, New Jersey, has passed successfully through its twelfth season, entertaining 206 children. Mr. and Mrs. J. Hull Browning have, as in past years, borne all the expense of maintenance.

There is a great blessing we are able to bestow upon these young people beyond the two weeks in the fresh pure air of the country, and that is the careful and loving spiritual oversight during the time of their stay. The daily morning and evening prayer, the Sunday services with the administration of the Holy Communion at an early hour have produced results this past summer beyond our most earnest hopes. The echo of this work has come back to us through the vicars of the chapels, who report more regular attendance upon the services and greater and more reverent interest in them on the part of these beneficiaries.

The peculiar work of the Society is the ministering to the inmates of the public institutions of the city. Here are the sick, the halt, the maimed, the blind, the unfortunate, the prisoner, the harlot—the people Christ ministered to—few of whom ever go inside a church building or hear the Gospel of Salvation. With thankfulness for God's blessings do we report services at which the chapels are crowded with these people, and baptisms of infants and adults carefully prepared, by which they have put on Christ and become soldiers under His banner.

What the inmates of the hospital, asylum, prison or almshouse crave most is a friend, and each chaplain is indeed a friend to his people. What a comfort it is to them to have some one who cares, who will listen, who will perform the little services asked, for which the employees of the institution have no time!

One more link is necessary to complete the chain by which we seek to bind these people, having won them, to the Church, and that is a clergyman at large who will shepherd the sheep as they leave the institutions and watch over them until they become regular members of a parish. We hope to be able to employ this additional priest this coming winter.

Splendid work has been done in our own chapels and Mission Houses, the details of which will be in the volume of reports soon to be issued.

The chapel formerly the Pro-Cathedral has received at our hands its original name, and is to be known as Epiphany Chapel, Stanton Street. The necessity of a Parish building for the Chapel of the Messiah to which we have constantly called attention grows greater year by year. It is a splendid opportunity for some one to do a great service to humanity by a gift sufficiently large to build and equip such a house.

The work of the Society is to a large extent among children. We have children in our Day Nurseries and Kindergartens, Sunday-schools and Clubs. We minister to the little ones suffering with contagious diseases and confined in hospital wards because of fractures or deformities. We try to brighten the lives of those whom God has seen fit to deprive in a greater or less degree of the light of reason. We endeavor to help those who have started life wrong and so are inmates of our schools of reform. Why should not the more fortunate children of the Church take a deep interest in these little ones of Christ, and during the season of Advent each year learn of them in their Sunday-schools, and, gathering their little savings for the support of this work, offer them upon the altar on the Birthday of the Christ Child, who has made childlikeness a requirement of those who believe in Him and said "for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven"?

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT B. KIMBER,

NEW YORK, September 28, 1904.

The Rev. Dr. Stires offered the following resolution which was adopted :

Resolved, That this Convention, in accepting the annual report of the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society, which has just been presented, desires to express its deep sense of the importance of the Society's work, and its cordial recommendation to the clergy and laity of the city and diocese to give to that work their unremitting and generous support, and to adopt the suggestion contained therein to inaugurate in their several parishes a Sunday-school offering during the Advent Season for City Missions.

The Rev. Dr. Nichols offered the following resolution, which was referred to a committee of five :

Resolved, That the Convention of the Diocese of New York memorializes the General Convention to authorize the permissive use of the Revised Version of the Holy Scriptures in the reading of the Lessons.

On motion the Convention adjourned to 2 o'clock.

The Convention reassembled at 2 o'clock.

The Chair appointed as the committee on the permissive use of the Revised Version the Rev. Dr. Nichols, the Rev. Dr. Manning, the Rev. F. M. S. Taylor, Mr. William Jay and Mr. George Zabriskie.

The Rev. Mr. Hulse moved that the Report of the Committee on the Division of the Diocese be made the order of the day at 3 o'clock, which was adopted.

The Rev. A. R. Mansfield presented and read the following report :

Report

OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR SEAMEN IN THE CITY AND PORT OF NEW YORK.

The Society has kept up its high standard of efficiency and has made a substantial advance, the results of which more than ever justify their cost in money, time and labor. Its executive officers are live men—all of them.

As the field expands, your Board sees the need of still greater activity, and its members are eager and enthusiastic to do their part. Reference is made to the summary at the end of this report.

Reading Rooms.—More men have visited the Reading Rooms and services at the several stations. They write and receive more letters. They attend more religious meetings and respond more freely to their increasing influence. The high-water mark of character has been notably lifted.

Legal Aid.—We have continued to co-operate with the Legal Aid Society, which has received and acted on about three thousand complaints of seamen during the year. One of our Managers has a seat on its Board of Directors and is Chairman of its Seamen's Branch Committee.

Moneys Deposited and Transmitted.—More money has been deposited for safekeeping; more and larger sums have been transmitted by our officers to dependent relatives, aggregating this year over $92,000, or more than double the amount of last year, and six times the sum of the previous year. Who can estimate the real value of these savings to homes, to mothers and children, and to seamen who save and are saved?

The Mission Boat.—The Mission Boat "Sentinel," whose flag is seen in the harbor on weekdays and Sundays, while on its errands of religion and humanity, stands prominent among our newly-adopted lines of work. For the establishment and maintenance of this experimental harbor service, this Society is largely indebted to the generous members of the Seamen's Benefit Society, through whose continued co-operation the Mission Boat will, we hope, be kept in commission. Friends of seamen and of New York are to be congratulated on its efficient and successful inauguration and rapidly increasing usefulness.

Shipment of Seamen.—While the greatly desired "Free Shipping Bureau" has not been established upon a broad basis, the efforts of the Board to obtain employment for seamen, free from the exactions of "blood-money crimps," have been increasingly successful.

More than fifteen hundred seamen have been shipped at our stations this year, free from cost to them, as against ten hundred and seventy-seven shipped last year.

Home for Seamen.—The need for a permanent structure adequate for the consolidated work of the Society on the East Side, and at the Battery, is more and more pressing. The present work cannot be so economically administered, scattered as it now is in many localities at a distance from each other, as it could be under one roof, at a central point on the water front. For this purpose a Building Fund of at least $500,000 is needed.

The Sailors' Palace in London, the Seamen's Institute in Montreal, and the Home for Naval Seamen in Brooklyn, illustrate how grandly merchants and citizens rally to make provision for seamen in response to the initiative of some benevolent organization. Why should not this Society make the appeal and do the work, or promote the organization, if necessary, of a secular corporation to meet the needs of this and other societies for seamen?

Such an effort should also enlist the sympathies of the commercial bodies and shipping interests of this commercial centre.

Courtesies Received.—We gratefully recognize the actual and promised facilities granted the Society's officers by the British Consul-General and the United States Shipping Commissioner at this port in their efforts to promote the welfare of American and foreign seamen.

Ice-Water Fountain on West Street.—"The Woman's Municipal League of New York City" asked the privilege of placing and maintaining ice-water fountains in front of the West Street side of the Chapel of the Holy Comforter and in front of Mission House on Pike Street, which was gladly given by our Board, and the fountains were accordingly placed.

Deaths.—We have lost during the past year from the list of our Vice-Presidents that warm-hearted and beloved worker for Christ, the Rev. Dr. E. Walpole Warren, who died last fall while traveling abroad; and from the ranks of our efficient and most active laborers in the field we shall greatly miss Mr. Daniel Montgomery, who died on the 5th of October last, and whose many years of continuous service to the interests of the Mission entitle him to remembrance by the Board.

Contributions from Churches.—With two or three conspicuous exceptions the churches of this city have not given us that support which we had hoped for from them. At the dedication services for our Mission Boat our Bishop gave the following admirable advice to the friends of our work: "Make your rector uncomfortable until he takes a collection for it every year. Prod him gently at first, but keep at him persistently until he does it."

Legacies.—We do not wish our friends to die, and we greatly prefer gifts from the living, but we do wish that in the preparation of their wills they would oftener bear us in mind, and now that the courts have declared legacies to our Society not to be subject to the provisions of the Transfer Tax Act, we can get the full benefit of the entire gift without deduction.

Deficit.—The smallness of the church contributions, and the fact that no legacies have recently come to us, renders the consideration of the present deficit of especial importance. This year our expenses, including those of the Mission Boat, have been about $23,500, and our income $18,500, leaving us with a deficit of $4,500. To meet this deficit we have had to draw upon our principal; and as for about five years we have been obliged in like manner to reduce our principal, our annual income has been diminished one thousand dollars. It does not seem as though such a condition should be allowed to continue, in the face of the greater field of useful effort now rapidly opening before us.

Appeal.—Let everyone who has cause for gratitude to seamen who battle against adverse elements on the ocean help us to preserve them from adverse elements on the land. Then we shall have ample means to go forward with our proposed improvements. Manly sympathy extended in these practical ways will bridge the chasm which now separates those who live in comfort on shore from these inarticulate and homeless brethren of the sea.

The Rev. Dr. Harris presented the report of St. Stephen College.

Report

OF ST. STEPHEN'S COLLEGE.

The past year at St. Stephen's has been checkered with cloud and sunshine. At the end of the Academic year of 1902-1903 the Warden, the Rev. Lawrence T. Cole, Ph.D., presented his resignation. He had done much to elevate the intellectual standard and to broaden the curriculum of the college.

His resignation left the college for six months of the past year without a head. In this emergency the Trustees appointed as Acting Warden that tried and faithful professor, who for forty years had stood by the college, the Rev. Geo. B. Hopson, D.D. That sturdy and loyal man did yeoman service, and when the new Warden entered on his duties he found in him a wise counsellor, a true friend and a loyal supporter. Without his aid the task of the Warden would have been far greater.

It was with great diffidence that the new Warden entered on his duty. He would fain have declined the call. He knew well the difficulties before him. He felt that it would have been better to lay the burden on younger and broader shoulders. He doubted his own ability to grapple with and solve the problem. When he yielded, it was because those who knew more about the work insisted on his acceptance.

Some years of service as a member of the Standing Committee of this Diocese, and one of its Examining Chaplains, had convinced him that the Diocese and the Church at large needed just such an institution as St. Stephen's, and that the need was never greater than it is to-day. He found at once much to encourage him in the way that the faculty and students received him and responded to his calls on them.

The new year opens with many signs of promise. The faculty has been strengthened by the addition of Mr. Irville F. Davidson, a recent graduate in high standing from Harvard University, and one who has had some years of experience as a teacher. Eighteen new students have been received, three of whom enter advanced classes. The new material is also of excellent quality. More than half of them are men over twenty-one years of age, and some have had several years of training in business. They show an eager desire to learn, a readiness to endure hardships, and a resolute determination to consecrate themselves to the Master's work.

It will be our task to so train and discipline them as to fit them to be meet for His service. May we not, brethren of the Clergy and Laity, look to you for the material help we need, and for the encouragement of the assurance that you sympathize with us in our work, and are praying the Lord of the harvest to bless our feeble efforts and to uphold our weak hands?

THOMAS R. HARRIS,

Warden.

The Secretary presented the following report:

Report

OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE PAROCHIAL FUND.

The Trustees respectfully report:

That during the past year they have continued the payment of the several stipends to the clergymen who have applied for such assistance, and who are entitled to it under the provisions of the Charter and By-laws of the Society; the number of clergymen who have been thus aided during the year being four, and the amount distributed being the sum of $1,050.

They are gratified to be able to announce that they have succeeded in selling the property in West One Hundred and Forty-fifth Street, which they had been compelled to buy in under the foreclosure of a mortgage, for the consideration of $32,250, and the net proceeds are now earning interest.

The Rev. Dr. Thompson, the Secretary of the Society, has been abroad during the greater part of the year, having gone last October to Rome to take charge of the Church in that city during the absence of the Rector, the Rev. Dr. Nevin, but is expected home again within the ensuing month.

The term of office of two of the Trustees expiring this year, it will be necessary to elect their successors.

GEO. R. SCHIEFFELIN,
President.

ANDREW C. ZABRISKIE,
Secretary pro tem.

NEW YORK, September 27, 1904.

On motion the ballot was dispensed with and Mr. Stuyvesant Fish Morris, M.D. and Mr. George R. Schieffelin were re-elected as Trustees to serve until October, 1907.

Mr. Geo. Macculloch Miller presented the following report:

The Trustees beg to report that after careful consideration of the difficult and delicate questions involved they decided to purchase the property No. 7 Gramercy Park as an Episcopal Residence, for the present to be used by the Bishop Coadjutor.

The cost of this property was $86,000, of which $55,000 was paid in cash, and the remainder of $31,000 was left on the property as a first mortgage at four per cent.

An examination of the property showed that extensive alterations and repairs were necessary in order to make the building a suitable and safe residence for the Bishop, and on this work the Committee has already expended the sum of $14,750.50, and there remain outstanding bills, special orders, etc., of approximately $5,247.

The Trustees therefore recommend to the Committee the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund having reported an investment of a part of the funds in their hands for the purchase of a residence for the Bishop Coadjutor at Gramercy Park and Twentieth Street in the City of New York, that such investment of the funds in the hands of the Trustees is hereby approved by this Convention.

The Present Account of the Episcopal Residence Fund is as follows:

The Episcopal Residence Fund, amounting with its accumulations on September 28, 1904, to $74,378.43, has been partially invested in the purchase and improvement of the building No. 7 Gramercy Park, New York City, as a residence for the Bishop Coadjutor.

The receipts from assessments during the year have been sufficient to meet the deficiency in the income of the fund for the Bishop's salary; but, no addition having been made to the capital of the fund during the year, an assessment will be necessary for the deficiency of income for the year ending September 30, 1905.

The Trustees recommend to the Convention the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund be, and they are hereby, authorized to assess the parishes of the Diocese at the rate of three per cent. upon the salaries paid to the Clergy, for the purpose of raising moneys needed for the Episcopal Fund, in lieu of the collections provided by canon.

The Treasurer of Convention begs leave to present the following facts:

During the year ending October 1, 1904, he has received, including the balance of $334.88, the sum of $9,408.29, while he has expended the sum of $10,340.76, showing a deficiency in receipts of $526.47.

He is obliged again to remind the Convention that they will not be able much longer to continue the appropriations to the several Archdeaconries, unless our receipts are materially increased.

He would also remind the Convention that the Missionary Committee of the Diocese was incorporated for the special purpose of aiding missionary work in parishes outside of the city of New York.

The reports of the Archdeacons were presented and read:

Report

OF THE ARCHDEACONRY OF ORANGE

In behalf of the Archdeaconry of Orange, its Archdeacon would report as follows:

The work has gone on steadily, and with the blessing of God has developed in many instances rich harvests.

Especially may we note this characteristic in the Confirmation classes, themselves with the churches of our communion; this fact is worthy of the candidates presented to the Bishop. It is well worthy of consideration that many of those confirmed at Mission stations find their way sooner or later to the cities and larger villages of the Diocese, and there connect themselves with the churches of our communion; this fact is worthy of consideration, for it justifies in a wider than local aspect the liberal contributions to Diocesan Missions made by the congregations in the centres of population; and it satisfactorily answers, in perhaps a new view of the subject, the question that is often asked, "Why should I contribute to these Missions?" The Archdeacon ventures to say that no better missionary investment can be made than in the Missions of this Diocese of New York, and he would again express the hope that ere long liberally-minded men will devise liberal things in the way of an endowment for this cause. He would ask the Church Club, and the Churchmen's Association, and other kindred societies, to bear this in mind, and to agitate towards its realization.

Another of the notes of encouragement claiming mention is the relinquishment by Christ Church, Marlborough, Ulster County, of its missionary stipend, and its enrollment among the self-supporting parishes. This has been made possible by the late Mr. Buckley's generous legacy to the parish corporation, which has become available during the past year and has been safely invested. By this addition to its income, the congregation has been able also to plan and carry out several much needed improvements.

Summer services have been maintained as usual at the various mountain stations. At one of these, Mead's Mount in the Catskills, the officiating minister has been the Rev. G. Valerie Gilreath, of Smyrna, Delaware. The change to a higher altitude was very beneficial to his health, and was the means of giving to our mission the acceptable ministrations of an earnest priest. Here is found an illustration of the plan the Archdeacon has so often urged of utilizing the services of men from the South who desire, during the summer, a change to mountain altitudes.

Another instance, in connection with supplying services to missions during the warmer season, may be mentioned here. One of the clergy of Trinity Parish, New York, the Rev. Frederick J. Keech, volunteered to spend two weeks of his vacation in any mission assigned, and asked no compensation beyond what the mission could raise. He was assigned to Callicoon and Long Eddy, in Sullivan County, and rendered most efficient service. This example is worthy of reflection and imitation by others to whom a like line of action may be convenient. It brings town and country into contact and mutual understanding, and makes familiar the varied phases of mission work in its encouraging as well as depressing aspects, for it need not be denied that both phases enter into a missionary's experience; and that no man more than he, needs the grace of God as a help to remain steadfast, cheerful and progressive in trying environments. During the year, our stations have all been held and none abandoned. Much precious fruit has been gathered; and faithfulness and loyalty have characterized the missionaries in their varied and useful labors.

The names of the missionaries and of stations in the Archdeaconry of Orange are appended.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM REED THOMAS,

Archdeacon.

Report

OF THE ARCHDEACON OF WESTCHESTER.

The Archdeaconry of Westchester has kept up its regular work this year, and added somewhat to it by new departures. We have promptly met our obligations, and have been able to give clerical assistance to two of our Missionaries, whose increasing labors demanded it.

Westchester County:

The Rev. C. M. Selleck reports that the work will soon require a resident Missionary at Lewisboro. The people have graded the Church property, and are about to repair the school building in anticipation of a resident clergyman. South Salem keeps its venerable church in good condition, and is encouraged by increasing interest and larger attendance at the services.

The Rev. S. F. Holmes of St. John's, Pleasantville, though suffering for several months past from severe illness, has been able to keep up the services by clerical supply, and the kind assistance of his friends. Three Guilds in the parish have raised $700 this year to apply October 1st to the reduction of the debt on the rectory.

Rev. John W. Buckmaster reports the usual work at Tuckahoe, with many benefactions of his people for outside objects. The Rev. J. O. Davis serves the Church of St. Joseph of Arimathea, Elmsford, without assistance from the Archdeaconry. At the Consecration of the Church some years since, the promise was given, should a resident clergyman be appointed, that the expense would be met by the people. This promise has been kept. The Archdeaconry has the oversight of the property in the interest of the Trustees of the estate and property of the Diocese. We have asked Mr. Davis to take charge of St. Mark's, Nepera Park, for several years efficiently served by the Lay Helpers' Association. We would beg to acknowledge our appreciation of the good work done by members of that body. Rev. C. W. Bolton, Pelham, with the acceptable aid of his assistant. Rev. E. B.

Rice, finds his work growing; congregation and Sunday-school are larger; and the venerable Rector is much encouraged. Rev. G. H. H. Butler has removed the Chapel of St. Mary, Sherman Park, to permanent grounds recently acquired, and, with the growth of the vicinity, is adding strength to the work.

Rev. George K. MacNaught, of All Saints', Harrison, labors with singular devotion in the difficult work he serves. We have been disappointed as to the growth of Harrison, caused somewhat by the strikes of the past year. But in the near future we are assured that the place will amply warrant the placing of this complete and beautiful Parish plant, and the calling of its Rector.

Rockland County:

Rev. Thomas Stephens serves St. Paul's, Spring Valley; St. John's, New City, and St. Stephens's, Pearl River. The Rev. Charles A. Howells has enabled him to add to the efficiency of his own work and enlarge its scope. The congregation at Pearl River has this year repaired and enriched their building with money contributed in the Mission, and much of the work wrought by members of the Chapel.

The Rev. W. H. Masker at St. Luke's, Haverstraw and Grace Church, Tomkins' Cove, with occasional services at Jones' Point, has given his usual ministrations. In this field little more can be done than to keep up the testimony of the Church, and hold its position for future development. Rev. Charles C. Proffitt, Trinity Church, Garnerville, reports that the church life of his parish is largely dependent upon the activity, or lack of it, of the Garner Print Works. Yet through this year good results have attended his ministrations, and a generous support of the work has been given.

Putnam County:

Rev. Eli D. Sutcliffe, for his three missions at Lake Mahopac, Richardville, and West Somers, makes hopeful report of spiritual and material progress. The season at the Lake has been a good one. The Parish is free from debt. He records a great loss to his work in the death of Mrs. Wm. A. Nash, a warm friend of the Mission. She has for years taken an interest in this Mission. From the Holy Land and the South she sent reminders that she was thinking of the little church. At Richardville, the services have been better attended than for years. The building has been painted and repaired. At West Somers, with the aid of Mr. Mottram, Lay Reader, the Mission gives signs of growth. The Bishop of the Diocese laid the corner-stone of the new church August 4th, and the work of building is going on. It is hoped that the church will be completed by November 1st. This is the only church in the vicinity, and our Missionary showed wisdom in beginning this work, as he has given devoted service in its prosecution. While the people in the community have given most generously to this new enterprise, and friends outside have helped, the erection of the church and its early consecration, have been assured by the gift of $1,000 from Mrs. W. F. Cochran, of Yonkers. And may I add that the Diocese and Archdeaconry are still further indebted to this noble and generous woman.

for the gift of land and new Chapel in Lincoln Park, Yonkers, under the charge of the clergy of St. Andrew's of that city.

The Rev. W. H. Meldrum, Patterson, reports that he has added to his work at Christ Church the care of a Mission at Reynoldsville, Dutchess County, and has given some services this year at Pawling. He holds a monthly service at Patterson for the Swedes, with the aid of Rev. Mr. Hammaraskold. The parish has been depleted of late years by condemnation proceedings in the interest of New York's water supply, depriving families of their homes, many of whom have removed from the place. The additions to population are to a great extent Bohemian, nominal Roman Catholics. A few of their children, however, have been brought into the Sunday-school; some attend the services; and the Rector at times ministers to them with the offices of marriage and burial. We feel that the work of the Archdeaconry is hopeful, and we are grateful to God and to all who willingly help us in doing it.

All of which we would respectfully submit,

FREDERICK B. VAN KLEECK, Archdeacon.

Report

OF THE ARCHDEACON OF RICHMOND.

The missionary interests in the Archdeaconry of Richmond are in a fair way to enjoy a substantial revival. The greatly improved transportation facilities between the boroughs of Richmond and Manhattan, which are about to be provided, will doubtless bring into Staten Island large numbers of new residents; and this will afford both ground and stimulus for enlarged missionary effort. Plans are being matured for the establishment of cottage services and Sunday-schools at all points where a nucleus of Church people affords reasonable encouragement—some of which will doubtless develop into valuable and permanent Church centres. The existing missions have all of them substantial church buildings, in most cases unincumbered, their work is being prosecuted with intelligence and efficiency, and each of them will doubtless develop, though in differing measure, greater strength and influence in their respective localities.

The Rev. John C. Fair at St. Stephen's, Tottenville, reports the largest Easter offering in the history of the parish, $210, that the work of the Sunday-school and the various societies is carried on with unabated interest, and that the Young People's Guild has raised and placed in bank $600 toward the erection of a parish building.

The Rev. Wm. G. Thompson at St. Simon's, Concord, reports a large variety of parish improvements and an increasing disposition on the part of the people to lean upon their own efforts for the support of the Chapel.

At the Church of the Holy Comforter, Eltingville, a pipe organ formerly in Christ Church, New Brighton, has been procured and erected at an expense of $443, and the general disposition of the people to respond to all financial needs is exceedingly gratifying. Mr. C. A. Behringer was in charge of this mission until last June.

The faithful and acceptable ministration of Mr. Geo. G. Burbanck at the Chapel of Our Father, Mariners' Harbor, terminated last July by his removal, after ordination, to his own Diocese of Indianapolis, leaving behind him many regrets and much evidence of efficient work. The future of this field has been immensely brightened by the generous action of a member of the mission, Mr. William Jones, who has made provision not only for the payment of an incumbrance of $1,500, but also for the liquidation of all accumulated current obligations, and has deposited $750 in bank as a special reserve for any needs of the mission to the limit of $150 per year.

Trinity Mission, New Dorp, under the care of Mr. C. K. Gilbert, a student in the General Seminary, is making exceptional progress in numbers and efficiency. The people are inspired with brightest hopes for the future and the conditions seem to justify those hopes.

In the missions of the Archdeaconry, it has, however, been long apparent that the necessity for more clerical service, instead of that of lay-readers exercising practically rectorial functions, is urgent and imperative. It has now, therefore, been determined to place the pastoral responsibility for Eltingville and Mariners' Harbor upon a missionary in orders, supplementing his services by those of local lay helpers. The appointment of the Rev. J. B. Blanchet, D.D., to the charge of these two points marks a distinctive measure of progress in the aggressive energy which it is purposed to infuse into the whole work of the Archdeaconry.

HENRY ANSTICE,
Acting Archdeacon.

Report

OF THE ARCHDEACONRY OF DUTCHESS.

The general report of the Archdeaconry of Dutchess is of an encouraging character. All financial obligations have been promptly met, and the year has been marked by signs of growth and aggressive effort in at least one of the missions.

St. James' Mission, Dover Plains, is under the care of the Rev. Alexander Hamilton, who succeeded the Rev. H. N. Wayne. The promise of last year has been more than fulfilled. The attendance at the services has been most satisfactory. The number of baptisms and confirmations is most encouraging.

All current expenses have been met—the Archdeaconry apportionment paid in full and offerings made for general missions and Diocesan objects. A lot has been secured in a central position of the village at a cost of $200. The title to this property is held by the Archdeaconry. Three hundred dollars have also been raised for the building of a Church. In every way, the future seems full of promise. The mission is itself a centre of missionary activity in the Harlem Valley—the priest in charge visiting Millerton and Pawling to minister to the few Church families in those places.

St. Thomas' Church, Amenia Union, is also under the care of the Rev. Mr. Hamilton. This is one of the older parishes of the Archdeaconry. There are eighteen families and twenty-nine communicants connected with the Church. The greater part of the support of this work must be supplied by the Archdeaconry. The parish has an endowment of $7,900 in the care of the Parochial Fund Society of the Diocese, which for three years past has been unproductive. During this time the Archdeaconry has assumed the amount of interest ($400). It is earnestly hoped that the property in which this sum is invested may soon yield some return, and the Archdeaconry then enabled to use this money for work in other parts of the county.

Glenham, St. John the Baptist's Church, the Rev. J. H. Ivie, Missionary. Glenham does not grow in population, and the opportunity for any decided increased membership is very meagre. Services are maintained every Sunday. There are fifty children under instruction. Twelve adults and infants have been baptized and seven have been confirmed. The Church and Parish House have been thoroughly renovated—the entire cost being met by members of the mission.

Hopewell Junction, the Church of the Resurrection, Rev. D. B. Ray, missionary. This is a railroad centre and it seems certain that the place will have a rapid and steady growth. The work of the Church has been carried on without interruption. There is no debt and all expenses have been met. The difficulty regarding the title to the Church property has been removed—the heirs of the grantor having given a new deed—thus securing the building and lot to the Church.

I can but repeat what I have already said in regard to the Church life in the old established parishes of Lithgow, served by the Rev. W. C. Rodgers; Pleasant Valley, the Rev. R. R. Upjohn, missionary; and Pine Plains, the Rev. Thomas Burrows in charge. It has been excellent in view of the fact that there is no increase of population in those places. The Rev. Mr. Upjohn of Pleasant Valley reports the Church attendance as most encouraging. There have been ten baptized and five have been confirmed. A system of weekly pledges has been maintained during the past year, more than doubling the former offerings. Necessary repairs have been made upon the Church building, the money and labor being contributed by friends of the parish.

The Rev. Mr. Burrows reports indications of awakened spiritual interest in Pine Plains—the attendance at Church services and Sunday-school being increased.

Mr. A. C. Burdick's work at Stone House, West Pawling, continues largely in the direction of teaching school and general religious influence.

For some years past, a Sunday-school has been maintained by Mr. W. H. Hart and his family and neighbors, at Manchester Bridge, six miles east of Poughkeepsie. The services have been held in a school-house. At the Church service in the evening, a priest or lay reader is always present. Mr. Hart has presented a lot of land, on which a Church building will soon be erected. The interest in this work is constantly increasing.

The reports of all the missionaries show the results of self-denying, patient and efficient service.

A. T. ASHTON, D.D.,
Archdeacon.

Report

OF THE ARCHDEACON OF NEW YORK.

We beg leave to begin our annual report by reminding our brethren of the clergy and laity that no part of the offerings in city parishes for Diocesan Missions is appropriated for the missionary work of the Archdeaconry of New York, but that all of them are used outside of the city. While this arrangement has our cordial sympathy, we regret that only a few of the city Churches favor us with special offerings. We are obliged to depend largely upon contributions that come to us from individuals from time to time, in response to appeals.

Notwithstanding the insufficiency of funds at our disposal for missionaries' salaries and other urgent expenses, the past year has been one of much encouragement.

What Church extension in the Bronx means is well illustrated by the brief history of one of our Archdeaconry missions. The Mission of the Advocate was opened five years ago in a rented room in a growing neighborhood of the Bronx. Four months ago it was incorporated as an independent parish. It steadily grew from the beginning. During the past year its progress has been remarkable. It now has 378 families and parts of families; 941 baptized persons; 201 communicants; 22 Sunday-school teachers and 352 Sunday-school scholars. During the past year 34 of its children were baptized and 31 candidates confirmed. The congregation no longer worships in a rented room, but has a suitable edifice of its own, partly paid for by the people, and partly by outside aid, and set on a fair site presented by the venerable mother parish of the city, Trinity Church. In addition to local gifts for the building fund and other objects, the offerings during the year at the Church services were $1,229.25, and in the Sunday-school, $616.60. We believe that the new parish will go from strength to strength. It has made so good a record in so short a time because, under God's blessing, its workers were pioneers on the ground of a growing neighborhood, and because, at the right time, they were enabled to transfer their work from a rented room to a spacious and well appointed Chapel.

Emmanuel Mission was begun with four children less than two years ago in a rented room. The number of its Sunday-school scholars is now one hundred and thirteen. Five infants and two adults have been baptized and eight candidates confirmed during the past year. And now it has in addition to its Sunday-school a congregation that fills the room; a choir of twelve boys; a chancel guild; a sewing school; a junior brotherhood of St. Andrew; a boys' club; a social guild, arranging for lectures and entertainments, and an admirable system of house to house visitation. And meantime this mission, being under the immediate direction of an unsalaried lay reader of rare fitness for his work, has been absolutely self-supporting even in the matter of providing, from month to month, for the ministrations of a priest at celebrations of the Holy Communion. The Deacon who has lately given valuable aid to the work belongs to the staff of Grace Parish.

May we not well ask if such a promising plant does not deserve a new chapel? What better opportunity than this can anyone find in any mission field for the wise use of money?

Such at least was the question which a certain layman asked himself when he became familiar with similar conditions at a sister mission called the Atonement. Though only four years old it had quite outgrown the storeroom in which it had been housed, and so this friend, who modestly withholds his name, bought two lots and built a chapel at a total cost of about $4,000 for the accommodation of the growing congregation and Sunday-school. The furnace has been provided by the Rev. John Henry Watson. Miss A. A. Curtis has presented a stained glass memorial window containing a copy of Correggio's picture of the Holy Family. The chapel is now ready to be consecrated. This mission, like others manned by the Lay Helpers' Association, to which we are glad again to make our grateful acknowledgments, has been particularly fortunate in being under the immediate direction of lay readers of exceptional missionary gifts.

Another self-supporting mission under competent lay readers is that of the Holy Spirit, organized in January, 1901. It has continued during the past year to make use of the large room in a private residence where a Norwegian congregation worships at other hours, but the arrangement has been more than ever unsatisfactory, on account of the blasting of rock in the street immediately in front of the entrance, which began more than a year ago and has not yet been completed. However, it has the offer of a new site a few blocks eastward for occupation for a term of years without cost, and about $500 in its treasury toward the expense of a new chapel, and so the congregation is hoping for better accommodations in the near future.

Two others of our self-supporting missions under lay readers of the Lay Helpers' Association are St. Martha's, inaugurated in January, 1901, and the new one at Bronxwood Park. Both are still in rented rooms, and both have made records of growth and usefulness during the past year.

St. Simeon's, Melrose, is only five years old, but it has made good use of its opportunities. It still occupies a rented house which is not large enough for its needs, but it has a $7,500 lot presented by Trinity Church, and a building fund of $10,000 with which it is hoped work on the new chapel will soon be begun. It has paid its current expenses during the past year with the exception of the missionary's salary. Its last annual report includes 28 infants and 6 adults baptized and 23 candidates confirmed. It now has 178 families and parts of families; 150 communicants; 12 Sunday-school teachers and 175 Sunday-school scholars. It has a sewing school, a woman's guild and a mother's meeting.

It is the distinction of two of our missions having clergymen in charge that they are entirely self-supporting, with the exception of the small cost of supplying clerical substitutes during the short vacations of the pastors. They are St. Alban's, High Bridge, organized in 1899, and the Holy Nativity, Bedford Park, organized a year later, the minister in charge in each case volunteering his services without a stipend. The former mission has a good chapel edifice built on ground presented by Mrs. Augustus P. Cooke. The other still occupies a two-story carriage house suitably fitted up for its work, but it is hoped that a more favorable site can be secured and a new chapel built before much longer delay.

St. Stephen's, Woodlawn, which has a handsome Church edifice, and St. George's, Williamsbridge, which still occupies the crypt of its proposed building, have been self-supporting during the past year with the exception of the salaries of the missionaries in charge.

St. David's congregation, of our colored brethren, also continues to occupy the large and comfortable crypt of the proposed new edifice, and for its current expenses has depended upon the Archdeaconry treasury only in the matter of its pastor's salary. This mission now reports 398 families and parts of families; 209 communicants; 25 Sunday-school teachers and 442 Sunday school scholars. During the past year 27 children were baptized and 2 candidates confirmed. The pipe organ now in use was presented by the Rector and Vestry of St. Ann's Church.

The Fresh Air work for outings and excursions in the country was more than ever prosperous last summer. It was particularly favored by the generous action of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Zabriskie in giving to it the free use of a spacious house on extensive grounds near Ridgewood, New Jersey, where 237 beneficiaries were sheltered for a fortnight. Similar outings were provided elsewhere for 150 beneficiaries. Instead of arranging as formerly for large excursions on the Sound for our Sunday-school children and others, trolley excursions to pleasant groves were substituted.

The new Italian mission, opened last winter in what is called "Little Italy," in a rented storeroom on the ground floor of a tenement occupied by twenty Italian families, has done good work, particularly among the children of the neighborhood. Of its eight Sunday-school teachers four, including the parish visitor, speak Italian. Nearly all of the children, being born in this country, speak English. The number of scholars now on the Sunday-school roll is eighty. A free medical dispensary has been maintained in connection with the mission under the direction of a competent physician, and it has been a boon to the Italian families of extreme poverty which have turned to it in their distress.

Stained glass windows from the Church of the Incarnation have recently been presented to the Archdeaconry by the Rector of that parish. Who will give us a new chapel to match them?

Incomplete as this report is, it would be still more incomplete if it omitted to mention the mass meeting held one evening in May in a large militia hall in the Bronx in the interest of Church extension. There was an attendance of 2,000 persons, representing many parishes and missions, most of whom remained standing throughout the meeting for lack of seats. A choir of 150 voices led the singing. Mr. Wahle, of the Church of the Holy Faith, presided. Stirring addresses were made by Bishop Potter and Bishop Greer, also by the Rev. John Campbell, Ph.D., and Dr. Thomas Darlington of the Archdeaconry's Committee of Coöperation. The other members of that Committee, the Rev. Geo. Alexander Strong, the Rev. Gustavus Tuckerman and Mr. John P. Faure, together with the Rev. Dr. Huntington and other representative Rectors, both of Manhattan and the Bronx, were present. It was an assembly of earnest men and women awake to the importance of aggressive Church work. Enthusiasm was in the air, but it was also in the heart, and one of the practical results of the meeting was the appointment of a large permanent committee on ways and means for lengthening the cords and strengthening the stakes of the Church's occupation of the Bronx.

Mr. Geo. Zabriskie presented the following amendment to Article VII. of the Constitution:

Amend Article VII. of the Constitution so as to read as follows :

ARTICLE VII.

/ In all matters which shall come before the Convention the Clergy and the Laity shall deliberate in one body. In voting each clerical member shall be entitled to one vote. When votes are taken by orders the lay delegates of each church shall be entitled to one vote except that when more than one church or chapel shall be united under one vestry, and shall have been so united and recognized by the Convention prior to the last Wednesday in September in the year of our Lord 1859, the delegates of such vestry only shall be entitled to one vote for each church or chapel.

In all cases other than elections, and in the case of the election of a Bishop Coadjutor, the concurrence of the Bishop or Bishops and of the clerical and lay members shall be necessary to the action of the Convention. The concurrence of the Bishop or Bishops with any vote of the clerical and lay members shall be presumed; unless after such vote shall have been taken and before the adjournment of the Convention their dissent shall be expressed.

Except in cases where a vote by orders is required the concurrence of a majority of the clerical and lay members present shall constitute a vote; but in any case a vote by orders may be required by five members. When a vote by orders is taken the concurrence of a majority of each order shall constitute a vote. In the election of a Bishop the two orders shall always vote separately.

Mr. F. L. Stetson moved its reference to the Committee on Canons with instructions to report to the next Diocesan Convention, which was adopted.

The Rev. A. F. Underhill moved the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Canons:

The Rev. Pascal Harrower moved that the Report of Committee on Suffragan Bishops be the special order to-morrow immediately after the report of Committee on the Revised Version, which was carried.

The Rev. F. M. S. Taylor offered the following resolution, and moved its reference to the Committee on Canons, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Constitution and Canons of the Diocese be so changed to substitute the word "Synod" for the word "Convention" wherever it occurs.

On motion the Convention adjourned till Thursday at 10 o'clock.

SECOND DAY.

ST. MICHAEL AND ALL ANGELS' DAY.

THURSDAY, September 29, 1904.

The Convention met pursuant to adjournment.

The Holy Communion was celebrated by the Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese, assisted by the Rev. George F. Nelson, D.D., Archdeacon of New York, the Rev. Thomas R. Harris, D.D., Secretary of the Convention, and the Rev. Ernest Voorhis, Ph.D., of the Cathedral Staff.

The Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese took the chair, and the minutes of the preceding day were read and approved.

On motion, the calling of the roll of delegates was omitted, and the delegates present to-day but not present yesterday were requested to send their names to the Secretary.

The Bishop Coadjutor read his Annual Address (see Appendix A).

The Rev. Carroll Perry withdrew the amendment to the resolution in reference to the American Revised Version.

The Order of the Day, the resolution for memorializing the General Convention to allow the Revised Version to be used in Churches, was taken up.

The Rev. T. L. Banister offered the following substitute to the resolution :

Resolved, That, in view of the fact that by reason of patent errors no existing revision of the authorized version of Holy Scripture is accepted by many learned men as competent by reason of superior excellence to supplant the use of the King James' version; and that the permissive use of more than the present authorized Bible will tend to create confusion in the minds of the general public as regards the authority of any version, this Convention deems it inexpedient to memorialize the General Convention at this time on the subject.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Batten the substitute was laid on the table.

The resolution in favor of the Revised Version was then adopted.

The Rev. Dr. Batten moved the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That, that part of the address of the Bishop Coadjutor, dealing with the Bishop's fund, be referred to a special committee of five, to be appointed by the Chair, and with power to act.

The Bishop Coadjutor appointed as such committee :

THE REV. W. R. HUNTINGTON, D.D.,
THE REV. LEIGHTON PARKS, D.D.,
THE REV. E. M. STILES, D.D.,
MR. J. PIERPONT MORGAN,
MR. WILLIAM JAY.

The Rev. Dr. Grosvenor offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That 1,800 copies of the address of the Bishop Coadjutor be printed and distributed under the direction of the Secretary.

Mr. George Zabriskie offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That the recommendation of the Bishop Coadjutor, that the New York Training School for Deaconesses be permitted to make an annual report of its work to this Convention be, and hereby is, approved, and that the Secretary be instructed to notify the authorities of the Training School to that effect.

Mr. George Macculloch Miller offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Whereas, The address of the Bishop of the Diocese contains the following paragraph:

"Every clergyman in this Diocese holding a cure is required, at this Annual Convention, to present his report, which shall recite his official acts for the year and give, in detail, the statistics of the parish. But you will look in vain, whether in the general canon law or in that of this Diocese, for any provision authorizing the Ordinary to proceed to any act of discipline for an omission, e.g., so grave as that of failing to record baptisms, marriages, etc., in the parish register. And yet, no failure is commoner, and no sense of responsibility, at this point, seems to be weaker!"

Resolved, That this paragraph of the Bishop's address be referred to the Committee on Canons to consider, and report to the next Convention, whether in its judgment any canon, and if any, what canon, should be enacted, or any other legislation, and if any, what legislation should be sought to correct the neglect "to record baptisms, marriages, etc.," referred to in this paragraph.

The Rev. Mr. Harrower presented the report of the Special Committee appointed at the last Convention on Suffragan Bishops.

Report

OF COMMITTEE ON SUFFRAGAN BISHOPS.

The terms of the resolution on which your Committee was appointed at the last Convention are as follows:

Resolved, That a Committee be appointed to report to the next Convention on the condition and functions of Suffragan Bishops.

Your Committee is therefore instructed to make its report one dealing largely with matters of information and history. And it would seem as if this might be of use in view of the fact that from time to time the method of a Suffragan-Episcopate is brought forward as a solution of difficulties arising in Dioceses where there seems demanded an increase of Episcopal service, and where it is not felt that the best interests of the Church can be met by the establishment of a new Diocese. The evident success attending the Suffragan-Episcopate in the English Church undoubtedly explains this frequent reference, and the antiquity of such an Episcopal service would seem to justify its modern use. It would become, therefore, the revival and adaptation of an ancient method to meet modern needs, as the ancient order of Deaconesses has been restored to the Church of to-day. Your Committee calls attention to the following facts:

1. In the early ages the Suffragan Bishop was appointed to assist the Bishop of the See city, or Diocese, in the more careful and detailed supervision of churches scattered throughout the widely spreading country districts. They were known as Chorepiscopi, or Bishops of the Country. While some writers have held that these officials were not consecrated to the Episcopate, the weight of authority leads to the belief that they had received such consecration. How this order first originated is not known. Some have attributed it to the occasional use, under some Diocesan, of a Bishop who had proved unfitted or unacceptable elsewhere, and whose services were thus availed of in another Diocese. This, however, is mere conjecture.

The fact is quite clear that they were set apart to perform certain definite Episcopal acts. It was their duty to have careful supervision over country parishes, seek out, provide and ordain fit persons to serve in the inferior orders, as Readers, Sub-deacons and Exorcists; also to ordain Deacons and Presbyters, with the consent of their Diocesan, and to exercise authority within certain limits over the movements of their clergy. They possessed also the right to officiate in the See city by special license, and were entitled to sit and vote in Councils and Synods, fourteen such Suffragans, or Chorepiscopi, being in attendance at the Nicene Council.

It would appear, however, that the nature and extent of their Episcopal authority differed somewhat under different Diocesan Bishops, and grew at length to be so precarious that gradually the office fell into disfavor, and at the Council of Laodicea, 360 A.D., it was decreed that thereafter this form of the Episcopate should cease, and the duties of general supervision over the country districts be delegated to Presbyters appointed by the Bishop.

2. The name and office of Suffragan-Bishop is first found in the English Church in the thirteenth century, about the year 1240 A.D. Lyndwood, in his Provinciale, written some two hundred years later, commenting on one of Archbishop Peckham's Constitutions, says: "They were called Suffragans because they were bound to give their suffrage and assistance to the Archbishop, being summoned to take part of his cure, though not in the plenitude of his power." In this sense, indeed, all the city or Diocesan Bishops of any Province were simply the Suffragans of their Metropolitan. It was not until the time of Henry VIII. that the term was restricted to an order of Bishops differing somewhat from the ancient Chorepiscopi, and sustaining different relations to the Diocesan Bishop.

In 1534 Suffragans, as assistants to Diocesan Bishops, were permitted to be appointed to Suffragan Sees, which were to be towns, not cities, and which were specifically named, as Thetford, Ipswich, Dover, Guilford, Taunton, etc., to the number of twenty-six. While these were to be consecrated as other Bishops, none of them could do any Episcopal act without the consent and permission of the Bishop of the city in whose Diocese he was placed. In 1876 there were in England only three of these Suffragan Sees filled, viz., Nottingham, Dover and Guilford.

To-day there are in the English Church twenty-four Suffragan Bishops, with the following titles, and within these Dioceses:

TITLE.	DIOCESE.
Colchester, }
Barrow in Furness,	Carlisle.
Beverley, }	York.
Hull, }
Sheffield, }
Burnley,
Coventry,	Manchester.
Crediton,	Worcester.
Derby,	Exeter.
Guilford, }	Southwell.
Southampton, }
Ipswich, }	Winchester.
Thetford, }
Islington, }
Kensington, }	Norwich.
Stepney, }
Leicester,	London.
Marlborough,
Reading,	Peterborough.
Richmond,	Exeter.
Shrewsbury,	Oxford.
Southwark,	Ripon.
Swansea,	Lichfield.
	Rochester.
	St. David's.

These Suffragans have no seat in the House of Lords, nor in the Upper House of Convocation, with the Bishops of the Realm. They are chosen by the King from two names sent in by the Bishop desiring a Suffragan. They confirm, ordain, consecrate churches, and perform such other duties as do not pertain to jurisdiction and temporalities. Their tenure of office ceases on the death or translation of their Diocesan (unless continued by his successor), when they become Vicars or Rectors, or occupy some position not involving Episcopal consecration.

The fact that the Church of England is a State Church undoubtedly explains in part this recourse to the method of the Suffragan-Episcopate. Owing to the difficulties in obtaining the consent of Parliament to the erection of new and independent Sees, and the law governing their endowment, this method appears the simpler and more economical means of obtaining the required Episcopal service.

3. The subject of a Suffragan-Episcopate came first before the American Church in 1814, when Dr. Kemp was chosen Bishop-Suffragan to Dr. Claggett, Bishop of Maryland. And to-day in the list of Bishops of the American Church, the title of Suffragan occurs only once in the table, and in connection with his name.

Later, in the year 1829, when the Rev. William Meade was chosen Bishop-Suffragan of Virginia, the papers were referred to a committee of five, consisting of the Rev. Christopher E. Gadsden [later, Bishop of South Carolina, 1840], the Rev. John Henry Hopkins [later, Bishop of Vermont, 1832], the Rev. Benjamin T. Onderdonk [later, Bishop of New York, 1830], and the following laymen: Judge Chambers of Maryland and the Hon. Horace Binney of Pennsylvania.

This Committee reported to the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies as follows:

"The Diocese of Virginia seems to have thought fit to limit the period of Dr. Meade's Episcopal authority to the lifetime of Bishop Moore, so that it is a possible event that on his decease the Diocese may deprive Dr. Meade of his jurisdiction, and then introduce the case of a Bishop without a Diocese.

In view of this, and the evils which your committee anticipate, to the peace of the Church and the proper dignity and authority of the Episcopal Order, if such a limitation should be suffered to become a precedent, and the opinion entertained by several members of your Committee, that the true spirit of the Constitution would be violated by the consecration of a Bishop subject in the very terms of his election to be deprived of his jurisdiction without any fault of his own—therefore they deeply regret its adoption in the present instance."

In acting upon the above report, the House declared that the condition attached to the election of Dr. Meade by Virginia "is deemed a constitutional impediment on account of which his consecration ought not to take place."

Further, the Convention passed a canon "Of Assistant Bishops" defining when and how they might be elected, and to this canon was added: "No person shall be elected or consecrated a Suffragan-Bishop."

Later again, in the year 1874, a committee was appointed by the House of Bishops on the subject of Suffragan Bishops. This committee consisted of five, with the Bishop of North Carolina (Thomas Atkinson) as Chairman.*

The Report of this Committee was made to the House of Bishops in 1877. The Majority Report, signed by the Bishops of North Carolina (Thomas Atkinson), Connecticut (John Williams), and Texas (Alexander Gregg), recommended the adoption of a canon providing for a Suffragan-Episcopate as admirably adapted to supply a fuller "Episcopal care, labor and supervision than the Church now receives, and more than under our present system it can receive," saying that, "it would seem that we must enlarge the number of our Bishops for them thoroughly and efficiently to perform their present work, and, still more, to enable them to keep pace with the rapid growth of the Church and of the country." This report asserted that:

- (1) The Division of a Diocese cannot always be accomplished without involving greater evils.
- (2) That Assistant Bishops may not always be feasible.
- (3) That to set aside portions of existing Dioceses as Missionary Jurisdictions, in order to secure fuller supervision, would be in many instances extremely questionable.

The Minority Report submitted certain facts of history in connection with the subject, and referred especially to the action of the American Church as above outlined and the failure of the attempt in 1829 to revive this form of Episcopal service. Further objections were brought forward as follows:

- (1) It would introduce a sort of Sub-Episcopate inferior in power, jurisdiction, privilege and rights. "Prudential reasons, or natural and unavoidable reasons may," they observed, "restrict the exercise of an Assistant Bishop's power in certain cases, but he has equal Episcopal authority, equal right to a seat in the House of Bishops, equal voice in legislation, and the inalienable right of succession to the Diocesan Episcopate." The Suffragan is, on the contrary, "under the supervision of another to whom he is but a lieutenant. . . . He has no voice either for consent or dissent in legislation or consecration. . . . His tenure of office is uncertain. . . . He can be suspended from office at the mere will of the Diocesan. . . . Such inequality is obnoxious to the apostolical parity of Bishops, and would create in the public mind confusion."
- (2) Such a Suffragan-Episcopate might lead to the election of men of minor qualification, simply because they happen to be rectors of important parishes within the district to be thus supplied. Jealousies and disorders might arise, incident to conflict of Episcopal influences within such Diocese or Jurisdiction.

The Majority Report asserted that there could be no valid fear of a Suffragan-Episcopate preparing the way for a complicated hierarchy, and that such an objection would hold equally against the Episcopal Ministry itself.

It claimed that Canterbury is no more Bishop than Salisbury, though their powers and functions differ.

* Committee: Thomas Atkinson, John Williams, Alexander Gregg, William Bacon Stevens, Thomas H. Vail.

Further, the Church in her greatest purity and in her greatest vigor employed Chorepiscopi, who were what we now call Suffragan-Bishops. Again: The Church of England when she was breaking free from the domination of Rome, and the superstition and ignorance which was inherited from Papal supremacy, called to her aid this class of Bishops. And finally, "when she woke up after the torpor of the last century, and began to pour forth her energies in bringing the wandering sheep of her own flock into the fold from which so many had strayed, and in sending her children into darkest regions of the earth to subdue the heathen to the knowledge of Christ—while thus straining every nerve in her great work, she found it wise and expedient to revive the use of this class of Bishops."

The Convention did not carry out the recommendations of the Majority Report, and the following resolution was adopted:

"That it is inexpedient to repeal the provision of Canon XV, Title 1, of Digest, which declares 'No person shall be elected or consecrated a Suffragan-Bishop.'"

The report so far submitted would be without significance unless attention were called to certain obvious facts which are implied in the history of the Suffragan-Episcopate.

1. It must be remembered that this form of Episcopal service was called into existence to meet certain specific emergencies. When these passed, it fell into disuse. It is, therefore, not an absolute and permanent form, so to speak, of the Episcopate, but simply a method of utilizing the Episcopate. The Episcopate itself is permanent, fixed, as one of the Orders of the Ministry. The Suffragan-Episcopate is a mode of Episcopal service. Indeed, in this sense, it presents the principle that inheres in the life of the Church from the first. The very idea of the Diocese, the Province, the Patriarchate, the Archdiocese, is one of method. The sole and only fact is the Episcopate, the rest are matters of policy, or forms of action which the Episcopate assumes. We shall not change the Church if we make our Bishops universal Bishops, or order our Dioceses into Provinces. England with her Archbishops, and America with her Bishops, are the same Church. These differences are differences of arrangement with a view to the most effective administration of the spiritual life of the Church.

2. Again, the conditions and functions of Suffragan-Bishops are not crystallized and unalterable. They varied in the Early Church. They may vary to-day in accordance with existing needs. An American Suffragan need not be the narrow imitation of an English Suffragan. The laws and usages of the English Church are not compulsory on the American Church in this any more than in the Diocesan Episcopate. The underlying purpose of a Diocesan-Bishop and a Suffragan-Bishop is one and the same; namely, the providing of Episcopal service. The method is merely the way in which most wisely to secure such service. Canterbury and New York alike exist for the same great spiritual ends, the one differing from the other not in kind, but in means or method.

It would therefore be contrary to the very genius of the Church to assume that the Suffragan-Episcopate is incapable of modification to American conditions. Undoubtedly it is popularly identified with the English type, and is therefore at once dismissed as unsatisfactory and foreign to our Church. But such a course is not only inconsistent with history, but it abrogates the inalienable right of the Church to adapt means to ends.

3. When the American Church, in 1829, and again in 1877, prohibited the election or consecration of any person as a Suffragan-Bishop, she was in reality doing nothing but prohibiting the consecration of a Suffragan of the English type. It was similar to declaring that no one shall be set apart to the monastic or conventual life, that no order of Deaconesses shall exist, nor any person be made an Archdeacon, or that no Bishop shall be elevated to an Archbishopric. It is quite possible for the Church to enact such legislation, and it is equally within her right to do so. It is a question of how she shall administer her spiritual gifts. But it is also possible that the Church may correct such legislation in the light of later experience, and in order more wisely to administer these spiritual gifts. It is all a question of mode of action, or administration.

The one supreme responsibility of the Church is the exercise of her spiritual trust. When the Church, feeling the burden of this responsibility urging her on to a deeper sense of mission and more intense consecration, comes face to face with the nation's great and growing needs, she may or she may not shape her methods in accordance with the familiar machinery of the past, but she will, if she be true to her trust, shape them for the most effective meeting of the present task. It is the life of the Church, which the world needs. That life the Church must supply.

If the foregoing principles are sound, they naturally open the way for a consideration of the Suffragan-Episcopate as adapted to the conditions and needs of the American Church. It becomes therefore a practical question as to how such an office may be defined, and what may be the range of its duties and privileges. Your Committee begs to submit the following points which naturally suggest themselves.

1. Suffragan-Bishops are Bishops whose spiritual powers are equal to those of other Bishops, but who are elected:

- (1) To serve as assistants to Diocesans, subject to regulations as to duties and jurisdiction governing their appointment and consecration.
- (2) To serve the Church in the interest of special races, or in supplying Episcopal supervision over Christian bodies or communities not in full corporate union with the Church.

2. Suffragan-Bishops should have permanency of tenure in common with other Bishops, with a right to election to, or translation to, Diocesan Episcopates, but they should not have the right of succession to their own Diocese except upon election. The definition of the territory and functions of the Suffragan should be so arranged as best to serve the interests of the Church.

3. The right of nomination and election to a Suffragan-Bishopric in any Diocese should be exercised by the Convention. But the Diocesan should also have the privilege of nomination.

4. The Suffragan-Bishop within any Diocese should have a right to sit as a member of Convention, with all privileges pertaining thereto. He should be eligible to preside over its deliberations at the request of the Diocesan or in his enforced absence. In the event of the incapacity or death of the Diocesan, he should possess the authority of the Diocesan until the election of his successor. But such election should take place within one year from the death or incapacity of such Diocesan.

5. In cases where Suffragan-Bishops are elected and consecrated in the interest of special races, or over special communities or congregations not in corporate union with the Church, it should be with the consent of and under the authority of the Diocese or group of Dioceses, or the Province, within whose borders their service is to be rendered, and the regulations governing such Episcopal service should not infringe upon the integrity or unity of the Church within such territory.

6. Suffragan-Episcopates in any Diocese, or Province, should be discontinued, with the consent of the House of Bishops, when the need for such Episcopate shall have passed; or they may be elevated into Diocesan Episcopates by the laws creating independent Dioceses. But no Suffragan-Bishop should, without his consent, be deprived of his office and his right to exercise Episcopal service.

Your Committee believes that the time is come for the Church in her highest Council to consider this question, and would, therefore, beg to submit the following resolution:

Whereas, It is apparent that there exists a need for enlarged Episcopal supervision to meet the growing life of the American Church and to further the development of her work; and

Whereas, This need manifests itself under various forms, as, e.g., among our brethren of the Negro race, and peoples of other nationalities, and for the better service, under certain emergencies, of Christian bodies not in full ecclesiastical union with this Church, and also for the assistance of the Diocesan Episcopate in cases where it is undesirable to divide the Diocese, and yet where the necessary enlargement of Episcopal supervision cannot be wisely had under present canons; and

Whereas, The Suffragan-Episcopate furnishes a method flexible and adaptable by which the Church may secure a fuller oversight from her Bishops and Pastors; therefore,

Resolved, That this Convention memorialize the General Convention, at its approaching session, to take under consideration the establishment of some form of Suffragan-Episcopate for use in Dioceses and otherwise, when such a course seems desirable for the proper increase of Episcopal supervision.

Report

OF THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL COMMISSION.

The general facts bearing upon the original appointment and the work of the Sunday-school Commission are so familiar as to need no repetition in this Report. They should be kept in mind, however, because they bear a very important relation to the present status of the Commission Movement throughout the American Church. Probably every one interested in the appointment of our Commission six years ago (1898) desired, first of all, that it should be of service to the Sunday-schools of this Diocese. But in order to do this in any real sense it was necessary to take up the subject of the Principles of Religious Education, and place them in their true light, before the Church. It is unnecessary to refer to the specific features of this preliminary work. But it is gratifying to note that, however we may have failed of doing all that we should like to do, and all that many expected us at once to accomplish, still, as the direct outcome of the work in this Diocese, the Sunday-school Commission Movement is to-day affecting the life of the Church in over thirty Dioceses, and quite a number of Bishops are at present contemplating the appointment of similar commissions.

The movement is spreading continually. The Secretary, the Chairman, and others of the Commission Staff have been called upon for addresses at Newburgh, Astoria, Cooperstown, South Amboy, several large parishes in New York City, and at Conventions or Convocations in Utica for the Diocese of Central New York; at the Summer School in Richfield Springs; at St. John's, N. B., Canada, for the Diocese of Fredericton; in several sections of Chicago, under the invitation of the Diocesan Commission of Chicago, etc. Training Classes, along the line of pedagogical Sunday-schools, were given, in courses of eight lectures each, by the Secretary, at Richfield Springs and in Grace Church, Plainfield. In all thirty-nine addresses were delivered, reaching 1,525 teachers and clergy.

Special articles by the Secretary touching directly upon the Commission Movement have appeared in the "Southern Churchman," the "Canadian Churchman," the "Pacific Churchman," the "Church Standard," the "Church News of Canada," during the present summer, emanating from our Commission Office, and an illustrated contribution dealing with a Model Sunday-school has been prepared by the Secretary for the Christmas number of "Good Housekeeping," at the particular request of its editor.

1. During the past year this movement has been going forward, looking towards some closer affiliation of these many commissions. Last Advent a letter was sent to the several Sunday-school Commissions inviting them to a conference in this city on the 20th and 21st of January, 1904. Delegates from eight Diocesan Commissions were present at this conference, and letters were received from every other Commission expressing the deepest interest in the project.

One of the subjects of discussion was the proposed federation of Sunday-school Commissions, for the purpose of bringing together those interested in the religious education of our children and youth, and so preventing a large loss of effort and time and money by mutual coöperation. As the result of this conference, and another held in May, there will be a specific effort to bring the work of the Sunday-school to the notice of the General Convention at its approaching session in Boston. On St. Luke's Day, October eighteenth, representatives of the various Commissions and Institutes will take under consideration the question of how best to coöordinate their interests and efforts. On the evening of that day a mass meeting will be held in Trinity Church. The Bishop Coadjutor of this Diocese is to preside, and addresses will be made by the Very Reverend the Deans of Cambridge Theological School, of the General Seminary, the Warden of Faribault Divinity School, and the Head Master of Groton School, Dr. Endicott Peabody. In connection with this Conference there will be installed in Trinity Parish House our own Sunday-school Exhibit enlarged by that of the Massachusetts Commission. This Exhibit will continue through two weeks, and must prove of great value and interest to the members of the General Convention.

2. Summer Conferences and the Sunday-school Exhibit. Your Commission desires to call attention to the importance of this Exhibit. It is an object lesson of more value than many addresses could possibly be to those seeking information. When the Religious Education Association held its annual convention in Philadelphia last March this Exhibit was, at their request and expense, installed there, and became one of the most significant features of the Convention. Again this past summer, at the Vacation Conference at Richfield Springs, it formed a centre of great attraction and educational importance.

These Summer Conferences deserve more than a passing reference. The impression created by that held at Sewanee was most encouraging. The subject of the Sunday-school as treated there by the Warden of Faribault, Dr. Butler, and at Richfield Springs by the representatives of this Commission and other speakers, awakened the deepest response. So marked was this that the Executive Committee of the Richfield Springs Conference has requested that the Commission lay out for the next year's conference the fullest possible scheme covering this whole question of Religious Education. Of the other features of these Summer Conferences this is not the place to speak, but of the practical value and far-reaching significance of the Sunday-school department there can be no doubt. If any one here will compare the condition and attitude of the Church at large in 1898 with the condition as it exists to-day; if he will recall the lack of interest, the unsettled thought and weary questioning, the evidences of indifference, of discouragement, of hopeless floundering from one experiment to another, the despair of rectors and the sense of fruitless effort among teachers; if he will compare that with the awakened hope and effort of to-day, he will not deny that something must have been done to explain so manifest and hopeful a change.

A vivid illustration of the widespread influence of the Commission is shown in the summary of Office Statistics, which state that six hundred and thirty-one visitors have called to examine the Exhibit during the past twelve months; and that nearly nine thousand pieces of mail matter, letters, circulars, and packages, have been sent out and an almost equal number received. More room for the Exhibit and a larger Office Staff are already needed.

3. Reference has been made to the Conference of Commissions to be held during the General Convention. It is a fact of history, not generally known, that it is largely, if not exclusively, owing to Bishop White of Pennsylvania that the Sunday-school was first instituted in America. From him the movement spread throughout the United States with ever-increasing volume. Again it is well to remind ourselves of the important Report of the Commission on Education presented to the General Convention of 1841 as one of the most important contributions to the great question of Religious Education made during the last century. It is a noteworthy fact, and the more noteworthy in such a connection, that the volume of lectures on "The Principles of Religious Education" delivered in St. Bartholomew's Church during the distinguished rectorship of the Bishop Coadjutor of this Diocese, and published by this Commission in 1899, should have so nobly placed our Church once more on record as calling for still broader and deeper work in the religious education of youth. If we can look forward to the approaching General Convention in the hope that that body will again take up the subject, and officially indorse and set forward the movement already begun, we shall see our Church taking her proper and worthy place. It would be a most fitting thing to carry forward a work for whose beginnings in America we are so largely indebted to the first Bishop of Pennsylvania. What has been said so far has borne especially upon the larger aspects of our work rather than upon strictly Diocesan lines. It was inevitable that this should be. The influence of the Commission could not be limited to the Diocese. By the very principles and purposes of its creation it approached the subject as a matter pertaining to the Church at large rather than something narrowly Diocesan. Or, to put it in another way, the religious education of the children of the Church is not a Diocesan matter. Nothing can materially help us in New York unless it can also help San Francisco and Boston. This explains the growth of the Commission movement.

4. Lesson Manuals. It is gratifying to be able to state that over fifty schools in our Diocese and forty schools in this city are using our Manuals. These schools are among the largest in the city.

The sale of these Lesson Manuals has reached nearly 20,000 copies sold during the past twelve months alone. Every Manual has run through its first edition within less than a year from its publication. During this summer, therefore, counting new editions, revisions, and reprints, twenty-one books have been in press. The orders during the last ten days have reached almost four thousand copies. In several dioceses, such as Iowa, Chicago, Ohio, etc., nearly all the schools are planning the adoption of uniform curriculum on a subject-graded plan. These facts are an answer to the question whether the Commission is of real help to the Diocese. It is a practical answer, as any Rector will find if he will take the trouble to put himself in touch with the Commission. The best answer that can be given to any one who is in earnest over the problems that beset him in this line of parish work must certainly be, as the first step, a face to face acquaintance with the various methods and means for dealing with the work that have been found useful elsewhere. Practically speaking, a Sunday-schools have far more things in common than in difference. As the small school of twenty-five pupils differs less in essentials from the school of five hundred than one is sometimes tempted to think. Indeed it is a fact, and we beg that it be remembered, that the smallest school in this Diocese may be at a distinct advantage in reaching a high average of work.

5. The Treasurer's Report. We would call earnest attention to the fact that, in the face of the splendid results we are reporting, there is a deficit of more than $350, and that only twenty-three churches and sixteen individuals contributed anything towards the work. Even in pledges actually made there is a sum of over $200 remaining unpaid. If the educational work is to be continued as it should, the sinews of war must be provided and our hands properly upheld.

6. Subject-graded Lessons. The distinctive note of to-day is the Graded Lesson. This means Lesson Material adapted to the child in the course of his development. The graded material implies a corresponding adaptation of method. It is not claimed that our own series is final in excellence. No one who at all comprehends the subject would expect this. But there are reasons for believing that it has a real value. For instance, in one school, that of St. George's Church, the Rev. Wm. S. Rainsford, D.D., Rector; Mr. H. H. Pike, Superintendent, the results of their use show that "in one entire Junior Department of seven hundred scholars all work up the lessons at home and all own their Bibles. In the Senior Department about sixty per cent. do the work at home."

Testimonies of equal value come from many other schools, like St. Andrew's, Harlem, the Rev. Dr. Van De Water, Rector; from the Church of the Redeemer, Astoria, L. I.; Trinity Church, Hartford, Conn., and from Trinity Church, Atchison, Kansas—all expressing similar results; as, for example, this from a recent letter: "The school has been completely changed as a result of this method. The children have become interested, the teachers enthusiastic, and the numbers enlarged—all this in a school which was dead as it could be without ceasing entirely to exist."

The following evidence is important, from the La Vergne Congregational School, Berwyn, Ills., the Rev. Delbert S. Ulrick, pastor: "We have been working out a course on the basis of sound pedagogy. Lectures on Sunday-school pedagogy are delivered every week for the benefit of both teachers and parents. Individual assistance is given to the teacher as far as possible. . . . We use one course of the Sunday-school Commission Lessons; and in the adult division a course of the American Institute of Sacred Literature. With the boys and girls of twelve to fourteen years of age we are working out a course on the Life of Christ, using as a basis the Sunday-school Commission Course and Forbush's Illuminated Life of Christ. . . . The results of the use of the graded courses show that by this means the Sunday-school best accomplishes its real purpose, to be at once educational and religious." Wherever "graded lessons have been used, they have developed capacity and love of study, toned up the spirit, conduct, and general work of the schools, increased the attendance of both teachers and pupils, increased the offerings, made the teachers students, increased the efficiency of the officers, and kept the larger boys and girls in the school to complete the course." At St. George's Church, in this city, last June, no less than one hundred and seventy-seven pupils received diplomas on a fully graded course, and the commencement exercises at St. Agnes' School, Trinity Parish, were as interesting as you would have witnessed in any public school.

7. Teacher-training. But to use Subject-graded Lessons properly requires some measure of teacher-training. This may be accomplished most readily and speedily in any parish, large or small, country or city, simply by persuading every teacher loyally and persistently to undertake one of the several methods established by the Commission for this special purpose. (a) Extension Classes. The Commission again this year offers a list of attractive and helpful Extension Classes, details of which may be secured from the Secretary. A Parish, or a number of neighboring ones clubbed together, may give the teachers a course of from six to ten lessons, or lectures, under the leadership of a specialist. The price of such leader is from $35 to $50, according to the length of the course, which divided up among the teachers, is most insignificant. Only two churches had Extension Classes last year. At least a dozen should book dates once for courses this fall. (b) Reading Courses. All of our Eleven Reading Courses are still available. Send to the office for the list. Teachers may read at home and take certificates under examination in their own study. The Courses in the American Institute of Sacred Literature are also highly commendable. (c) The special Manual on Sunday School Teaching (fifty cents, postage 5 cents), prepared by the Secretary of the Commission, is a ready and instructive handbook that has met with wide demand, the entire first edition of two thousand copies selling within eleven months. A new edition is now out. An inter-denominational Sunday-school Association has just ordered five hundred copies of this edition for the training of their teachers. Surely, under one or all of these methods, no teacher ought to remain untrained.

8. But your Commission is not satisfied with the results so far accomplished. We have not yet reached the children of the Diocese in any such measure as we had hoped to do. There is somehow a lack of vital connection between the Commission and the majority of Sunday-schools. Certainly this Commission has something to give to every Rector and Sunday school worker. But in order to give this we must bring the Commission into touch with every parish. How can this be accomplished?

(1) In each Archdeaconry there can be appointed a Committee of Sunday-schools, whose duty it will be to assist in arranging for Archdeaconry Institutes every year. These Institutes should be so arranged as to bring together the workers in what may be called District Institutes. Such gatherings bring about unity of aim, stimulate interest and zeal, promote acquaintance among workers, and so develop higher efficiency.

(2) In every Sunday-school there could be appointed one or more persons whose duty it should be to represent the Parish in such Institutes to foster the work of the better grading of the School, the higher training and equipment of the teachers, the creating of higher standards among the pupils, so bringing into this educational work a deeper consecration and greater spiritual power.

(3) Extension Classes, special addresses, conferences, and lectures can be arranged by communicating with the Chairman or Secretary of the Commission. We most earnestly solicit correspondence, and shall be glad to render every possible assistance in helping to carry out these suggestions.

It is evident that some such closer relationship must be had between the Commission and the Sunday-schools. And why? Because behind and below their whole work lies the fact of the child himself. It is the child we are to serve. It is the child about whom the great Church must throw her support, her highest strength and wisdom and love. It is by some such means that we shall realize in part that vision and its corresponding task which the Master gave long ago to the great Apostle and Bishop—the feeding and nurture of His lambs.

In view of these facts and the importance of the subject at this time, your Commission begs to present the following Resolutions:

Whereas, The Sunday-school Commission of this Diocese has already been instrumental in greatly furthering the development of the Sunday-school work of the Church; and

Whereas, The publications of this Commission are proving acceptable to many schools in this and other Dioceses and have received high commendation from experienced educators and Sunday-school workers; not only within our Church, but beyond its borders; and

Whereas, The time has arrived for some definite step to be taken to bring to every Parish of the Diocese every possible help from the Commission; therefore,

Resolved, First, That this Convention indorses the work so far accomplished, and urges upon the several Archdeacons and Parishes the adoption of the suggestions made by the Commission and a definite coöperation with it during this coming year; and further

Resolved, That the Convention does hereby commend to the attention of the Rectors the general scheme of Lessons and Grading set forth by the Sunday-school Commission, in the belief that by their general use in this Diocese the efficiency of our Sunday-school work will be largely increased;

Resolved, That Sunday, the 16th of October, 1904, and Monday, the 17th, be set apart to be observed as Days of Intercession for Sunday-schools and the cause of Religious Education, and that the Rectors of this Diocese be urged to make such arrangements as may seem to them best calculated to set forward the work of Christian Education in their respective Parishes and in the Diocese at large.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Harrower, the resolutions were adopted.

The Rev. Dr. Grosvenor presented the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That the Archdeaconry of New York be requested to set apart their mission field in the Borough of Manhattan to the City Mission Society, for such mission work among colored people as that Society may desire to inaugurate and maintain.

The Rev. Dr. Huntington moved the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That this Convention, assembled for the first time within the precincts of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and made acquainted by personal observation with the present state of the great enterprise begun on this site, recognizes the need of a great Diocesan Church as a supplement to our parochial organization, and earnestly appeals to all the people of the Diocese of New York to aid in the completion of so much of the edifice as the Bishop, the Bishop-Coadjutor and the Board of Trustees have publicly expressed a desire to see enclosed in the near future.

The Rev. Mr. Barker offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That the Trustees of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine be requested to present an annual report of their labors and of their needs to this Convention.

The Rev. Dr. Grosvenor presented the following resolution which was adopted.

Resolved, That this Convention approve the action of the Board of Trustees of the Cathedral in naming the building "The Cathedral House," and the room where the Convention meets, "The Synod Hall."

Mr. George Zabriskie presented the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That this Convention record its gratification at the presence of the Archbishop of Canterbury upon this, its first meeting at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and its appreciation of the significance of the first visit ever paid by a Primate of the Church of England to the Church in the United States as a mark of the mutual affection, which binds together the two Churches in a common Apostolic faith and of the sympathetic interest of each Church in the efforts of the other to maintain and extend the Kingdom of God in the world, embracing lands to which they minister;

Resolved, That the foregoing resolution be communicated by the Secretary of the Convention to the Archbishop of Canterbury.

OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON THE DIOCESAN FUND.

The Standing Committee on the Diocesan Fund respectfully recommends to the Convention the adoption of the following resolution, viz.:

Resolved, 1. That there be paid to the Clergy attending the Convention who reside more than twenty miles from the place of meeting, and whose parishes have contributed to the Fund as required by the Canon, ten cents for every mile of the distance from their respective parishes, and that the remainder be appropriated to paying for the printing of the Journal of the Convention, and the canonical, customary, and prescribed expenses of the Diocese.

Resolved, 2. That the contribution to be required, according to Canon XVI. of the Diocese, from every congregation of the Diocese to the Diocesan Fund for the Conventional year 1903-1904 be 1½ per cent., on the amount of the salary of its clergyman.

AUGUSTUS WIGGIN,
D. PARKER MORGAN,
WM. N. DUNNELL.

On motion, the resolutions recommended by the committee, were adopted.

The Rev. Lea Luquer presented the following report of the Committee on Canons, which was adopted:

Report

OF THE COMMITTEE ON CANONS.

The Committee on Canons, to whom was referred the proposed amendment of Canon XIII. ("Of Vacant Parishes and Clergymen without Cure,") introduced by Mr. Harry C. Barker, and consisting in the addition to such Canon of a new section 5, in the following words, viz.:

SEC. 5. No Parish, however, which receives aid or support from an missionary fund shall call a Rector without the consent of the Bishop and the body governing the dispensing of funds from which such Parish so receive aid or support, report that, in the opinion of the Committee, the proposed amendment is inexpedient.

The Rev. Lea Luquer presented the following report of the Committee on Canons and moved that the report be laid on the table, which was adopted.

Report

OF COMMITTEE ON CANONS.

The Committee on Canons, to whom the Convention of 1903 recommitted the proposed new Canon XIV. ("Of the Establishment and Boundaries of Parishes and Mission Districts,") with direction to report to this Convention recommend the amendment of the existing Canon XIV. by the substitution of the proposed new Canon in the place thereof. The Rev. R. B. Kimber presented the Report of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese.

Report

OF THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY OF THE DIOCESE.

The New York Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions again respectfully submits its Annual Report.

An impetus to the work of the past year was given by the inspiring addresses and large attendance at the Annual or Bishop's Meeting, held in Grace Chapel on December 2d. It is the only time in the year when the Bishop meets the Auxiliary for a Corporate Communion, and the only opportunity for the Diocesan officers to meet the clergy and delegates. This was a very representative meeting. The cards, distributed, to secure the attendance throughout the day, were signed by members from 88 parishes in the Diocese of New York, 4 from New Jersey, 5 from Connecticut, 5 from Long Island, besides by individuals from 6 other Dioceses, and from 6 separate countries.

The usual seven stated meetings of the Standing Committees, have shown an increased attendance, greater enthusiasm and larger gifts.

These meetings have been opened and addressed by Bishops and other clergy from domestic and foreign fields, who, in most cases, met with a generous response to their appeals.

It has been the aim of the presiding officers to raise the standard of the Auxiliary, by making the motive in mission work a more spiritual one. To that end, speakers were invited to show that there is no influence so powerful as prayer to insure success in missions.

The total receipts for the year, including the value of 358 boxes, are $58,285.75. In addition to this, over $11,000 in money have been given to the Domestic and Colored work, but has not passed through the hands of the treasurer; nor, does it include the large amount given to the United Offering, nor the $533.88 received by Mrs. Crosby, for the expenses of the Executive Board, and which was contributed by different parishes.

Of the $100,000 asked from the whole Auxiliary, to help the Board meet its appropriations, New York has given over $20,000. The pledge of this Auxiliary, of $1,000 to build a chapel in Mito, Japan, has been completed.

We have exceeded last year's receipts—both in money and the value of boxes and in addition, report $1,869.20 for Diocesan work, which includes the value of 10 boxes.

In May, Miss Grace Lindley was elected as Chairman of the Junior Auxiliary. She comes from the Diocese of Newark, and is endowed with a special gift—for Junior work, besides having consecrated herself to Missionary work. She is now ready to receive invitations to the parishes throughout the Diocese, to make known her plan for interesting the children in missions.

Three new parish branches have been organized: at Christ Church, Bronxville; Christ Church, Suffern, and the Church of the Ascension, West New Brighton, Staten Island.

Eleven new parish treasurers for the United Offering have been appointed, making a total of 98. The receipts for this year, to date, reported by Mrs. Soule are $12,670.09.

While there are over 100 parishes working in the Auxiliary and sending delegates, there are still too many unrepresented.

We invite the rectors of such parishes to come to the next annual meeting, November 30, Bishop Greer, presiding; also to attend some of the monthly meetings at 29 Lafayette Place, and see how the Auxiliary is conducted. We hope then, that some members of the Executive Board will be invited to assist in forming a branch.

The new year is about to begin, and again we ask that the rectors will appoint their best women as delegates, as what they take back to their parishes in the way of missionary information, is the principal means of interesting other members in the work of missions, and each year the needs are greater.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY E. WATSON,

President.

PROPOSED NEW CANON XIV.

RECOMMENDED BY COMMITTEE ON CANONS AND REFERRED TO THE CONVENTION FOR ACTION.

CANON XIV.

Of the Establishment and Boundaries of Parishes and Mission Districts.

SEC. 1. The Bishop, with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee, may determine, and from time to time may alter, the boundaries of the parishes and mission districts of this Diocese, and may constitute parishes and mission districts, and may erect mission districts into parishes; provided that not less than twenty days' previous notice of a time and place when the Standing Committee will hear any persons interested in the matter shall in each case be given to the incumbents of such parishes or mission districts as in the opinion of the Standing Committee may be affected by the proposed action. The Bishop's certificates of the determination or alteration of the boundaries of parishes or mission districts, of the constitution of new parishes or mission districts, and of the erection of mission districts into parishes, countersigned by the President of the Standing Committee, shall be delivered to the Secretary of the Convention, who shall record the same in a book to be kept by him for the purpose, to be called the Diocesan Register of Parishes and Mission Districts, and shall furnish a copy thereof, in the case of a parish or of a mission district forming part of a parish, to the Rector of the parish, who shall cause the same to be recorded in the Book of Minutes of the Vestry; or, in the case of a mission district assigned to a chapel or mission maintained by the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society, to the Society, who shall cause the same to be recorded in its Book of Minutes; or, in the case of any other mission district, to the Archdeacon within whose jurisdiction the district shall be situated, who shall cause such copy to be recorded in the Book of Minutes of his Archdeaconry.

SEC. 2. Wherever a chapel or a mission is maintained by a parish, if it be included within the parish boundaries assigned to the parish church, no separate district shall be assigned to it; but if it be not included within the parish boundaries assigned to the parish church, a separate district shall be assigned to it, which shall form part of the parish.

SEC. 3. Where in any town within this Diocese there is but one parish or mission, the limits of the town shall constitute the boundaries of the parish or mission district, and shall be so certified by the Bishop, unless upon the application of the Rector and Vestry of the parish, or of the Archdeacon in charge of the mission district, the Bishop, with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee, shall otherwise determine. The boundaries of a parish or mission district may include more than one town or parts of more than one town.

SEC. 4. When the boundaries of a parish or of a mission district shall have been determined by the Bishop, with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee, the territory so bounded, in the case of a parish, including a mission district forming part of a parish, shall constitute the parish or cure of the Rector thereof; in the case of a mission district assigned to a chapel or mission maintained by the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society, shall constitute the parochial cure of the Superintendent for the time being of that Society; and in the case of any other mission district shall constitute the parochial cure of the Archdeacon within whose jurisdiction the mission district is situated; and such Rector, Superintendent, or Archdeacon, as the case may be, shall be deemed the incumbent of such parish or mission district; provided that nothing in this Canon shall be taken to prevent such Rector, Superintendent or Archdeacon from conferring upon the Minister in charge of any mission district such authority in respect thereto as he may think fit.

SEC. 5. In any town or borough in which a parish or a mission district shall have been constituted, a new place of worship (unless upon the site of a former one) shall not be established, nor shall a new congregation be gathered, nor shall a congregation remove from one site or place of worship to another site or place of worship, unless and until the Bishop, with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee, shall have issued his license therefor; provided that the Standing Committee shall communicate a copy of the Bishop's proposed license, by mail or otherwise, before they act upon it, to the incumbent of the parish or mission district within which it is intended to establish such new place of worship or to which such congregation proposes to remove, and to the incumbents of the three parishes or mission districts nearest to the site of the proposed church, chapel, or other place of public worship, and to the applicant for such license, with not less than twenty-days' notice of the time and place at which the Standing Committee will hear any person interested in the matter.

SEC. 6. Tentative missionary work, authorized by the Bishop and the Executive Committee of the Archdeaconry in which it is proposed to prosecute such work, may be prosecuted at any place they may designate, after conference with the incumbents of the three parishes or mission districts whose places of worship are nearest to the proposed site; but such work shall not be continued more than one year unless with the license of the Bishop, nor shall any building for such work be erected unless and until the Bishop, with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee, shall have issued his license for the establishment of a new place of public worship, or shall have constituted a new mission district or a new parish, for the continuance of such work.

SEC. 7. Nothing contained in this Canon shall be taken to restrict the power of the Bishop to license private chapels or chapels connected with institutions, nor to affect such chapels so licensed.

The Rev. Mr. Harrower moved the reappointment of the Sunday School Commission, which was adopted.

The Rev. Mr. Harrower moved the reappointment of the Committee on Arrangements for Convention, which was adopted.

The Secretary nominated Mr. Chas. F. Hoffman as Trustee for the Aged and Infirm Clergy Fund, and he was duly elected.

The Rev. Mr. Underhill presented the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That the expediency of changing the time of holding the Annual Convention of the Diocese be suggested to the Bishop and Standing Committee, and they be requested to consider the selection of a day for holding the Convention in May or June of each year.

The following report was presented :

Report

OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON THE GENERAL THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

The events of the past year have demonstrated the wisdom and discernment of the Trustees in electing the Very Rev. Wilford L. Robbins, D.D., to be the Dean of the General Theological Seminary. His strong and wise address at his installation on the Festival of St. Michael and All Angels', 1903, inspired in the friends of the Seminary confidence and enthusiasm, and their hopes have been fully realized by the year's work.

For the details of advance and improvement, your Committee would refer the members of the Convention to the printed Catalogue and Proceedings of the Board of Trustees, but they would call attention in general to the improvement and modernizing of the library facilities, the introduction of a well-regulated elective course after the Junior year, the closer connection with Columbia University, by which the Dean has a seat in the University Faculty and an interchange of courses is affected, the wise provisions for the health and social recreations of the students, the careful attention to the devotional life of the Seminary, and the unsparing labors of the Dean to supply to the students that guidance which they so often need.

Your Committee wishes to express its appreciation, at his retirement from active service, of the work of the Rev. Dr. Philander K. Cady, as Professor of the Evidences of Revealed Religion, as Sub-Dean and as Acting Dean.

ll, in connection with such a review to strive to realize is which it means; and most of all, to recognize that act of it which, it is to be feared, has too often been lost
 I do not wonder that the average man finds a Conven-al dull reading; and one cannot be surprised that such s honored, as a rule, with the most scrupulous neglect.
 reverend clergy, glance at the Convention Journal to r own report appears; and usually, dismiss the rest with ideration. The statements of trusts and trustees are ecited here, and appear in our Journal; but there is no

 nent the proposal that I should examine him in regard to them! And yet, my brother, you and I, in the last analysis, are co-trustees with those, to the story of whose work we are so largely indifferent. There are two theories of life and of rule, whether that rule be domestic, civil, or ecclesiastical—the one is “paternal” and the other is constitutional. I shall not pretend to discuss the merits or their comparative advantages here; though it may be well to remember that, as with other issues, there is something to be said on both sides. It is enough for us to remember that, for better or worse, the Church in this land has chosen the latter. Some of us are fond of reminding ourselves how closely the ecclesiastical follows the civil form of government among us. And this is true. But we may not congratulate ourselves upon such a fact without straightway remembering that we can not have a good constitutional government, whether in the State or in the Church, without a vivid and enlightened sense of responsibility among the people.

Every clergyman in this Diocese holding a cure is required, at this Annual Convention, to present his report, which shall recite his official acts for the year and give, in detail, the statistics of his parish. But you will look in vain, whether in the general canon law or in that of this Diocese, for any provision authorizing the Ordinary to proceed to any act of discipline for an omission, e.g., as grave as that of failing to record baptisms, marriages, etc., in the parish register. And yet, no failure is commoner, and no sense of responsibility, at this point, seems to be weaker!

Such a consideration starts us upon a much larger and wider line of reflection, especially pertinent to this day. I have often been met with very unreserved comments, by my reverend brethren, on that form for a parish report which, ordinarily, is sent to the parish priest; and with the detailed requirements of which the Canon requires him to comply. But here, plainly, we return to that constitutional principle to which I referred a moment ago. You may call yourself a father, my reverend brother, and insist that your relation is simply a paternal one between yourself and your people. But it is not. You cannot take yourself out of the life of the whole Church, and, more particularly, the life of this Diocese; because these two made you what you are; and at every step in the procedure, until the moment when you were ordered priest, the Church, as constituted and canonically existing in the United States, her laity, as well as her clergy, and both as truly her bishops, have had a part in the several processes by which you received Holy Orders.

It is this fact which lifts ministry, in the most modest cure as truly as in the most conspicuous, into such exalted dignity and significance. The clergy and all the clergy, the parishes and every parish, are parts of a larger whole; and the supreme potency of their life and work consists, often, in a witness of which they themselves are largely unconscious. This is preëminently illustrated in this land, in the attitude of this Church toward divorce. It would be the gravest untruth to say that the Church in the United States is wholly agreed upon this matter or that we may not see, at the approaching General Convention, such wide divergence as to the form of canonical enactment in the matter of divorce, as may delay, if it does not defeat, what some among us want. But this is certain, that the Church whose children we are, recognizes, as many Christians of other names do not, that the Family is the foundation of Society; and that, unless the Church shall safeguard its well-being and what Kossuth called, as some of you will remember, its "solidarity," we shall, sooner or later, relapse into practical barbarism.

But, how is it that a sound public sentiment and right ideas on this or any subject that touches the foundations of our social order, may prevail among us? Oh, my brother, who art fretting because the sphere in which you find yourself placed seems so narrow, behold, here, your opportunity! In every family, in the mind of every child in your Sunday-school, in every attitude or expression of yours with reference to that godless license which flings aside the most sacred vows because of a vexatious uncongeniality, or, for whatever vagrant whim or antipathy, there is an opportunity to create—not an ignorant and unreasoning prejudice—there is enough of that in too many of our popular judgments, but an intelligent and clear-visioned conviction, which shall make itself felt, wherever it is expressed!

And this single illustration may stand for a still larger whole. One sometimes hears the cost of maintaining some feeble Missionary Station referred to as if one could reduce the worth of Divine standards to a matter of dollars and cents. We could, if the office of Religion were identical with Commerce or Manufacture! But, long before a community has need to concern itself with buying or making or selling, it must, by an inevitable necessity, determine those unbending laws and principles which, like the celestial measuring rod in the Book of the Revelation, shall be supreme in human society. We can do without such standards, do men? Yes, we can; but only to revert to that savagery from which our fathers emerged!

And so, men and brethren, ye see your calling. In a tale which I encountered the other day, I read of a young lawyer in the West to whom had come a farmer and his wife to procure a divorce. Five hundred dollars was offered by these two, if they could be freed from a tie which they had found, at last, intolerable. And they were profoundly surprised, at first, by the calm but firm refusal of the young and penniless advocate to lend himself to their wish; but they were melted and overcome, at last, by his earnest pleading that they should reconsider their purpose and recognize the indissoluble bond which, under God's law, bound them together.

The incident has a deeper significance than, at first, we recognize. We make laws, very easily, in this country, and we break them very easily. Nothing would startle you more than the legislative enactments which, like much of our American divorce legislation, have nothing higher behind them than mere whim, or the coarsest passion. And it need not surprise us when we see the law thus bent to selfish ends, that, sometimes, we should find it lending itself merely vindictive or sentimental exactions.

But the worst aspect of such a situation is that which meets us to-day. When over-legislation crowds our Statute books with laws which are, too often, a dead letter, it is very easy to pass from disregard of what one regards as an unreasonable law to disregard of laws that are not unreasonable, perhaps, but inconvenient. And any law one may easily hold to be both inconvenient and unreasonable, if it gets in his way.

And so, I say again, we see our calling. In an age which is impatient of restraint, and eager to find excuses for breaking out of all legal bonds, we are to take care that laws, rules, rubrics, canons, whatever it may be that we are tempted nowadays to treat with a fine disdain, shall have, first of all, our scrupulous respect; and that then, in the parish, in the pulpit, in the street, we shall be witnesses for no other freedom than that which is in Christ Jesus Whose we are and Whom we are called upon to serve.

ADDRESS OF THE BISHOP COADJUTOR.

BRETHREN OF THE CLERGY AND LAITY :

In making this, my first Annual Address, I desire first of all to thank you for the kind and cordial welcome with which you have received me since entering upon the duties of my present office. I also wish to express the pleasure which I have had in trying to help and serve you, however poorly and inadequately, in the effort which you are making to establish and advance the Kingdom of the Master, and which is, I am sure, above everything else, dear to the heart of all of us. My experience so far has been of such short duration that I cannot hope to make many very practical or valuable suggestions to you. There are, however, two or three matters, not without importance, which even in that short time have impressed themselves upon me, and which I will venture to bring to your notice. When I was the Rector of St. Bartholomew's Parish in this city, it was my custom, like that of other rectors, to ask for, and to receive, a generous annual offering in behalf of what was designated as the "Rector's Fund," and which enabled me to respond to some of the best and worthiest of the numerous appeals that were made to me for assistance. Since I have ceased to be the rector of a parish those appeals have not been less but more numerous, and are likely to become more numerous still in the future. And yet there is no fund, as far as I am aware, upon which I can draw, to enable me to meet them. I do not refer particularly to charitable appeals, but to missionary appeals, and to the missionary appeals, or rather to the appealing missionary opportunities, which I find presented by our own diocesan work. Those opportunities are met in part by the Diocesan Board of Missions working through the various Archdeaconries of the Diocese. And these are admirable agencies for the disbursement of the missionary funds of the Diocese and the conduct of its work, and should be generously supported. But the opportunities to which I refer are only thus met in part. There are other needs of the work equally, and, in some cases, more important, which cannot be so well in that manner supplied. They must be met, if they are to be met at all, by one who has a more direct and personal knowledge of them, such as the Bishop of the Diocese, and also the Coadjutor-Bishop is supposed to have, and does have; and who, by reason of such knowledge, is competent to be, as he ought to be, a general Diocesan Missionary. In that capacity of Diocesan Missionary, it should be his duty not only to exercise from time to time missionary initiative in the starting of new and needed missionary enterprises, but also to assist those hopeful missionary enterprises which are already started, and which by a little timely aid, judiciously bestowed would realize more fully their promised usefulness.

Let me be more specific. John Ruskin somewhere says that while people are always ready to help hopeless distress, they are not as a rule so ready to help at a hopeful pinch; and yet it is this latter help which is not only needed most, but is the most effective. Now, there are a number of parishes and mission stations in this diocese which are at that "hopeful pinch," and which those words describe. They are doing a brave and useful work, with a hopeful promise in it, and yet it is a promise which with their own resources cannot be fulfilled. Their helpfulness is pinched; and what they need, and all they need, in order to take advantage of their hopeful opportunities, is for that little cramping pinch to be removed or eased. There are parishes, for instance, where the services of a Deacon or a Deaconess or a parish visitor or a paid lay helper of some kind would be of such invaluable assistance that the work which they are already doing would be, with that additional help, almost doubled or trebled. And yet they are not able to employ that extra help. The consequence is, they are crippled, not only in their present usefulness, but also in their promise of a greater future usefulness. They cannot expand and grow as otherwise they would. Their helpfulness is pinched. And it would be, I submit, the wisest kind of missionary economy to give them some relief.

There are other parishes again—I have three in mind at this moment—where the church edifices are so small and inadequate that they cannot accommodate at any one service what would otherwise be their stated congregations. They are feeling the hopeful pinch; yet not so much at present the helpfulness as the pinch. And while they are doing all they can to relieve it or remove it, they need and should receive some outside aid and help. If I were able when visiting such parishes to give that outside help, or to promise at least to give it when the whole amount required should be subscribed or raised, it would be not only a great encouragement to them, but would enable me to do in an effective manner that kind of missionary work in the Diocese which is rightly expected of me, and which I want to do. But at present I cannot do it. My hands are tied, or rather my hands are empty; and I cannot or will not make promises unless I see or know some reasonably certain way in which to make them good.

I, therefore, venture to ask whether there ought not to be in such a Diocese as this, something like a Bishop's Fund or an Extra Mission Fund, corresponding to what is known in larger parishes as the Rector's Fund, with which to meet from time to time, not only such missionary emergencies as those which I have indicated, but many more besides, and which with a larger experience I shall no doubt hereafter in larger number meet. In regard to the raising of such a fund, I would suggest that in addition to individual contributions to it, possibly some of the parishes might be willing to contribute to it at the time of Episcopal Visitations to them, unless such contributions should interfere with their stated annual offerings to the Diocesan Board of Missions. In that case, of course, it would not be desirable. It would be, on the contrary, very undesirable. For the regular missionary work of the Diocese must not be allowed to suffer. But I do not believe that it would suffer if, in the case of some of the parishes, offerings should be made to both funds. At all events, it has seemed worth while to bring the matter before you and to ask you for your aid.

There is another matter of importance that ought to receive our attention. We are often reminded, by publicists and others, that the great battles of civilization are to be fought in the cities. If that is the case, then is the City of New York destined to be one of the great battle grounds of the future, and especially that part of the city beyond the Harlem River which is known as the Borough of the Bronx. For it does not require much prescience to be able to see and say that that is where not many years from now a very large part of the people of New York City will be. The present ratio of increase there is about fifty thousand a year; and when the transit facilities which are now in progress, or in contemplation, shall have been completed, that ratio of increase will be very considerably augmented. Now, therefore, is the time to go in and possess the land and in the name of Jesus Christ to occupy and hold it. That is only the exercise on the part of the Christian Church of ordinary business sagacity; and our Roman Catholic friends, with a characteristic aggressiveness, are already exercising it. They are not waiting until the land values there become prohibitive in price; but realizing as they do that the accepted time is now, they are lengthening now their cords and strengthening now their stakes, and enlarging now the place of their habitation there. The property which they have already acquired in the Borough of the Bronx, so I am credibly informed, amounts to nine million dollars. I do not envy them in the possession of it. I do not wish to take any part of it away from them. But what is this Church doing? In the Borough of the Bronx itself it is doing much; it is doing all it can do. The people there are aroused and very much in earnest. Seldom if ever have I seen a greater enthusiasm displayed than that which was exhibited at a recent public meeting there, when, in the largest hall of the Borough, nearly two thousand persons were gathered (with half that number outside unable to get in), not to consider the issues of a political campaign, but to inaugurate a movement for promoting and advancing there, on deeper, stronger, larger lines, the kingdom of Jesus Christ. It is, men and brethren, a Macedonian cry, here at our very doors, speaking in loud and urgent tones, and saying, Come and help us.

There are other appealing missionary opportunities within our own diocesan borders which should not be neglected. There was a meeting last night in St. Thomas's Church to discuss the Southern Negro Question. And a very great and vital and vexed question it is. But New York has its own negro problem. It has been estimated that there are about seventy thousand colored people resident in this city; and while we have two flourishing and successful parishes among them (St. Philip's and St. David's), these are all we have. There should be at least two more; one on the upper west side of the city and the other on the upper east side. This is a work which the City Mission Society should undertake, and which, by the readjustment of its relation to the Archdeaconry of New York, it ought to be free to engage in.

Among the various Church Institutions of the Diocese, I would commend especially to your favorable consideration and generous support, St. Faith's School for the Training of Deaconesses. To the distinguished Rector of Grace Parish in this city the credit is largely due for the revival in the Church of that ancient and useful order. It is not right, however, that the school which has been by him so successfully established, should be allowed to depend on him for its exclusive maintenance. It is not a parish school; it is a Diocesan School (although sending out its graduates into the church at large), and should as such receive diocesan recognition. In what way that recognition should be given to it, whether in the form of a commendatory resolution, or in some other manner more practical and substantial, I will leave it to you to determine. I venture to suggest, however, that if provision should be made in the Rules of Order for an annual report to the Diocesan Convention of the progress and work of the school, it would tend to give a more distinct diocesan status to it.

There are other needs and opportunities of diocesan work which might be brought before you and to which I have not referred. I have simply mentioned those which in my brief and limited experience have come more directly under my observation, and of which I could therefore with a personal knowledge speak. And yet in doing this, I have not forgotten that larger mission field in which it is our duty and privilege to work, and whose great, far-reaching perspective we must always keep before us, to encourage and inspire us, and to give to our local work its sanction and its force. There is no other Christianity than a universal Christianity; and only when it speaks in universal terms can it here or anywhere with life and power speak. "Have you ever thought," said a Japanese official recently, "why it is that your God leaves so large a part of the human race still in darkness? I think it is that your Christianity at home may live and grow and strengthen and become a vital power by the effort which you make to diminish that darkness." Although he was not a Christian, he seems indeed to have had a better and clearer conception of what the Christian religion is than many Christians have, when in its world-wide scope he found its secret source of power. And that, men and brethren, is its source of power. And if in our parishes and mission stations here we would do a better and more effective work, we must try to make the people in them see that human life as such, black or brown or white, or whether near or far away, belongs to Jesus Christ; and then to make them feel that great responsibility which has been put upon them, to go and take possession of and claim it in His name, and thus to establish everywhere His kingdom on the earth.

In conclusion, let me say what I do so strongly believe, that never was the outlook before the Christian Church more hopeful and encouraging than it is at the present time. First, because of what we see—a movement deep and wide in the Church itself. For many generations past that Church has been divided, ruptured, torn and rent, by parties, schools and sects, and with perhaps in the past some necessity for it, some providential necessity; or with at least in it all some pervading purpose of providential wisdom and for some ultimate good. For if there was in the Christian thought or in the Christian consciousness some latent possibility of or some inherent tendency towards a varied form of expression and interpretation, then must it first appear, and all those diverse tendencies which are potential in it must be developed from it, in order thus some deeper unity to find, some better and some larger synthesis to reach. As Professor Caird has put it, “Until the full extent of a difference is measured every combination of conflicting elements must be merely a compromise. It is only when the antagonism has been fully worked out and sharpened to its utmost intensity that we can look through and beyond it and discover whether after all there is not a principle of unity which is presupposed in the division and therefore capable of overcoming it.”

And that is where we now in Christendom have come. Its manifold divisions have been sharpened to their utmost intensity. They have worked themselves all out. Whatever in the past their mission may have been, their providential mission, that mission now is ended. What was once inevitable, if indeed it was inevitable has now become intolerable, and it is that felt intolerableness of the existing situation that constitutes the hopefulness of the existing situation. It is breaking down to-day under its own bulking weight, and as it is at present it cannot be continued. Now as never before we feel the need of unity, and unity must come. Yes, and it is coming. In what way or manner God in His providence will determine; but it is coming. For now as never before we seem indeed to hear throughout the Christian world the echo of that prayer, that great, high-priestly prayer, which by the Church's Lord and Head was uttered long ago,—“That they all may be one.

as Thou Father art in Me and I in Thee; that they may be one in us "; may be made perfect in one. More clearly, more distinctly, we are hearing now that prayer. More earnestly and fervently we are praying now that prayer. The whole Christian world is praying now that prayer; and which, as it hears and prays it, seems to be saying to it, Behold, the Bridegroom cometh; cometh now to celebrate with His people on the earth, with all His people on the earth, His people here and everywhere, His Bridal Union Feast; go ye out to meet Him!

Yes, go ye out to meet Him. For the signs are not lacking that Jesus Christ is coming into the life and thought of the modern world with new and quickening power, and of the near appearance of a stronger Christian faith. During the past generation, as an English writer has recently remarked, that faith has been subjected to "a great intellectual strain." The strongest, whitest light of critical thought and search has been turned upon it; and to every kind of inquiry, historical and philosophical, it has been subjected. Some of it has been friendly, and some of it not so. And yet, whether friendly or unfriendly, it has been more or less unsettling and disturbing, with many Christian hearts failing them for fear, and the falling away of some. But so has it always been, when with some new and brighter disclosure of Himself, some more appealing power, some greater conquest-grasp, the Son of Man has come. And so is it now. For as the same writer to whom I have referred has remarked again, "We are beginning now to perceive that as the net result of all this close and searching critical inquiry, the personality of Jesus Christ is rising upon the consciousness of the modern world with a force almost of a new revelation to it, and that the modern world, the whole modern world, is standing face to face with that great central Figure so sublimely outlined upon the New Testament pages, as no century has done since the first." Never, indeed, since then has He seemed to be so real, has He seemed to be so near. The ripest and richest scholarship has been brought to bear upon the transmitted record of His life. With a critical acumen seldom if ever equalled, and never surpassed, that record has been searched and studied, and its fine and finished text has been given to the Christian world, so that with the privilege which this Church now is asking of its permitted use, we shall seem indeed to be standing as in His very presence, His gracious personal presence, seeing His gracious acts, His gracious deeds performed, and listening to the gracious words proceeding out of His mouth, and which as now we hear them are felt indeed to have their witness in themselves. His personality is pressing itself upon the modern consciousness, is filling the modern thought, and in the modern vision is looming clear and large. And coming thus more fully into the modern consciousness He must of necessity come more fully into its life. And in spite of all the confusion which in that life exists, its social strifes and frictions, its threatening discontents, its economic wars, and which our great and growing material prosperity does not seem to lessen but increase:—nay, not in spite of them, but because of them, because we are not able apparently by any economic process to abate them or prevent them; we hear the word, we see the sign, of something better coming, some better kingdom coming, some brighter vision coming, some coming Christ of God. Then let us go to meet Him; and with a stronger faith, and a mutual love and trust, to preach and proclaim Him, that coming Christ of God. Yet not a Christ who is new but old, very old; older than the Church, older than the world, who existed long before the world's foundations were laid, who laid them; the Christ who was and is, and who is to come, with a parousia more majestic, with a manifestation and disclosure of Himself more brilliant and sublime, with a triumph more complete; thus more and more to widen out and strengthen and confirm the kingdom on earth of God.

Services and the Sunday-school have been maintained at the Mission of St. John Baptist, Richardville, throughout the year. Services were held on forty-four Sundays and one week day. One infant was baptized.

Through the liberality of one of the summer residents at the Lake we have been able to build a small addition to the chapel for use as a robing room, and to otherwise improve the interior of the building. The children of the Sunday-school contributed, through the Lenten offerings, $8.51 to General Missions.

At the Mission of the Good Shepherd, West Somers, the work has gone steadily on. Services have been held on every Sunday during the year. It was expected that work on the chapel would be under way before this time, but owing to a change in the plans it had been deferred. It is hoped that we shall soon be able to make a beginning.

The Lenten offerings to General Missions amounted to $3.60.

The Rector has not included this year in the parochial statistics such cadets of the Military School as attend St. Mary's. They are an interesting but fugitive element in parochial life. Some of them are Communicants.

During the past year the Senior Warden—William B. Osgood Field, Esq.—has, at his own expense, opened a Parish House, affording rooms for reading, games, music and companionship for the young men of Yorktown.

A sewing class for young girls, a basketry class and a "Neighborhood Guild" for women are also features of the Parish House. The whole community has felt its benignant influence.

The Parish needs a Rectory, a more dignified and suitable chancel and the raising of the Endowment Fund from $35,000 (where it now stands) to $25,000 or $30,000. When this shall be accomplished the Parish will be an ideal rural incumbency.

On Easter Day, 1904, Mr. Stephen S. Palmer presented to the parish a new Parish House—50 by 77 feet—on lots belonging to the corporation in 80th Street.

The building is of stone, brick and steel and entirely fireproof; five stories in height, with a playground upon the roof. For years before his health failed, the preceding rector, Victor Chateaufneuf Smith, labored patiently and persistently to secure suitable housing for the educational and social work of the parish, and prior to his resignation had collected the nucleus of a fund for that purpose. Through the united efforts of the congregation and friends, a modest parish-house bearing his name has, during the past year, been erected, furnished and paid for in full to commemorate his long and loving service. The cornerstone was laid by the Bishop, May 16, 1903, and the completed building put to use in the December following.

Extensive repairs and additions have been made to the Church and the Parish House during the year past. These improvements include a new choir and stalls, a new chancel, baptistery and organ for the Church and a new choir room and sacristy for the Parish House. The entire cost of the improvements, decorations, etc., was given by the Hon. Elbridge T. Gerry, Senior Warden of the parish, as a thank offering for the twenty years' service of the Rev. Edward Wallace-Neil, Rector of the Church.

The Rector hopes to be able to revise the List of Communicants in the course of the next year, for there are many names on it of persons who have long ceased to attend St. James' Church.

He has been dependent largely upon returns made to him with regard to the amount due in the Financial Exhibit, which he thinks only approximates to accuracy, but he has no time at his disposal now to personally overhaul the various accounts.

The returns do not include the work at the "Church of the Holy Trinity within the Parish of St. James."

The number of Communicants reported represents only those who have actually received communion within the year. There are doubtless many more who, if asked, would call themselves communicants of St. Michael's parish, and many of whose names we have as confirmed persons. In the Sunday-school and the Industrial School the figures given represent both the parish church, and also the Sheltering Arms, which is under the parochial care of St. Michael's. The latter reports 18 Sunday-school teachers and 220 pupils, 5 Industrial School teachers and 40 pupils.

The present condition of the Church property is most gratifying. The following improvements and repairs have been made: a new chimney has been erected on the west side of the Church, thereby adding to the comfort and appearance of the Church. The walls have been painted and wainscoted, the paint having been donated by Mr. H. G. Hollis, and the labor of putting it on having been gratuitously performed by the gentlemen of the congregation, to whom the Board tender their thanks. The work, wainscoting and pews have likewise been newly painted.

To Mr. A. J. Slade the congregation are indebted for his gratuitous service rendered in sawing and fitting and putting on wainscoting and making various other repairs, and especially for his donation of the columns supporting arch.

The thanks of the Trustees and congregation are due to Mr. William A. Sarven for the repairing of the walls of the chapel, and to William McCain for donation of iron bars and service rendered in fastening same to the chimney, and to A. C. Hammond for donation of electrical supplies and for labor in fitting up the same, and to Joseph Fisher for moving the coal and wood sheds to the rear of the Church, thereby improving the appearance of the Church grounds.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Stephen's Chapel are deserving of much credit for the spirit shown by them in coming to the aid of the Trustees in furnishing the inside of the chapel. A successful supper and fair was held in the early fall, the proceeds of which were more than sufficient to purchase a neat carpet and the brass railing in the chancel and around the choir stall. Both the organs have been tuned and repaired.

The following additions have been made to the church property, a brass cross donated by Mrs. Hollis now replaces the old wooden one. The last Confirmation class presented a pair of brass altar vases. It is gratifying to report a large increase in the attendance at the church service and an awakened interest in church affairs.

In May, 1903, Mr. H. Goodwin Holmes, who for some eight years had gratuitously and most acceptably served the Parish as choirmaster, and for many of those years was organist as well, resigned his position, and Mr. T. C. Bell succeeded to the charge of the vested choir.

In September, 1903, a new furnace was put in, at a cost of $160.50.

This Parish celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its incorporation (September 19, 1853) on Sunday, September 20, 1903. The Holy Communion was celebrated at 7.30 A.M. and 10.45 A.M. At the 10.45 A.M. service the Rector gave a historical sketch of the Parish during the last fifty years, and a sermon was preached by the Archdeacon of Westchester, the Rev. Dr. F. B. Van Kleeck.

The sole surviving signer of the original Record of Incorporation, Mr. Elijah Montross, was present at this service.

In the evening the sermon was by the Rev. Dr. W. W. Kirkby, Rector of Christ Church, Rye, N. Y.

St. John's Church was founded in 1853 by the Rev. Dr. Robert W. Harris, a predecessor of the Rev. Dr. Van Kleeck as Rector of Grace Church, White Plains, and so Grace Church, White Plains, is the Mother Church of St. John's, Pleasantville.

Christ Church, Rye, has been the founder of seven churches in the surrounding country, and of these Grace Church, White Plains, was one. There was a peculiar significance, therefore, in both Dr. Van Kleeck and Dr. Kirkby preaching upon this day.

The offertories of the day were very liberal—an anonymous contributor enclosing $50, with a card on which were the words: "One gold coin for every year of the Church's life."

Notwithstanding various removals and loss of leading helpers on account of poor state of the local trade, we paid $80 in excess of our stated annual payment on Land Purchase Account, making $160 on account of principal, and leaving $40—final balance—due with simple interest. Within ten years we have paid $1,500 on Land Purchase Account, and we are proud of when local circumstances are known and weighed.

At Bloomington (within the Parish), where we have a flourishing Sunday-school and Church Services, Mr. F. H. Doremus has leased us a house for three years free of all rent, except only to payment of local taxes and fire insurance. The figures above do not include Bloomington account, which will run to over $200 a year, all found locally.

APPENDIX D.

CLERICAL REPORTS.

The Bishop of the Diocese has also received reports, according to the Canon, from the following clergymen of the Diocese, not having parochial or missionary charge :

THE REV. HENRY ANSTICE, D.D.,

"Respectfully reports: That since his reception into the Diocese last December he has been engaged in the missionary work of the Archdeaconry of Richmond as Vicar to the Archdeacon, and since July has been charged as Acting Archdeacon, with full responsibility for the work. He has officiated every Sunday either in the Borough of Richmond or elsewhere, and his official acts requiring record have been recorded in the parish or mission where performed. He has devoted his week-day time mainly to the promotion of the interests of the Clergymen's Retiring Fund Society, of which he is a director and the financial secretary, and to the duties arising from his official connection with various other general organizations of the Church."

THE REV. MERRIWETHER BRODNAX

"Respectfully reports: During the year since the last report, I have done service when requested."

THE REV. P. K. CADY, D.D.,

"Respectfully reports: That during the last Conventional year he has continued to discharge his duties as Sub-Dean and Librarian of the General Theological Seminary."

THE REV. ORROK COLLOQUE, Ph.D.

"I respectfully report: That during the past year I have been studying, by permission of the Bishop, in Columbia and New York Universities, and that in May, 1904, New York University conferred upon me the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

"I have performed such priestly functions as occasion offered or need required, under the direction of the clergy of the Diocese."

THE REV. HENRY A. DOWS

"Respectfully reports: That during the Conventional year he has officiated as Chaplain of the House of the Annunciation."

THE REV. W. L. EVANS.

"I beg to report: That during the last year, in addition to my educational work. I have regularly officiated at Bloomingdale Asylum; have taken the work at St. John's, Pleasantville, during the illness of the Rector (two months); have taken charge of the Church of the Ascension, Mount Vernon, for two months, during the absence of the Rector; have taken charge of Grace Church, White Plains, during the absence of the Rector, and have, at other times, assisted the Archdeacon."

THE REV. J. GOTTFRIED HAMMARSKÖLD.

"I beg leave to report: That during the past year I have, in connection with my duties as Superintendent of Swedish Missions, conducted 178 services, taken part in 55, preached 156 sermons, delivered 50 addresses, administered Holy Communion 88 times in public and 6 times in private, baptized 27 children, officiated at 5 marriages and 5 funerals, prepared a class for confirmation, conducted 3 missionary meetings and made a number of calls at hospitals and prisons. In addition to the above, I have spent considerable time in raising funds for various objects connected with the work at large."

THE REV. THOMAS P. HUGHES, D.D., LL.D.,

"Respectfully reports: That during the year ending April 30, 1904, he has officiated in the Church of the Epiphany, Brooklyn, Church of the Good Shepherd, Brooklyn, St. Bartholomew's Church, Brooklyn, and Grace Church, Whitestone, all in the Diocese of Long Island, and has officiated at one funeral in New York City, in the Diocese of New York."

THE REV. T. A. HYLAND.

"During the past year I have taken part almost every Sunday in the services of the Church, and assisted in the administration of the Holy Communion. I have married two couples and baptized one infant."

THE REV. JOHN VAUGHAN LEWIS, D.D.

"During the past Conventional year I have solemnized one marriage and assisted at an 'institution.'"

THE REV. W. G. W. LEWIS.

"The Annual Convention finds me still able to fulfil the duty prescribed by the Canon, though a rheumatic trouble in my right hand makes it somewhat difficult. My health is not as good as formerly, but I still am able to visit the Home for Old Men and Aged Couples, and minister to them as they may need, in Family Prayer and Sunday Morning Service. I have served about twenty-five times at Holy Communion and at seven funerals."

THE REV. ARTHUR MASON

"Respectfully reports: That owing to ill health he resigned the Chaplaincy of the House of the Holy Comforter, New York City, on January 1st, after twelve years' service. Since then he has celebrated the Holy Communion five times, assisted at the same three times, preached five times and officiated at one burial."

THE REV. GEO. L. NICHOLAS, M.D.

"Since the termination of his work as a Missionary of the City Mission Society he officiated occasionally in various churches in the city."

THE REV. WILFORD L. ROBBINS, D.D.,

Dean of the General Theological Seminary.

"I beg leave respectfully to report: That during the past year I have been engaged in the discharge of my duties as Dean of the General Theological Seminary. I have also preached and officiated frequently in various churches of this and other Dioceses."

THE REV. JOHN J. ROBERTS, D.D.,

"Begs leave most respectfully to report: That he can now do but little occasional work, being in the eighty-fifth year of his age, and the fifty-ninth of his ministry."

"He remains a witness of the truth of the Psalmist's declaration: 'Though men be so strong that they come to fourscore years, yet is their strength then but labour'—he does not add 'sorrow' because of the gracious promises in the Revelation by and through our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

THE REV. WM. J. SEABURY, D.D.,

"Respectfully reports: That during the year past he has attended as usual to the duties of his Professorship in the General Theological Seminary, and has officiated as occasion required. Baptizing, once; solemnizing marriage, once; funeral, once; celebrating Holy Eucharist, 29 times; saying Morning and Evening Prayer, 64 times; assisting at services, 11 times, and preaching, 11 times."

THE REV. CORNELIUS B. SMITH, D.D.,

Rector Emeritus of St. James' Church, New York.

"The beloved Rector of this Church, the Rev. Dr. E. Walpole Warren, having died during the summer of 1908, I resumed full charge of the parish, by request of the Vestry, on the 1st of October, and officiated in this capacity until Christmas Day, when the new Rector, the Right Reverend Dr. Courtney, began his pastoral work."

"I have no words with which to fully express my appreciation of the welcome of friends, old and new, in my dear old parish gave to me in these months of bereavement and transition. May God's blessing rest upon them, and upon the present Rector, whose great work in the past gives such promise for the future!

"During the rest of the year I have been busy, as usual, officiating almost constantly in various parishes."

It shall be held on the last Wednesday in September unless the Bishop with the consent of the Standing Committee shall appoint another date. In case of the inability of the Bishop to act, or of a vacancy in the Episcopate, the Standing Committee shall appoint the time and place of holding the Con-

ARTICLE II.

The Bishop shall have power to call Special Conventions, when he shall judge it conducive to the good of the Church; and shall do so as applied to for that purpose by the Standing Committee; and in case of a vacancy in the Episcopate, the Standing Committee shall have power to call a Special Convention.

ARTICLE III.

The Convention shall be composed of the officiating Ministers of the Church who have been received into this Diocese, and settled in some Church which is in union with this Convention ; and of Lay Members, consisting of not exceeding three Delegates from each Church, to be chosen by the Vestry or Congregation : and Clergymen employed as Missionaries under the direction of this Convention, and Clergymen engaged as Professors or Instructors of youth in any College, Academy, or General Seminary of Learning, duly incorporated, and Clergymen engaged as Superintendents or Chaplains in any incorporated Charitable Institution, may be members of the Convention. No Clergyman, however, shall have a right to a seat in the Convention, unless he has been canonically resident in this Diocese for the period of six months immediately preceding the meeting of the Convention.

ARTICLE IV.

Every Convention shall be opened with prayers and a sermon ; and the preacher shall be nominated by the Bishop, or in case of his inability to act, or a vacancy in the Episcopate, by the Standing Committee.

ARTICLE VI.

A Secretary shall be chosen, upon the assembling of the Annual Convention, from among the members thereof, who shall remain in office until the meeting of the next Convention. His duty shall be to take minutes of their proceedings, to preserve their journals and records, to attest the public acts of the body, and faithfully to deliver into the hands of his successor all books and papers, relative to the concerns of the Convention, which may be in his possession. It shall also be his duty to give due notice to each Minister and Vestry of the time and place appointed for the meeting of the succeeding Convention.

ARTICLE VII.

In all matters which shall come before the Convention, the Clergy and Laity shall deliberate in one body ; and in voting, the Clergy shall vote by individuals, and the Laity by Congregations ; and when more than one Church or Chapel shall be united under one Vestry, and shall have been so united and recognized by the Convention, prior to the last Wednesday in September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine, the Delegate or Delegates of such Vestry only shall be entitled to a vote for each Church or Chapel ; and a majority of votes of the two orders jointly shall be decisive ; but if in any case it be required by five votes, the two orders shall vote separately in the manner aforesaid, and the concurrence of a majority of each order shall be necessary to constitute a decision. In the case of electing a Bishop, the two orders shall always vote separately, agreeably to the mode last prescribed.

ARTICLE VIII.

The mode of altering this Constitution shall be as follows : A proposition for an amendment shall be introduced in writing and considered in the Convention ; and, if approved of, shall lie over to the next Convention, and, if again approved of in such next Convention, by a majority of the two orders voting thereon separately, the change shall take place, and the Constitution so altered shall be valid and obligatory.

CANON I.

A List to be made of Ministers in the Diocese.

Within one week before the meeting of every Convention of this Diocese, the Bishop, or in case there be no Bishop, or of his inability or disability to act, then the Standing Committee of the Diocese, shall prepare, or cause to be prepared, a list of all the Ministers of the Protestant Episcopal Church canonically resident in this Diocese, annexing the names of their respective Cures or Parishes, or Stations as Missionaries, or of the Colleges, Academies, or other Seminaries or incorporated Charitable Institutions in which they are engaged ; or, in regard to those who are not engaged in Parishes, Missions, or Institutions of learning, as above, their places of residence only ; but no Clergyman while suspended from the Ministry shall have a place on the said list. Such list shall be recorded by the Secretary of the Convention in a book to be kept for that purpose, and be prefixed to the Journal.

CANON II.

Of the Members of the Convention and the Evidence of their Rights to Seats.

SEC. 1. A list of the names of all Clergymen entitled to seats in the Convention, under Article III. of the Constitution, shall be prepared by the Bishop, or in case there be no Bishop, or of his inability or disability to act, then by the Standing Committee. Said list shall be laid before the Convention on the first day of meeting, and shall be presumptive evidence of a right to a seat of all those whose names appear thereon.

SEC. 2. In case the right of any Clergyman of this Diocese to a seat in the Convention shall be disputed or claimed, it shall be determined according to the provision of the third Article of the Constitution by the Convention itself.

SEC. 3. The Secretary of the Convention shall record in a book, to be provided by him, and kept in accordance with the Canon of the General Convention, entitled "General Regulations of Ministers and their Duties," all certificates that shall be transmitted to him in accordance with said Canon.

In case of a contested right to a seat in the Convention of any Clergyman who shall have been elected to any Church or Parish in this Diocese, after the passage of this Canon, the evidence of settlement shall consist in the said record ; or in the production to the Convention of the certificate required by this Section, to be recorded as aforesaid, together with a certificate of the Bishop or of the Standing Committee, of his or their being satisfied that the person so chosen is a qualified Minister of this Church.

SEC. 4. Every Minister who may be received into this Diocese shall procure from the Bishop, or, in case of his disability or inability to act, from a majority of the clerical members of the Standing Committee, duly convened, a certificate that he has been received into this Diocese in compliance with the Canon of the General Convention. And before he shall be entitled to a seat in the Convention, he shall transmit such certificate to the Secretary, to be recorded in the book mentioned in the preceding Section. And in case of the contested right to a seat in the Convention of any Minister who may be received into this Diocese, the production of such record, or of such certificate, or of the Secretary's written acknowledgment of his receipt of the same, shall be presumptive evidence of regular admission, and the certificate, if not previously recorded, shall thereupon be recorded by the Secretary in the said book.

SEC. 5. In case of a contested right to a seat in the Convention of a Clergyman claiming such right by virtue of his being employed as a Missionary under the direction of this Convention, the evidence of such employment shall consist in the written certificate of the Bishop ; or, in case of a vacancy of the Episcopate, or of the inability or disability of the Bishop, in the written certificate of the Chairman of the Missionary Committee of the Diocese.

SEC. 6. In case of a contested right to a seat in the Convention of a Clergyman claiming such right by virtue of his being engaged as a Professor or Instructor of Youth in a College, Academy, or General Seminary of Learning, duly incorporated, the evidence of his connection with such College, Academy, or Seminary shall consist in the written certificate of the President or Secretary of such Corporation that he is so employed.

SEC. 7. (I.) Lay Delegates from Churches having Vestries shall be appointed by the Vestry, at a regular meeting, held according to law.

(II.) The evidence of the appointment of a Lay Delegate from a Church having a Vestry shall be a certificate signed by the Rector of the Church and by the Clerk of the Vestry. If there be no Rector, or if the appointment shall have been made at any legal Vestry meeting held in his absence, then such certificate shall state that fact, and shall be signed by the Warden who presides at the meeting at which such Delegate is appointed, and also by the Clerk of the Vestry. The certificate must show upon its face that the appointment has been made in accordance with all the requirements of the Canons, and shall certify that the Delegate is a Lay member, entitled to vote for Wardens and Vestrymen of the Church which he is appointed to represent.

(III.) The evidence of appointment of a Lay Delegate from a Church having no Vestry shall be a certificate signed by the Minister of such Church, or by the officer who presides at the meeting of the congregation by which he was appointed, and also by the Clerk or Secretary of such meeting. The certificate shall state the time and place of the election, and shall certify that the person appointed has been duly chosen by such Church or Congregation as a Lay Delegate; that he is a Lay member of such Church or Congregation, and has been such member for at least twelve months next preceding the time of his appointment, and that the election was held in accordance with all the requirements of the Canons.

(IV.) No other certificate or evidence of appointment of any Lay Delegate than such as is above required shall be allowed or received.

SEC. 8. No Lay Delegate from a Church having a Vestry shall be entitled to a seat in the Convention, unless he be entitled to vote for Wardens and Vestrymen of the Church which he is appointed to represent.

SEC. 9. A copy of the seventh and eighth sections of this Canon shall be transmitted annually by the Secretary of the Convention to every Church in this Diocese in union with the Convention, together with a blank printed form of certificate of appointment of Lay Delegates, and the notice which he is required by the Constitution to give of the time and place appointed for the meeting of the succeeding Convention.

SEC. 10. It shall be the duty of the Clerks of the Vestries of the Parishes which have been admitted into union with this Convention, immediately after the appointment of the Lay Delegates to the Diocesan Convention, to certify their election to the Secretary of the Convention in the form prescribed by Sections 7 and 8 of this Canon. From the certificates thus received, the Secretary shall prepare a list of Lay Delegates for use in the organization of the Convention.

SEC. 11. The presence of at least thirty Clergymen entitled to vote in the Convention, and of Delegates from at least thirty congregations, shall be necessary to the transaction of business—except that a smaller number may adjourn from day to day.

SEC. 12. If the President ex officio of the Convention is not present at its opening, the Secretary of the Convention shall call to order the members present, when the senior presbyter present entitled to a seat in the Convention shall take the chair, and shall preside until a President be elected, as provided by Article V. of the Constitution.

SEC. 13. The Secretary of the Convention, under the direction of the Bishop, or, in case of his absence or inability to act, or of a vacancy in the Episcopate, under the direction of the Standing Committee, shall call over the names of the Clergy entitled to seats.

SEC. 14. He shall call the names of the Lay Delegates whose election has been certified to him, in pursuance of Section 10 of this Canon. The President shall then appoint a committee of three persons, to whom shall be referred the credentials of the Lay Delegates, who shall report upon the correctness of the roll made by the Secretary.

SEC. 15. The calling of the names of the Clergy entitled to seats and of the Lay Delegates may be dispensed with by a unanimous vote of the members of the Convention present, provided that evidence satisfactory to the Convention of the presence of a canonical quorum of each order be laid before the Convention by the Secretary. In such case the Secretary shall take means to secure a correct list of the Clergy entitled to seats and of the Lay Delegates who are present at the Convention.

SEC. 16. A quorum, which shall consist of thirty Clergymen and Delegates from thirty Congregations, being present, the President, ex officio, if present, shall declare the Convention duly organized. If he be absent, or unable to act, the temporary President shall direct that the members proceed to vote for a President as provided in Article V. of the Constitution, which election shall be by ballot, unless dispensed with by the unanimous vote of the members present. The President, being elected, shall declare the Convention organized for business.

SEC. 17. The Convention shall then proceed to the election of a Secretary and Treasurer of the Convention, by ballot, unless dispensed with by the unanimous vote of the members present. The Secretary shall appoint two assistants, and announce their names to the Convention.

SEC. 18. The existing Rules of Order, so far as they are applicable to the preliminary proceedings for the organization of the Convention, shall be deemed in force for that purpose; and the said Rules of Order, except such of them as prescribe the mode of altering the same, shall regulate the proceedings after the organization, until altered by the Convention.

CANON III.

Of the Call of the Convention.

Unless it be otherwise directed by the Convention, the mode of giving notice of the meeting of any Convention shall be by an advertisement of the time and place of such meeting, signed by the Secretary, and published in three of the public papers, or Church journals, printed in the Diocese of New York. Whenever, under the provisions of the Constitution, a Special Convention is called for any particular purpose, it shall be the duty of the Secretary, at the notice thereof, to specify such purpose.

CANON IV.

Of the Admission of a Church as a Parish into Union with the Church in this Diocese and Maintaining such Union.

SEC. 1. Every Church or Congregation desiring admission as a Parish into union with the Church in this Diocese shall present written application therefor to the Convention, together with a copy of the Resolution of the Vestry or of the Congregation authorizing such application ; in which resolution the said Church, by its Vestry or Congregation, shall agree to abide by, and conform to and observe all the Canons of the Church, and all the rules, orders, and regulations of the Convention ; which copy shall be duly certified by the presiding officer of the Vestry, or of the meeting of the Congregation at which the resolution was adopted, and also by the Clerk of the Vestry or Secretary of the meeting ; and shall be authenticated by the seal of the corporation.

The said application shall also be accompanied by the Certificate of Incorporation of the Church, duly recorded, or a copy thereof, certified by the officer whose duty it may be to record or to file the same ; and also by a Certificate of the Bishop, or, in case of his absence, or of his inability or disability to act, or of a vacancy in the Episcopate, of the Standing Committee, that he or they approve of the Incorporation of said Church, and that such Church, in his or their judgment, is duly established.

Every Church or Congregation applying for admission shall produce satisfactory evidence that not less than twenty-five persons, members of such Church, have habitually, for at least one year preceding such application, attended divine service in such Church or Congregation.

The Certificate of Incorporation of every Church incorporated under any Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, save the General Act of April 5, 1813, and the Amendments thereto, shall declare upon its face that the Church or Congregation is a Protestant Episcopal Church, and that it is forever to continue such, in communion with the Protestant Episcopal Church in the State of New York ; and it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Convention to prepare and furnish blanks for the Certificate of Incorporation of Parishes, which shall embody the above provision.

SEC. 2. (I.) No application for the admission of a Parish into union with the Church in this Diocese shall be considered or acted upon at any meeting of the Convention, unless the same has been transmitted to the Secretary of the Convention at least forty days before the meeting of the Convention.

(II.) It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Convention, at least thirty days before the meeting of the Convention, to deliver t a Committee, to be annually appointed (to be called the Committee on the Incorporation and Admission of Churches), all applications for admission into union which shall have been received by him, to be by such Committee examined, considered, and reported upon to the Convention.

SEC. 3. Whenever any Parish in union with this Convention shall neglect for three years in succession to make a Parochial Report, no missionary report being made on its behalf, and shall not, during the same period, have employed a Clergyman as its Parish Minister, nor requested of the ecclesiastical authority to have the services of a Missionary, such Parish shall be regarded as having forfeited its connection with the Convention, and shall no longer have a right to send a Delegate or Delegates to the same.

The Bishop shall report such Parish to the Convention in his Annual Address.

Such Parish, however, may be re-admitted, upon application to the Convention, accompanied by a report of its condition, and on such terms as shall appear just; such re-admission to take effect from and after the rising of the Convention consenting to such admission.

CANON V.

Of the Secretary of the Convention.

SEC. 1. In addition to the constitutional provisions concerning the Secretary, it is hereby declared that this officer shall be chosen by ballot after viva voce nominations of the Candidates, and shall continue in office until a new election is made.

SEC. 2. He shall transmit annually to each of the Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, and to the Secretary of the last House of Clerical and Lay Deputies in the General Convention, and to the Secretary of every Diocesan Convention, a copy of the Journal of the Convention; and shall request the last to send copies of their respective Journals in exchange.

SEC. 3. He shall also transmit to every General Convention, in addition to the documents mentioned in the Canons of the General Convention, a certificate, to be signed by himself, containing a list of the Clergymen in this Diocese, and the amount of funds paid or secured to be paid (distinguishing them) to the General Theological Seminary, together with the nomination of Trustees of that Seminary; and also a like certificate of the appointment of Clerical and Lay Deputies.

SEC. 4. Any expense incurred by a compliance with the third section of this Canon shall be paid out of the Diocesan Fund.

SEC. 5.—Whenever there shall be a vacancy in the office of Secretary of the Convention, the duties thereof shall devolve upon one of the Assistant Secretaries in the order of their appointment, if there be one; if not, upon the Secretary of the Standing Committee.

CANON VI.

Of the Treasurer of the Convention.

SEC. 1. At every stated Convention there shall be chosen by ballot a Treasurer of the Convention, who shall remain in office until the next stated Convention, and until a successor is appointed. It shall be his duty to receive and disburse all moneys collected under the authority of the Convention, and of which the collection and distribution shall not be otherwise regulated.

SEC. 2. His accounts shall be rendered annually to the Convention, and shall be examined by a Committee acting under its authority.

SEC. 3. In case of a vacancy in the office of Treasurer, it shall be supplied by an appointment to be made by the Standing Committee; and the person so appointed shall continue to act until an appointment is made by the Convention.

CANON VII.

Of Parish Registers and Parochial Reports.

SEC. 1. Every Minister in charge of a Parish in this Diocese shall keep a Register of Baptisms, Confirmations, Communicants, Marriages, and Funerals within his Cure.

SEC. 2. The record shall specify the name and time of birth of each child baptized, with the names of the parents and sponsors; the name of each adult baptized; the name of each person confirmed; the names of the parties married, with the names of the witness or witnesses required by the civil law; the name of each person buried; and also the time when each rite was performed. These Registers shall be kept by the Minister in a book to be provided for that purpose, belonging to the Vestry of each Church; which book shall be the Parish Register, and shall be preserved the Vestry as a part of the records of the Church.

The list of Communicants shall embrace all within his Cure nearly as can be ascertained, and he shall also keep a list of families and adult persons in his Cure, as far as practicable.

SEC. 3. Every Minister of this Church shall present, or cause to be delivered, on or before the first day of every annual Convention, to the Bishop of the Diocese, or, when there is no Bishop the President of the Convention, a statement of the number of Baptisms, Confirmations, Marriages, and Funerals; and of the number of Communicants in his Parish or Church, and of all other matters that may throw light on the state of the same.

SEC. 4. In every case where a Parish is without a Minister, the Register contemplated by this Canon shall be kept by some person appointed by the Vestry for that purpose; and the annual Parochial Reports shall be presented or forwarded to the Bishop by the Wardens of the Parish.

SEC. 5. The Register contemplated by this Canon shall at all times be subject to inspection by the Bishop or by such person as he may appoint.

SEC. 6. Upon the dissolution of a Parish the Register, provided for by this Canon, shall immediately become the property of the Diocese, and the Trustees of the Estate and Property of the Diocesan Convention shall cause the said Register to be deposited with the Bishop, to be under his care for the legitimate purposes thereof.

CANON VIII.

Of Preparing a Report on the State of the Church.

A Committee of the Convention of this Diocese shall be appointed at the stated meeting of the same next before every stated meeting of the General Convention, in accordance with the Canon * thereto, to assist the Bishop in preparing a report of the state of the Church in this Diocese, and a list of the Clergy, to be presented to the General Convention.

CANON IX.

Concerning Elections.

SEC. 1. Elections by ballot, when required by these Canons, may be dispensed with by a unanimous vote of the Convention. And when an election is by ballot, a majority of the votes in order shall be necessary to a valid election.

* Canon XX., Sec. 5, Title 1.

SEC. 2. The mode of conducting the nominations and elections of the Standing Committee, the Deputies and Provisional Deputies to the General Convention, and Deputies to the Federate Council, shall be as follows :

Any member of the Convention may send to the Secretary, in writing, on or before the first day of the meeting thereof, nominations, signed by himself, for the Standing Committee, for Clerical and Lay Deputies and Provisional Deputies to the General Convention, and for members of the Federate Council. All names so sent in shall be reported to the Convention by the Secretary, at the beginning of the second day's session, in the form of a ballot, on which the names shall be arranged in alphabetical order. After each list of nominations as many blank spaces shall be left as there are vacancies to be filled. These blanks may be filled by any voter. The voter shall mark an X at the right of the name of each person for whom he votes. On the first ballot these ballots only shall be used, and also in all subsequent ballots, except when otherwise ordered by the Convention. No ballot shall be counted on which more names are marked than there are vacancies to be filled, and the number of vacancies to be filled shall be printed on each ballot.

The Secretary shall provide a board, to be hung up in a conspicuous place, near the entrance to the Convention, on which shall be posted the nominations so received, and also the names of the present members of the Standing Committee, Deputies and Provisional Deputies to General Convention, and Deputies to the Federate Council ; and these names shall also be printed on the back of the ballot provided by the Secretary.

CANON X.

Of Deputies to the General Convention.

SEC. 1. The Convention shall, at each second regular annual meeting next succeeding a stated meeting of the General Convention, elect by ballot four Clergymen and four Laymen to act as Deputies from this Diocese to the General Convention. It shall also elect by ballot four Clergymen and four Laymen, as Provisional Deputies, to act in the case hereinafter mentioned ; which Deputies and Provisional Deputies shall hold their respective stations until successors are appointed, and shall be Deputies, or Provisional Deputies, for any General Convention which may be held during their continuance in office.

SEC. 2. Should a vacancy occur by resignation, removal from the Diocese, death, or otherwise, among the Deputies or Provisional Deputies, between the stated times of election, the vacancy shall be supplied by any Convention, during or prior to which such vacancy shall occur.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the Deputies elect to signify to the Bishop, at least two days before the meeting of the General Convention, their acceptance of the appointment, and their intention to perform its duties; in default of which the Bishop shall designate, from the list of Provisional Deputies, so many as may be necessary to insure, as far as practicable, a full representation of the Diocese. And the Bishop shall in like manner designate from the same list of Provisional Deputies one or more, as the case may be, to supply any deficiency in the representation of this Diocese which may in any way occur. And the person or persons so designated by the Bishop, being furnished with his certificate thereof, shall have all the power and authority of Deputies duly elected by the Convention.

SEC. 4. In case of a vacancy in the Episcopate, or the inability of the Bishop to act, the power conferred upon the Bishop by this Canon shall be exercised by the Standing Committee.

CANON XI.

Of Deputies to the Federate Council.

At every stated Convention there shall be an election by ballot of eight Clergymen and eight Laymen to serve as Deputies at any meeting of the Federate Council that may be held before the next Annual Convention of the Diocese. And in case of a vacancy by death or otherwise among the Deputies so elected, such vacancy shall be filled by the Bishop.

CANON XII.

Of the Standing Committee.

SEC. 1. At every stated Convention a Standing Committee shall be elected by ballot, to consist of four Clergymen and four Laymen. Vacancies in said Committee, occurring by death or otherwise, shall be supplied by the concurrent vote of the Clerical members and Lay members of the Committee.

SEC. 2. In case of a vacancy in the Episcopate, or the inability or disability of the Bishop, the powers and duties to be performed by the Bishop in matters of discipline shall be performed by the Standing Committee, except in those cases where such powers and duties are or may be specially delegated to, or enjoined upon, the Clerical members of said Committee; in which cases such powers and duties shall be exercised by said Clerical members alone; provided, that no sentence shall be pronounced on a Clergyman but by a Bishop.

SEC. 3. The record of all proceedings upon a presentment of a Clergyman shall be preserved by the Standing Committee, and for that purpose shall, after a final decision, be delivered to their Secretary.

SEC. 4. Should a stated Convention, from any cause, not be held at the appointed time, or if such Convention should be held, but no election be made, pursuant to Section 1 of this Canon, then the last Standing Committee elected shall continue to perform the duties of the office until a new election takes place.

CANON XIII.

Of Vacant Parishes, and Clergymen without Cure.

SEC. 1. Whenever a Parish becomes vacant by the resignation or decease of the incumbent, or otherwise, due notice of the same shall be given by the Clerk of the Vestry or Trustees to the Ordinary, who, with the concurrence of the authorities of the Parish, shall take such measures as he may deem expedient for the temporary maintenance of religious services in such Parish.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the Vestry or Trustees of such vacant Parish to provide for the compensation of the Minister appointed under the preceding section.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the authorities of such vacant Parish to consult with the Bishop of the Diocese before proceeding to fill the vacancy.

SEC. 4. Any Clergyman without cure resident in, or visiting, this Diocese and desiring to take temporary or occasional service therein shall signify to the Bishop his wish to officiate in this Diocese. A list of such Clergymen as shall be licensed by the Bishop for such duty shall be kept at the Diocesan House. And no Rector or Parish shall employ the services of any Clergyman without cure for more than one day, unless he shall have the written license of the Bishop.

CANON XIV.

Of the Establishment of New Places of Public Worship.

SEC. 1. In places where the Church is already established, no new Parish shall be formed, or new Church or Chapel be established, or new Congregation be gathered, nor shall the site of any existing Church, Chapel, or Congregation be changed without the written consent of the Bishop of the Diocese and the formal approval of the Standing Committee. But such action of the Standing Committee shall not be taken until previous notice has been given, and due proof thereof furnished the Committee, by the parties moving therefor, to the Rectors and Vestries of the three Churches or Congregations whose places of public worship shall be nearest to the site proposed for the new place of worship, nor until at least one month has been allowed such Rectors and Vestries to present any objections they may have.

SEC. 2. In places where the Church is not established, the written consent of the Bishop of the Diocese, acting by and with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee, shall be sufficient for the formation of a new Parish.

SEC. 3. "Tentative missionary work, authorized by the Bishop and the Executive Committee of the Archdeaconry in which such work is situated, may be prosecuted temporarily at such point or points as may be from time to time designated by them, after consultation with the Rectors of the three nearest Parishes; but such work shall not be continued more than one year, nor shall any building for such work be erected, unless the consent of the Bishop and Standing Committee shall have been obtained in accordance with the provisions of the preceding sections of this Canon."

CANON XV.

Of the Episcopal Fund.

SEC. 1. The fund for the support of the Episcopate in this Diocese, now provided, together with that which may be hereafter contributed or acquired, and any accumulation accruing from the investment thereof, shall be intrusted to the corporation entitled "The Trustees of the Episcopal Fund for the Diocese of New York," incorporated by an Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, passed May 14, 1845. The Trustees composing said corporation shall be five in number, who shall be appointed by and shall hold their offices during the pleasure of the Convention, and all vacancies occurring in their number shall be filled by the Convention.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of every Rector or Minister having charge of a congregation in this Diocese to cause an annual collection or contribution to be made by said congregation in aid of the fund for the support of the Episcopate; and in the case of a vacant parish, this duty shall devolve on the Wardens and Vestrymen. The amount of each annual collection or contribution shall be paid to the Treasurer of the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund, and shall be reported by the Trustees to the Convention at the next stated meeting thereof, after such collection or contribution shall have been made, and shall be entered on its Journals.

SEC. 3. So long as the income of the fund is inadequate to the support of the Episcopate, and an annual assessment shall be made, under the authority of the Convention, for supplying the deficiency herein, the payment of such assessment by a Parish shall be considered as in lieu of the collection enjoined by Section 2 of this Canon.

SEC. 4. All moneys belonging to the said fund shall be loaned by the said Trustees upon security of real estate, or invested in stocks of the United States, or of any of the States, or of the City of New York, at their discretion, and also in such other securities as may be recommended unanimously by the Trustees and approved by a vote of the Convention. SEC. 2. The business of distributing all funds that may be raised under this Canon, for the education of young men for Holy Orders, is hereby committed to the incorporated society styled "The Protestant Episcopal Society for Promoting Religion and Learning in the State of New York," which shall make a full annual report to the Convention of the application of all moneys paid into its treasury under the provisions of this Canon, or by the Treasurer of the Convention from any source.

SEC. 3. So far as relates to the offerings or contributions of Parishes within the City of New York, it is hereby declared that the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society and the New York Protestant Episcopal Church Missionary Society for Seamen in the City and Port of New York are to be reckoned among the Church charities for which provision is to be made, so

It shall be the duty of each Archdeaconry [1] to search out the religious needs of its own district, and to conduct and provide for such Missionary Work as may be undertaken by it, within its own limits, and to apportion among the several Parishes the amount necessary to be raised for the same; [2] to nominate to the Bishop, for his appointment, all Missionaries and other agents of the Archdeaconry, and to fix their salaries; [3] to have (III.) The Executive Officer or Archdeacon of each Archdeaconry shall be nominated by the Bishop, and confirmed by the Archdeaconry at a regular meeting, and shall continue in office until his successor be appointed. CANON XIX.

SEC. 2. Vacancies occurring in the number of the above-named five lay Trustees, by death, resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the Convention, may be supplied by the remaining Trustees.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the said Trustees to assume the management and care of the following funds :

1st. The fund now provided for the relief of Aged and Infirm Clergymen of the Diocese, together with that which may hereafter be contributed or acquired, and any accumulation accruing from the investment thereof.

2d. A fund to be hereafter contributed or acquired for the relief of Widows and Children of Deceased Clergymen of the Diocese, together with any accumulation accruing from the investment thereof.

SEC. 4. It shall be the further duty of the said Trustees to receive applications for relief or assistance from any persons entitled to receive aid from either of the funds above mentioned, and to apply such relief or assistance as follows :

1st. As to the fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen, to apply such relief or assistance on the principles of, and subject to, the limitations indicated in the report of the Special Committee made to the Annual Convention of 1841,* and subject also to such other rules and regulations as have since been adopted by this Convention or as said Trustees, with the approbation of said Convention, shall from time to time adopt.

2d. As to the fund for the Widows and Children of Clergymen to apply such relief or assistance on the principles of, and subject to the limitations laid down by the regulations adopted by the Annual Convention of 1886 in relation to said fund, and subject also to such further rules and regulations as said Trustees, with the approbation of this Convention, shall from time to time adopt.

SEC. 5. A collection shall be made annually in every congregation in this Diocese, on the annual Thanksgiving Day, or on Christmas Day, or on the Sunday next before or next following either of those days.

This collection and all other contributions to these objects shall be transmitted to the Treasurer of the said Board of Trustees.

and three lay Trustees, to be elected by the Convention at each stated meeting. If the whole or any part of the annual revenue of said fund be not needed, in any year, it might be considered thenceforth as part of the capital.

" . . . (b) Another . . . source of income will be found, it is presumed in annual contributions to be made by all the congregations in the Diocese, on some day previously notified.

" With regard to the limitations under which relief should be applied, your Committee are aware that much must be left to the discretion of the Trustees . . . In regard to these limitations, the Committee would suggest :

" 1. That relief should be confined to those whose circumstances are actually straitened, and who have been actively engaged in parochial or kindred labors during a large part of their ministerial lives.

" 2. It should not be so administered as to supersede on the part of parishes the duty of making provision for the support of their pastor when too aged or infirm to continue his ministry; and should therefore be confined, in the case of parish clergymen, to cases in which the parish has signified, through the Bishop, its inability or indisposition to make such provision to an adequate extent.

" 3. It should not be extended to clergymen who have near relatives in affluent circumstances, unless there be satisfactory evidence that such relatives are unwilling to discharge the duty of providing for those of their own household.

" 4. In deciding between conflicting claims, preference should be given ceteris paribus to those who have been longest employed within the Diocese in ministerial duty."

funds, be divided equally between them. The annual collection, herein provided for, shall, in the absence of special designation of any portion thereof by the donors, be applied by said Trustees to the fund for the Widows and Children of Clergymen. The Treasurer shall keep a separate account of each of the said funds, and all moneys not wanted for current use shall be invested and held in trust by the said Trustees.

SEC. 6. The said Trustees shall elect their own Chairman, Treasurer, and Secretary.

They shall meet at least twice in each year, and shall keep minutes of their proceedings, which shall be submitted to the Convention of the Diocese whenever called for.

CANON XX.

Of the Trial of a Clergyman not being a Bishop.

Whenever any Minister of this Diocese, not being a Bishop thereof, shall become "liable to presentment and trial," under the provisions of any Canon of the General or Diocesan Convention, the mode of proceeding in this Diocese shall be as follows, viz. :

SEC. 1. The trial shall be on a presentment in writing, addressed to the Bishop of the Diocese, specifying the offences of which the accused is alleged to be guilty, with reasonable certainty as to time, place, and circumstances. Such presentment may be made by the major part in number of the members of the Vestry of any Church of which the accused is a Minister, or by any three Presbyters of this Diocese entitled to seats in the Convention, or as hereinafter mentioned. Whenever, from public rumor or otherwise, the Bishop shall have reason to believe that any Clergyman is under the imputation of having been guilty of any offence or misconduct for which he is liable to be tried, and that the interest of the Church requires an investigation, it shall be his duty to appoint five persons, of whom three at least shall be Presbyters, to examine the case, a majority of whom may make such examination ; and if there is in their opinion sufficient ground for presentment, shall present the Clergyman accordingly.

SEC. 2. A presentment being made in any one of the modes above prescribed, the Bishop, if the facts charged shall not appear to him to be such as constitute an offence, may dismiss it ; or if it allege facts, some of which do and some of which do not constitute an offence, he may allow it in part and dismiss the residue, or he may permit it to be amended. When it shall be allowed in whole or in part, the Bishop shall cause a copy of it to be served on the accused, and shall also nominate twelve Presbyters of this Diocese, entitled to seats in the Convention and not being parties to the presentment, and cause a list of their names to be served on the accused, who shall, within thirty days after such service, select five of them and notify their names in writing to the Bishop; and if he shall not give such notification to the Bishop within the said thirty days, the Bishop shall select five, and the Presbyters so selected shall form a Board for the trial of the accused, and shall meet at such time and place as the Bishop shall direct, and shall have power to adjourn from time to time, and from place to place (but always within this Diocese), as they shall think necessary.

SEC. 3. A written notice of the time and place of their first meeting shall be served at least thirty days before such meeting on the accused, and also on one of the persons making the presentment.

SEC. 4. If, at the time appointed for the first meeting of the Board of Presbyters, the whole number of five shall not attend, then those who do attend may adjourn from time to time; and if, after one adjournment or more, it shall appear to them improbable that the whole number will attend within a reasonable time, then those who do attend, not being less than three, shall constitute the Board, and proceed to the trial, and a majority of them shall decide all questions.

SEC. 5. If a Clergyman presented shall confess the truth of the facts alleged in the presentment, it shall be the duty of the Bishop to proceed to pass sentence; and if he shall not confess them before the appointment of a Board for his trial, as before mentioned, he shall be considered as denying them.

SEC. 6. If a Clergyman presented, after having had due notice, shall not appear before the Board of Presbyters appointed for his trial, the Board may nevertheless proceed as if he were present, unless for good cause they shall see fit to adjourn to another day.

SEC. 7. When the Board proceed to the trial, they shall hear such evidence as shall be produced, which evidence shall be reduced to writing, and signed by the witnesses respectively; and some officer, authorized by law to administer oaths, may, at the desire of either party, be requested to administer an oath or affirmation to the witnesses that they will testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, concerning the facts charged in the presentment. If, on or during the trial, the accused shall confess the truth of the charges, as stated in the presentment, the Board may dispense with hearing further evidence, and may proceed at once to state their opinion to the Bishop as to the sentence that ought to be pronounced.

SEC. 8. Upon the application of either party to the Bishop, and it being made satisfactorily to appear to him that any material witnesses cannot be procured upon the trial, the Bishop may appoint a Commissary to take the testimony of any such witness. Such Commissary may be either a Clergyman or a Layman, and the party so applying shall give to the other at least six days' notice of the time and place of taking the testimony. And if the person on whom the notice shall be served shall reside more than forty miles from the place of examination, an additional day's notice shall be given for every additional twenty miles of the said distance. And both parties may attend and examine the witness, and the questions and answers shall be reduced to writing and signed by the witness, and shall be certified by the Commissary, and enclosed under his seal, and transmitted to the Board, and shall be received by them as evidence. A witness examined before such Commissary may be sworn or affirmed in manner aforesaid.

SEC. 9. The Board having deliberately considered the evidence, shall declare, in a writing signed by them, or a majority of them, their decision on the charges contained in the presentment, distinctly stating whether the accused is guilty or not guilty of such charges, respectively, and also stating the sentence which in their opinion should be pronounced; and a copy of such decision shall be, without delay, communicated to the accused, and the original decision, together with the evidence, shall be delivered to the Bishop, who shall pronounce such canonical sentence as shall appear to him to be proper, provided the same shall not exceed in severity the sentence recommended by the Board; and such sentence shall be final. Before pronouncing any sentence the Bishop shall summon the accused, and any three or more of the Clergy, to meet him at such time as may in his opinion be most convenient, in some church to be designated by him, which shall for that purpose be open at the time to persons who may choose to attend, and the sentence shall there be publicly pronounced by the Bishop. But the Bishop if he shall be satisfied that justice requires it, may grant a trial to the accused, in which case a new Board of Presbytery shall be appointed, the proceedings before whom shall be conducted before mentioned.

SEC. 10. All notices and papers contemplated in this Canon be served by a summoner or summoners, to be appointed for that purpose by the Bishop, and whose certificate of such service shall be evidence thereof. In case of service by any other person, the same shall be proved by the affidavit of such person. A written notice or paper delivered to a party, or left at his last place of residence shall be deemed a sufficient service of such notice or paper.

SEC. 11. The defendant may have the privilege of appealing; in case of the exercise of which privilege, and notwithstanding, those who present shall have also the like privilege.

CANON XXI.

Concerning the Dissolution of the Pastoral Relation by Reason of Disability of a Minister.

Whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Bishop that by reason of incurable mental or physical disability a clergyman has become incapable of discharging the duties of his cure, it shall be competent for the Bishop, after application of the Vestry or Trustees of the Church, and upon reasonable notice to all the parties concerned, to dissolve the pastoral relation between such clergyman and his church.

CANON XXII.

Concerning Alterations in the Canons and Additions thereto.

No proposed alteration of, or addition to, the Canons shall be considered by the Convention, unless at least one day previous notice be given thereof in open Convention; nor, without unanimous consent, until such alteration or addition shall have been referred to and reported upon by a Committee of at least two clergymen and two Laymen. Nor shall such alteration or addition adopted, during the same Convention, if two-thirds of the votes of both orders, taken separately, shall not concur therein ; but in such case the same (unless negatived by a majority of the members present) shall lie over for consideration until the next annual meeting of the Convention.

CANON XXIII.

Repealing Former Canons.

All former Canons of this Convention are hereby repealed.

The Rev. R. B. Kimber presented and read the following report:

SEVENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NEW YORK
PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CITY MISSION SOCIETY.

The Seventy-fourth Annual Report of the City Mission Society must first record the loss to us by their summons to the fuller life of James Pott and Robert S. Holt.

Among the many Church organizations with which Mr. Pott was connected, there was none with which he was more closely identified than with this Society. A member of the Board of Managers, and of its Executive Committee, for thirty years, he was seldom absent from any of the meetings. His long and wide experience in Church affairs was always found most helpful to the Society in its special work.

Mr. Holt had been an active and useful member of the Board of Managers for forty years, serving upon its Executive Committee from the beginning, and acting as Treasurer of the Society from 1868 to 1875. His constant attendance at meetings made a great demand upon his time, but it was never interrupted until failing health brought its limitations. It was characteristic of him that on the day of his death our Treasurer received a check from him, through which he made his regular contribution to the Fresh Air Fund.

The Treasurer's books show the sources of the Society's income to have been as follows, for the year ending September 19, 1905:

Income applicable to General Expenses.....	$54,994 33
Fresh Air Fund.....	5,562 26
Festival Fund	2,730 02
Special Objects	2,781 17
Mission News, Subscriptions, etc.....	278 00
	$66,345 78

The Missionary Staff numbers at the present time twenty clergymen, four deaconesses, one lay reader and about 125 others, including our Kindergarteners, trained women workers and those serving in minor capacities, but for whom salaries must be provided.

Each year sees a marked improvement in the personnel of our Clergy Staff, because the more competent men graduating from our Seminaries offer themselves for such work as ours, and we are able to retain their services beyond their probation period, by reason of a more generous allowance for clerical stipends than has been made before.

The churchmen of the city do not adequately realize the very comprehensive work that is being done, both in its scope and in its detail, by the Staff of this Society. Perhaps the statement that the number of Baptisms last year was only exceeded by twenty-two of the ninety-one Dioceses of the entire Church will go far toward illuminating the following figures of the work that was done from May 1, 1904, to May 1, 1905:

Number of Places where Services were Held.....	34
Number of Services.....	3,779
Celebrations of the Holy Communion (in Public, 759; in Private, 1,386).....	2,145
Communicants Registered.....	1,549
Baptisms (inf. 531, ad. 310).....	841

The two principal events of the year have been the founding of the Colored work on the upper west side, and the dedication and opening of the new Fresh Air buildings at Milford Haven.

As the outcome of that portion of the Bishop Coadjutor's address, read at the last Convention, relating to the extension of the work among the Colored people in the Borough of Manhattan, the following resolution was adopted by this body:

Resolved, That the Archdeaconry of New York be requested to set apart their Mission field in the Borough of Manhattan to the City Mission Society, for such Mission work among Colored people as that Society may desire to inaugurate and maintain.

Acting under this resolution, the Rev. John W. Johnson, of the Bishop Payne Divinity School, Petersburg, Virginia, a man of ripe experience in work among his own people, and well commended to us by his Bishop, was engaged to undertake this work. He entered upon this most remarkable opportunity for service on the 1st day of January, and on his advice, after a very careful investigation, the work was permanently located on West 63d Street, just on the outskirts of a very large and squalid tenement population. The difficulty of finding suitable quarters was very great, owing to the unwillingness of owners to rent a building for the purpose. It was solved by the purchase of a dwelling house, 177 West 63d Street, thus providing a residence for the Missionary, and accommodations for his work. The building was first occupied on the 1st of May, and in the five months that have elapsed since that time an evening congregation has been built up that cannot be accommodated in the room at our command. There are at the present time in touch with the work, and being ministered to by the clergyman in charge, more than 500 families, among whom he has had fifty-seven baptisms. A Kindergarten, boys' and girls' clubs, a sewing-school, a men's organization and a Chapter of the Brotherhood are all doing good service. Directly across the street from the present building, a plot 75 by 100 feet has been purchased for the prospective Church and Parish House. So far, the sum of $60,400 has been invested in the sites and building for this work, and $5,000 has been given by an anonymous donor toward the erection of the Church. If in less than a year, by steady, persistent and quiet work, such a result has been accomplished, what does not the future hold? The need of the present moment is the immediate erection of the new buildings, that adequate accommodations may be given to those who are looking to us not only for their spiritual sustenance, but for their recreation and training as well. But the end is not yet. I am told, upon competent authority, that New York has a larger Colored population than any Southern city, with the exception of New Orleans, and to meet such a condition the Church in the Borough of Manhattan provides only St. Philip's Church and the Mission of which I have spoken. Already the call has come to us from the region above 125th Street to open a similar work there, in order that the thousands that are crowding in that neighborhood may be shepherded and brought within the fold.

On the 10th of May the Bishop of New York, acting for the Bishop of Connecticut, consecrated the Chapel of Grace, and formally opened the Sarah Schermerhorn Home, at Milford, Conn., for the Fresh Air children of the Society. The Fresh Air work seems to appeal more than any other to the sympathy and generous instincts of the people everywhere. With a larger fund for its maintenance than we ever received before, a larger work was carried on, and the blessings of health and strength resulting from the sun and the pure air were bestowed upon 893 of our beneficiaries. At Camp Bleecker for boys, and at the Sarah Schermerhorn Home for girls, nearly 8,000 individual days' board was given to those who came there as our guests. Perhaps the greatest influence that was exerted there were the daily services in the Chapel of Grace, where not only the children, but many of the cottagers in the vicinity gathered morning and evening to say the Offices of the Church.

The aggregate attendance at the Chapel for the short season was more than 14,000.

The Rethmore Home, at Tenafly, New Jersey, has passed successfully through its twelfth season, entertaining 208 children through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hull Browning, who have borne, as in past years, the entire expense of maintenance.

While the foregoing work is of the utmost importance, and what has been accomplished in the past year at the Chapel of the Messiah and at Epiphany Chapel, Stanton Street, cannot be overestimated, it is a work that can be done, and is done, on similar lines by parishes and other Church organizations. The peculiar field of the City Mission Society, and that which is really the reason of its being, is the good it is able to accomplish among the homeless, the criminal and the suffering in the institutions of this great city. It is a unique opportunity of the field that work among Protestants of every name is shared by no other religious body. When one considers that the average daily census of the various institutions in New York, in prisons, hospitals, homes and almshouses, is nearly 40,000 souls, and that almost every one has some story of privation, suffering or of sin, which is gladly told to the earnest Chaplain, with the not unfulfilled expectation of receiving courage, comfort and hope, the unlimited possibilities for ministering can be appreciated, but cannot be tabulated into any statistical form. Fortunately, the Record Book of God is accurately kept, and those who have served His people so faithfully will, in His own appointed time, receive their due reward.

Time was when any clergyman, no matter what his qualifications, his success or lack of success in other fields, was considered suitable for such duty, and, growing out of such a policy, a certain opprobrium has been connected with the title and office of an Institution Chaplain; but it is a privilege of which I gladly avail myself to say to you, in the presence of the men who have done it, that the Chaplains now upon the City Mission Staff have raised their positions in the service of these poor unfortunate people to the noblest opportunity for ministry that the Church has to offer. If I could but betray the confidence of the writers, and read to you the letters upon letters that come to my desk, expressing a steadfast purpose of amendment, a desire for greater and higher things and an appreciation of the spiritual benefits that they have received, you would join me unhesitatingly in this tribute.

The charter of this Society does not contemplate its limitations by diocesan bounds. It is supposed to be as large and as broad as the city itself. The action of the Board of Health in transferring all the smallpox patients of the city, formerly cared for at North Brothers Island, to the Kingston Avenue Hospital, Brooklyn, presented the first opportunity for extra diocesan work. With the hearty consent of the Bishop of Long Island, our Missionary to those suffering from contagious diseases regularly ministers to the Board of Health hospitals in the Borough of Brooklyn, and I trust it will not be long before the other city institutions in that borough, now without adequate spiritual privileges, are served by the clergy of our Staff.

Last year the Convention approved by resolution the idea of an Advent offering from the children of the Sunday-schools for the work among children who had not the blessings they had received. The first year of such a movement is always experimental, and upon its outcome the future must depend, but in answer to my appeal thirty-four Sunday-schools contributed, on Christmas Day, $1,138.85 for the purpose of City Mission work among the children of the city. Is this not a successful beginning? Is it not a forecast of the time when every Sunday-school, and every child, will be earnest to do its share to extend the knowledge of the Christ among these others of His little ones?

My brethren of the clergy and of the laity, this is your work, your responsibility, as we are, at the best, your agents. Upon me, if you will allow me to be personal, rests almost entirely the burden of providing annually the large amount needed for our maintenance and for the right guiding of the work that is being done. The growth of the work and its prosperity is in your hands. Will you increase your contributions, parochial and individual? Will some of you come forward with large pledges which will enable us to undertake the new work that is always waiting to be done, that this Society, as the complement of the parochial life of the diocese, may properly discharge its share of the work that the Church is set to do for the glory of God and the salvation of mankind?

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT B. KIMBER,

NEW YORK, September 27, 1905.

The Rev. R. L. Paddock offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That this Convention, in accepting the Annual Report of the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society, which has just been presented, desires again to signify in this way its hearty appreciation of the good and valuable work that is being carried on by its representatives, and its cordial recommendation to the clergy and laity of the city and diocese to give to that work their unremitting and generous support, and wishes hereby to recognize what has been done in successfully carrying into effect the recommendation of the Convention of 1904, that an Advent offering for City Missions be made by every Sunday-school in the city.

The Rev. A. R. Mansfield presented and read the following report:

Report

OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR SEAMEN IN THE CITY AND PORT OF NEW YORK.

The summary at the end of the report will indicate much of this year's work. The residue cannot be shown by figures.

The Work.—The vast good accomplished by our religious services, reading rooms, clubs, legal aid, fraternal gatherings and social centres in behalf of the 250,000 seamen frequenting this port, is not a matter for statistics, and can be known only in part to individuals of that inarticulate and homeless class who come under the sympathetic, protecting and saving auspices of our chaplains, officers and agents. The aggregate results will not be ignored, however, where all things are known.

The Society now maintains:

1. Church, reading and entertainment rooms, West Street, corner Houston Street, North River.
2. The floating Church near the foot of Pike Street, East River.
3. Reading and Club rooms, 34 Pike Street.
4. Reading room, 21 Coenties Slip, and Church services on Sundays.
5. Services in summer on Pier 6, East River.
6. Depository for sailors' money, reading room and economical lunch counter at 1 State Street.
7. Reading and game rooms, Bush Terminal Docks, 42d Street, Brooklyn, for officers and seamen.
8. Steam launch for work in the harbor.
9. Special police officer for protection of sailors.
10. Sailors' Home, 52 Market Street.
11. Cemetery for burial of seamen.

Legal Aid.—The Legal Aid Society with which we are in active coöperation has acted again this year upon about 3,000 complaints of seamen. One of our managers is chairman of its seamen's branch. Our own special police officer, widely known as the seamen's friend, continues his protecting care of seamen. This service is unique and effective, on ship and shore, among the saloons and in the courts. He is active and fearless and stands well with the City Magistrates.

Money Deposited and Transmitted.—The $80,683 deposited and saved this year for seamen means self-support and self-respect; the $35,000 sent to their homes means families kept together; children educated, homes preserved.

Mission Boat and Harbor Service.—Our boat, daily seen in the harbor, is largely maintained by the Seamen's Benefit Society, through whose coöperation it is hoped that this increasingly useful branch of our work may be continued and enlarged.

Shipment of Seamen.—We have shipped at our stations 1,100 seamen, free from "blood-money" exactions of crimps, cormorants and the shanghai practices of "confidence" men. While these seamen wait for employment in our reading rooms they enjoy our economical and sanitary lunch counter, our newspapers, magazines, libraries and facilities for receiving and writing their home letters.

Home for Seamen.—We cannot achieve our ideal standards for seamen until we can provide an adequate Sailors' Home, on the water front, in which some of our scattered branches can be consolidated. Among other great benefits anticipated from such a home will be its capacity to furnish entire crews to supply the demand for seamen, and thus put the crimp out of business. Such homes or "institutes" are maintained by citizens of Montreal, Liverpool, London and other foreign ports. One established in New York on the east side would supply local needs and serve as an American model for other cities. As the accruing rental from its surplus space would contribute largely to its maintenance, the plan is feasible, economical and full of promise.

New Station.—We cannot refuse the work that lies at our door. Our Society must grow or decay. Progress is the law of its life. We are glad, therefore, to announce that in August, 1904, there was opened at No. 22 First Avenue, near the Bush Company docks, Brooklyn, a much needed station of the Society for officers and sailors. This is the first time, so far as known, that any attempt has been made in the port of New York to provide separate rooms for officers in addition to those for sailors. The authorities of the Bush Company have very generously named a low rent for the use of the building. It is known as the "Seamen's Institute." We hope that its friends in Brooklyn will provide the means for its maintenance.

In Memoriam.—We have lost during the past year from the list of our Vice-Presidents that loyal and devoted friend of seamen, Mr. Henry Ragan, after fifty-nine years of continuous service as a member of this Board. Resolutions of respect and sympathy have been entered upon our records and communicated to his family.

Legacies.—Friends who have recently died have bequeathed to us the following legacies: Miss Evelina Dortch, $1,000; Miss Martha Jane Hall, $3,000; Mrs. Elizabeth W. Aldrich, $2,500, and Mr. James Wood about $5,000, aggregating $11,500, only $1,000 thereof, however, has yet reached our treasury.

Encouragement from Church Action.—The action of the General Convention of our Church in appointing a joint commission composed of three Bishops, three Presbyters and three Laymen to concert measures for unifying and developing work in behalf of seamen in all American ports is cause for thankfulness.

Encouragement from Legislation by Congress.—Congress has responded to our petition for sterner measures for repression against violators of existing laws for the protection of seamen.

The Congressional Merchant Marine Commission, while sitting in New York, gave our society a generous hearing in behalf of savings banks for seamen and of a free shipping bureau, from which good results may be confidently anticipated. Our Committee on Legislation has submitted for consideration of the Congress an appropriate form of a bill covering these important features.

Finances.—The cost for carrying on the work for the year has been $27,57.80; the receipts have been $19,742.56, showing a deficit of $8,115.24. It has again been necessary to draw upon our invested funds to meet the deficiency of income. It is with great regret, and even dismay, that we find ourselves year after year making inroads upon the fund which is our main source of support. These drafts made during the past seven years mean a loss of about $2,000 in annual income.

It should be a matter of congratulation, that under the auspices of our Church is conducted this important work in the port of New York for the protection and welfare of sailors. Shall any of the stations be abandoned in order to bring the expenses within the income?

We appeal to the Churches, and we appeal to the citizens of New York, and to the business interests, to lend this society a generous hand in its efforts in behalf of the many thousands of seamen who without this special agency will be quite adrift in this great port of New York.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Stires the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That this Convention, in accepting the Annual Report of the Board of Managers of the Protestant Episcopal Church Missionary Society for Seamen, which has just been presented, desires to express its deep sense of the importance of the Society's work, and its cordial recommendation to the clergy and laity of the city and Diocese to give to that work their unremitting and generous support.

The Rev. W. M. Geer offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That so much of the report of the Church Missionary Society for Seamen as describes a House for Seamen such as exists in Liverpool, Montreal, etc., be referred to a committee of three persons, to confer with other societies and citizens as to the erection of a similar house in New York.

The Chair appointed as such committee, the Rev. Dr. Stires, the Rev. Dr. D. Parker Morgan and Mr. J. Augustus Johnson.

Mr. George Zabriskie moved the reference of the following proposed amendments of the Constitution to the Committee on Canons, which was adopted:

Amend Article I. of the Constitution so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE I.

There shall be a Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this Diocese in each year at such place as the Bishop shall appoint. It shall be held at the Cathedral on the last Wednesday in September, unless the Bishop, with the consent of the Standing Committee, shall appoint another place or time. In case of the inability of the Bishop to act, or in case of a vacancy in the Episcopate, the Standing Committee may appoint another place or time for holding the Convention.

Amend Article II. of the Constitution so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE II.

The Bishop shall have power to call Special Conventions when he may judge it conducive to the good of the Church; and shall do so when applied to for that purpose by the Standing Committee. In case of the inability of the Bishop to act, the Bishop Coadjutor, if there be one, and in case of a vacancy in the Episcopate the Standing Committee shall have power to call a Special Convention.

Amend Article IV. of the Constitution so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE IV.

Every Convention shall be opened with such services as shall be appointed by the Bishop, or in case of his inability to act by the Bishop Coadjutor, if there be one, or in case of a vacancy in the Episcopate by the Standing Committee.

Amend Article V. of the Constitution so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE V.

The Bishop, or in his absence the Bishop Coadjutor, if there be one, shall preside in the Convention; but in case of a vacancy in the Episcopate, or of the absence of both the Bishop and the Bishop Coadjutor, the members shall elect a President from among the clergy. Whenever the Bishop Coadjutor shall preside he shall exercise all the functions of the Bishop.

Amend Article VIII. of the Constitution so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII.

The mode of altering this Constitution shall be as follows: A proposition for an amendment shall be introduced in writing and considered in the Convention, and, if approved of, shall lie over to the next Convention, and, if again approved of in such next Convention by a majority of the two orders voting thereon separately, with the concurrence of the Bishop, or, in case of his absence, the concurrence of the Bishop Coadjutor, if there be one, the change shall take place, and the Constitution, so altered, shall be valid and obligatory.

The hour of three o'clock having arrived, the Order of the Day was taken up, the consideration of the petition presented in reference to a division of the Diocese.

The Bishop took the opportunity to present to the Convention the Rt. Rev. A. W. Knight, D.D., Missionary Bishop of Cuba.

The Rev. Dr. Page offered as a substitute for the resolution in the petition the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the Bishop to consider the advisability of petitioning the next General Convention to erect the diocese of New York into a province, to be subdivided in due course into several dioceses, and report to the next Diocesan Convention.

On motion the substitute was laid on the table.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Huntington the vote was taken first on the second of the two resolutions and afterwards on the first.

The vote being taken, both resolutions were lost.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. W. R. Thomas the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That this Convention desires to express its appreciation of the Bishop's Charge, and to recommend to the Clergy to read to their congregations, at such times as may commend themselves to them, such portion or portions as in their discretion they may determine.

On motion the Convention adjourned till Thursday at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Geo. Zabriskie moved that the report of the Committee on Canons be made the Special Order of the Day at 12 o'clock, which was adopted.

The Rev. Dr. Harris, Warden of St. Stephen's College, presented the following report:

Report

OF ST. STEPHEN'S COLLEGE.

The past year at St. Stephen's has been one of great encouragement. The number of students has increased, and the character and tone of the students has improved greatly. Not a single breach of college discipline, requiring action by the Warden or Faculty, has occurred during the entire year, and this loyalty and manliness have enabled the Warden to relax much of the regulations as were onerous to young men who had proved their readiness to respond cheerfully to every call made upon them.

At the Commencement in June twelve young men received the degree of B.A., the largest class graduated from St. Stephen's for many years. Most of these have already entered the Theological Schools and are pursuing their studies for the Sacred Ministry. Seventeen new students have been admitted, and this number might have been increased considerably had not it been our determination to aim at quality rather than quantity and to maintain the high standard of scholarship for which the college is noted.

It may be a matter of surprise to many to know that there are few, if any, colleges in this land where the old standard for the degree of B.A. is rigidly adhered to. The elective system with us gives the student an opportunity to choose his special line of study, but affords little, if any, encouragement to the young man who is looking for a soft snap. Greek and Latin are required studies in college for two years at least, if the student expects to receive the college degree of B.A.

Two of our professors have resigned; one, Professor Robb, to take a position elsewhere with larger salary, and the other, Professor Popham, to enter the General Theological Seminary. Their places have been filled by Mr. T. McN. Simpson, from the University of Virginia, who is Acting Professor of Mathematics, and the Rev. Herbert M. Clarke, Ph.D., of Harvard University, who is Acting Professor of Modern Languages.

The needs of St. Stephen's are great and many. It is our earnest hope that fifty laymen will be found willing to subscribe $100 a year, for five years, until our endowment can be increased. Then we need greatly a gymnasium to furnish healthy exercise and to aid us in raising the standard of physical fitness and in furthering by this means the growth in cleanness of living. Many of the weaknesses and vices of young men are best counteracted by giving the desire for excitement and sport a natural and healthful outlet.

At St. Stephen's three of our Bishops and about one-tenth of our Parochial Clergy have received their academic training. Surely, in view of what the college has done and what it is trying to do, we have a right to expect the hearty and generous coöperation of clergy and laity, and the financial aid needed to maintain and develop our work.

THOS. R. HARRIS,

Warden.

The Secretary presented the report of the Trustees of the Parochial Fund.

Report

OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE PAROCHIAL FUND OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN THE DIOCESE OF NEW YORK.

The Trustees of the Parochial Fund respectfully report that three meetings of the Board have been held during the conventional year. The property 575 West 145th Street, which was taken under the foreclosure of a mortgage of $30,000, and which represented an investment, including the costs of the foreclosure proceedings, of $31,286.19, has been sold for $32,500.

The Trustees have much pleasure in again placing on record the fact that every application for assistance from the Board during the past conventional year has been willingly granted. And in addition to these appropriations, the Board has been enabled by reason of increased income to make unsolicited appropriations from the funds at its disposal to six clergymen in receipt of inadequate incomes. The Trustees could use very much more income than is now at their disposal in augmenting the stipends of many of the faithful, but inadequately salaried, clergymen of the diocese.

The Parochial Fund is, therefore, again earnestly commended to those who may be seeking a worthy object for bequest and endowment.

The terms of office of Mr. Wm. Alexander Smith and Mr. A. R. Flower will expire on October 1, 1905. Two persons should be elected by the Convention to succeed them.

GEORGE R. SCHIEFFELIN, President.

HENRY C. POTTER.

WALTER THOMPSON, Secretary.

On motion, Mr. Wm. Alexander Smith and Mr. A. R. Flower were duly elected as Trustees for three years.

The Secretary presented the report of the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund.

The Trustees of the Episcopal Fund call the attention of the Convention to the deficiency existing in the Residence Fund, amounting to, say, $55,000. The residence for the Bishop Coadjutor has cost, including the repairs and architects' commissions, $109,984.47, and the Trustees recommend to the Convention the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund be authorized to take such and appropriate action to raise from the Parishes of the Diocese the amount of the deficiency now existing in the Residence Fund. The receipts from assessments during the year have been sufficient to meet the deficiency in the income of the Fund for the Bishop's salary; but, in addition having been made to the capital of the Fund during the year, an assessment will be necessary for the deficiency of income for the year ending September 22, 1906.

The Trustees recommend to the Convention the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund be, and they are hereby authorized to assess the Parishes of the Diocese at the rate of three per cent. upon the salaries paid to the clergy, for the purpose of raising moneys needed for the Episcopal Fund, in lieu of the collections provided for by Canon.

NEW YORK, September 25, 1905.

On motion of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, the resolutions appended to the report were adopted.

The Bishop Coadjutor read his annual address.
(See Appendix A.)

It being 12 o'clock, the Order of the Day was called for—the report of the Committee on Canons.

Rev. Dr. C. C. Tiffany presented the following report :

Report

OF COMMITTEE ON CANONS.

The Committee on Canons respectfully report upon that portion of the Bishop's Address in the Convention of 1904 relative to the discipline of clergymen for neglect to keep the registers required by law:

Since the reference was made to this Committee, the legislation adopted by the General Convention, taken in connection with the legislation of this diocese, provides, in the opinion of this Committee, an adequate method for the discipline of clergymen who may be convicted of the breach of Canon VII. of this diocese, which imposes upon the clergy the duty of keeping registers and of making reports.

The Committee on Canons respectfully report upon a resolution introduced in the Convention of 1904, to change the name of this Convention to Synod: That after consideration of the proposal, the change, in their judgment, is inexpedient.

At the last Convention a proposal to amend Article III. of the Constitution was approved; and your Committee recommend that the amended Article as printed in the Journal be adopted.

The Article as amended reads as follows:

ARTICLE III.

The Convention shall consist of the Bishop or Bishops of the Diocese and of Clerical and Lay Members.

The Clerical Members shall be those Clergymen canonically resident within the Diocese not less than six months immediately preceding the meeting of the Convention, who shall be either Archdeacons of the Diocese, or settled in some Church in union with the Convention, or employed as Missionaries under the direction of the Convention, or engaged within the Diocese as Professors or Instructors in any incorporated institution of learning, or as Superintendents or Chaplains in any incorporated charitable institution, or Clergymen who, having attained the age of sixty-five years, shall have retired from active work after holding for not less than ten years one or more of the positions hereinbefore named.

The Lay Members shall be male Delegates from the several Churches in union with the Convention, not exceeding three from each Church, chosen by the Vestry or Congregation.

In the consideration of proposals to amend Article III. of the Constitution at the last Convention no allusion appears to have been made to the clergy of the Cathedral, who at present are not entitled to membership in the Convention unless in virtue of some other qualification than their status as ministers of the Cathedral. In the proposed amended Article III., as approved by the Convention last year, this omission has not been supplied. Our Committee, therefore, recommend that the amended Article III., as it shall have been adopted by this Convention, be further amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE III.

The Convention shall consist of the Bishop and the Bishop Coadjutor (if there be one) of the Diocese and of Clerical and Lay Members.

The Clerical Members shall be those Clergymen canonically resident within the Diocese not less than six months immediately preceding the meeting of the Convention who shall be either Archdeacons of the Diocese, or settled in some Church in union with the Convention, or in the Cathedral, or employed as Missionaries under the direction of the Convention, or engaged within the Diocese as Professors or Instructors in any incorporated institution of learning, or as Superintendents or Chaplains in any incorporated charitable institution, or Clergymen who having attained the age of 65 years shall have retired from the active work of the ministry after holding for not less than ten years one or more of the positions hereinbefore named.

The Lay Members shall be male delegates from the several Churches in union with the Convention, not exceeding three from each Church, chosen by the Vestry or Congregation.

On motion the amendment to Article III. was approved and referred to the next Convention for final action.

As to the proposed amendment of Article VII. of the Constitution introduced in the Convention of 1904, they recommend that the following be substituted for the proposed amended article:

ARTICLE VII.

In all matters which shall come before the Convention, the Clergy and the Laity shall deliberate in one body. In voting each clerical member shall be entitled to one vote. When votes are taken by orders the lay delegates of each Church shall be entitled to one vote, except that when more than one Church or Chapel shall be united under one Vestry, and shall have been so united and recognized by the Convention prior to the last Wednesday in September in the year of our Lord 1859; the delegates of such Vestry only shall be entitled to one vote for each Church or Chapel.

In all cases other than elections, and in the case of the election of a Bishop Coadjutor, the concurrence of the Bishop, when present, and of the Clerical and Lay Members shall be necessary to the action of the Convention.

Except in cases where a vote by orders is required, the concurrence of a majority of the Clerical and Lay Members voting shall constitute a vote; but in any case a vote by orders may be required by five members. When a vote by orders is taken the concurrence of a majority of the members of each order voting shall constitute a vote. In the election of a Bishop or Bishop Coadjutor the two orders shall always vote separately.

Your Committee recommend that the foregoing substitute for the proposed amended Article VII. be referred to the Committee on Canons for further consideration and for report to the next Convention.

The proposed amendment to Article VII. was accordingly referred back to the Committee.

With respect to the proposed amendment of Article IV., they recommend that the following substitute be adopted:

ARTICLE IV.

Every Convention shall be opened with such services as shall be appointed by the Bishop, or in case of his absence or inability to act or of a vacancy in the Episcopate by the Standing Committee.

With respect to the proposed amendments of Articles II., V. and VIII. they recommend that the following substitute be adopted:

Adopt a new Article, to be numbered VIII. and to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII.

Wherever in the Constitution or Canons of this Diocese provision is made for action by the Bishop, such action shall, in case of the absence or disability of the Bishop, devolve upon the Bishop Coadjutor, if there be one, and shall devolve upon the Standing Committee, in cases where provision is made for their action in the place of the Bishop, only in the event of the absence or disability both of the Bishop and of the Bishop Coadjutor of a vacancy in the Episcopate.

Amend Article VIII. by changing its number to Article IX.

On motion the proposed amendments to Article IV. and Article VIII. were approved and referred to the next Convention for final action.

The Committee on Canons respectfully report upon the proposal to amend Canon 2, Section 3, by changing the reference therein contained to the Canons of the General Convention so as to conform to the late revision of those Canons:

That in their opinion the proposed amendment should be adopted, and that the first sentence of Canon 2, Section 3, should be amended so as to read as follows:

The Secretary of the Convention shall record in a book, to be provided by him and kept in accordance with the Canon of the General Convention, entitled, "Of the Filling of Vacant Cures," all certificates that shall be transmitted to him in accordance with said Canon.

On motion this amendment to Canon II. was adopted.

The Committee on Canons respectfully report upon the proposal to amend Canon VIII. by changing the note appended thereto, so as to conform to the late revision of the Canons of the General Convention.

That in their opinion the proposed amendment should be adopted, and that the note be changed so as to read as follows:

* Canon 47 § II.

This amendment to Canon VIII. was duly adopted.

The Committee on Canons respectfully report upon the proposal to amend Canon XII. by adding a new section bearing upon the sale or mortgage of real estate by religious corporations:

That the proposal involves a striking departure from the principles which hitherto have regulated the action of incorporated Parishes in this State, and deserves more deliberate consideration than this Committee have been able to give to it.

They, therefore, recommend that the proposed amendment be recommended to them for further consideration and for report to the next Convention.

On motion the proposed amendment to Canon XII. was recommended to the Committee.

The Committee on Canons respectfully report upon the proposal to substitute a new Canon for the present Canon XIV.:

That in their opinion the proposed new Canon, as printed in the Journal of the Convention of 1904, should be adopted.

On motion the proposed new Canon XIV., as printed in Journal for 1904, was adopted.

The Inspectors of Election presented their reports:

The Assistant Treasurer of the Missionary Committee of the Diocese of New York begs leave to present the following facts:

During the year ending September 28, 1905, the total receipts for this fund, including loans and the balance on hand reported at the last Convention, have amounted to $10,865.75. The total payments for the year have been $12,806.50, showing a deficiency in receipts of $1,941.75. To meet this deficiency the Assistant Treasurer has had to draw on the reserve fund in the United States Trust Co. to the extent of $2,000. The reserve fund is now only $1,000.

The Convention can readily see that it will be impossible to continue the appropriations to the several Archdeaconries unless our receipts are greatly increased.

The Archdeacon of Orange offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That this Convention, sitting as the Board of Missions, expresses its interest in the Missions of the Diocese, and the members thereof pledge themselves to use their best efforts to increase the contributions to this worthy cause.

The reports of the Archdeacons were presented and read:

Report

OF THE ARCHDEACON OF ORANGE.

Among matters worthy of note may be mentioned the equipment with steam-heating plants of St. John's Church, Monticello, and Grace Church, Port Jervis.

Such an equipment means added comfort and attraction in a severely cold climate in the winter season; and a largely increased Church attendance as its consequence.

Christ Church, Marlborough, has become independent of any missionary stipend; and the Rev. Henry Barker of Rosendale has relinquished $100 per annum of the missionary stipend hitherto paid him.

Ellenville presents an encouraging financial report notwithstanding much industrial and business depression, and your missionary, the Rev. Augustus W. Merrick, has been active in extending the Church's services to two large summer hotels in the Shawangunk mountains, without diminishing its full quota at the parish church. These efforts have been welcomed and thoroughly appreciated, and have in their measure helped towards the good financial statement mentioned.

Your missionary at Port Jervis, the Rev. Uriah Symonds, has continued throughout the year his care of Callicoon and Long Eddy, celebrating the Holy Communion, preaching, catechizing and performing the offices of the Church as called upon. Meantime the congregation at Callicoon has persevered in adding to its rectory fund, which is now reaching the thousand-dollar mark.

At Liberty, the Rev. P. C. Creveling has developed with success the pledge system, having increased thereby the local contributions to double the sum of last year. The many summer visitors have also been a help to him. The improvements at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Greenwood Lake, have been pushed forward during the warm weather, and the tower and choir room are now practically completed. The attendance and interest here have greatly encouraged the Archdeacon, who has actively supervised the work of this mission since the withdrawal of Mr. McGuinness. Mr. McGuinness found himself unable to continue his pastorate here in addition to his three other stations of Arden, Chester and Monroe.

Monroe has done very well in local development, and in many improvements in the church edifice and grounds. It has a devoted and growing congregation.

The chapel at Montgomery, Orange County, under the Rev. James G. Lewis, D.D., was consecrated by Bishop Coadjutor Greer on the 6th of June last. It was a most interesting service, at which the Archdeacon, the Rector and several of the neighboring clergy were present and assisted. The Bishop Coadjutor was the preacher.

The chapel is a well appointed and attractive building, and is worked in connection with St. Andrew's Church, Walden. Great credit is due Dr. Lewis for his zeal and devoted labor in its erection and completion free of debt. His successor has not yet been secured, but, it is hoped, may soon be elected. Dr. Lewis' resignation took effect on the 1st of August.

Since the resignation of the Rev. T. Lewis Banister, the missions of Highland and New Paltz have been worked in connection, under the supervision of the Archdeacon. A nomination of a resident missionary, the Rev. Robert Landsberger, was made to the Bishop at the Archdeaconry's last meeting, and it has been confirmed.

At the latter end of July, the Archdeaconry was called to mourn the sudden death of its treasurer, Mr. G. J. Appleton, of New Windsor. He was overcome by the heat, and death came quickly. The tribute paid to his worth by Bishop Potter finds its echo in the hearts of all members of the Archdeaconry organization: "He impressed me always as a man of sterling character and most conscientious fidelity." The Rev. Harold Morse of Marlborough has been elected treasurer.

All Saints' Church, Rosendale, through its Rector, the Rev. Henry Barker, has secured an ample lot with house thereon contiguous to the Church property, at a cost of $400 dollars.

The rental of the house now produces $72 per year, and after the purchase was made at the low price mentioned it was found that the building could not be duplicated for less than $1,500. It may ultimately be used for a rectory, and, probably, in the near future as a parish house, of which the need is greatly felt.

Services at Meads Mount, in the Catskill Mountains, have been maintained during a portion of July and all of August through the voluntary and acceptable services of lay reader George A. Griffiths, a student of the General Theological Seminary, New York.

W. R. THOMAS, Archdeacon.

Report

OF THE ARCHDEACON OF WESTCHESTER.

The Archdeaconry of Westchester would report efficient work and increasing interest, as shown in the reports from the missions and the attendance at our meetings. Growing out of the important movement of late in the general Church, and notably in our own diocese, in spiritual training of the young, and deeming this an essential part of our mission, we have arranged for each meeting an afternoon conference on this subject. Two such meetings have been held, and intelligent treatment of this vital and urgent part of the Church's work has resulted. The general subject thus far has been, "The Sunday-school's relation to the perpetuation of the Church," and the sub-subjects: 1. Discipline in Christian living—Example. 2. Discipline in Christian principles—Teaching. The speakers, Rev. Messrs. Freeman, Tenney, Worrall and Sutcliffe presented these subjects, and discussion followed. Already we have found help and inspiration in this often perplexing and discouraging phase of parish work. This Archdeaconry would voice the feeling of the whole diocese, in the passing away of the revered treasurer, Mr. James Pott. It were difficult to estimate the loss the rural Archdeaconries have sustained. Deeply concerned and interested in divers of our diocesan boards, in none of them was he more sympathetic and honored, in none of them more helpful, than in the missions of the diocese, and in the missionaries, their persons and their work. We would record our grateful appreciation of his noble life and service. Our Archdeaconry has lost, by resignation, the faithful treasurer many years, Mr. Augustus Wiggin. Mr. Wiggin had endeared himself to the clergy and laity by his courtesy and efficient care of our finances, serving the Executive Committee of all care about them. We are thankful for his good offices, but regret the great loss sustained by his resignation.

Report

OF THE ARCHDEACON OF RICHMOND.

At the beginning of this report, I desire to express my deep sense of obligation to the following lay readers, who have so faithfully coöperated in the work of the Archdeaconry: Mr. Arthur A. Michell, of St. Mary's parish; Mr. Bert Lienhardt, of St. Paul's parish, and Mr. Percy Fairman, of St. George's, New York, have not only been ready to respond to calls on them for service, but have given to their service all the devotion of personal interest and responsibility.

The work of the year has been marked by definite progress in every one of our missions, stations and parishes.

At St. Stephen's Church, Tottenville, very important improvements have been made, involving expenditures amounting to $834, $100 of which came from the Bishop Coadjutor and the treasury of the Archdeaconry. These improvements involve a new entrance porch, four new windows, the painting of the church outside and in, and the installing of electric lighting. Rev. Mr. Fair is to be congratulated on so successful a year.

The Rev. Dr. J. B. Blanchet, priest in charge of the Church of the Holy Comforter, Eltingville, and the Chapel of Our Father, Mariner's Harbor, have been assisted by the regular services of Mr. Bert. Lienhardt, of St. Mary's parish, of Eltingville, and Mr. A. A. Michell, at Mariner's Harbor.

At the Holy Comforter the parish has met its obligations promptly, electric lighting has been installed, and repairs involving $280 have been made. The religious work of the church has been maintained with evident success, as shown in the Sunday-school and guilds. The painstaking care of Mr. Bert Lienhardt has greatly aided towards this result.

At the chapel of Our Father, the work, which nine months ago was so sorely crippled by serious financial losses, has been brought into fresh and vigorous life. The mission has met all its obligations promptly, and has raised over $900 for its floating debt. Mr. Arthur A. Michel, lay reader, of St. Mary's church, and one of the trustees of the Archdeaconry, has given most important assistance to the work here. The congregation has improved, the Sunday-school shows distinct advancement and the church fabric has been extensively repaired.

At St. Simon's chapel, Concord, the Rev. Wm. G. Thompson, priest in charge, has given faithful and careful ministry. The chapel is most unfortunately located for its present and future work, and this fact is the one stubborn obstacle in the way of growth. In spite of this, however, the chapel people have given steadfast and loyal support, and if it were possible to secure a different location, there can be no question that the future would present a more hopeful prospect.

At New Dorp a very interesting work is under way. The chapel congregation has secured articles of incorporation, and taken other steps towards an independent parish life. Another year it will be admitted into union with the Convention. Meanwhile a vestry has been elected, and the approval of the Archdeaconry has been given to the plans formed for enlargement of the plant and work. The Rev. Chas. K. Gilbert, recently ordained to the diaconate, who was in charge during the past year as lay reader, has been asked to become rector, and has signified his willingness to do so whenever such a relation can be assumed. Plans looking to the purchase of a new location and the building of a parish house at a cost of $6,500 have been formed. These steps are absolutely necessary to enable the Church to meet the needs of that neighborhood. New Dorp is near the great pleasure resorts of the Island, and to the growing community about the Country Club and along the Ocean Terrace. It is a place whose inevitable development probably guarantees a strong and influential parish within the next ten years.

The Archdeacon feels that the general conditions of work in Richmond Borough have never been more satisfactory than at the present time, and that substantial progress has been made during the year now ending.

GEORGE D. JOHNSON,

Archdeacon.

Report

OF THE ARCHDEACON OF NEW YORK.

presenting our report at this time we have a renewed sense of which the past year has brought us. We ask leave to repeat some of the minute adopted by the Trustees as a tribute to the friend and worker whose presence we miss at this Convention.

Mr. James Pott was the treasurer of the Archdeaconry of New York from the beginning of its organization to the day of his death. It was not his integrity or business training which fitted him so perfectly for office. To these necessary qualifications he united others of rarer

He illustrated in a remarkable degree the truth that 'the deed is by the doing.' His daily gift of time and strength to the Church, his true friend's handclasp, was veined with love and thoughtfulness.

We lament the loss of a trusted and efficient officer, a wise counsellor and cherished friend. But we rejoice with the diocese and with the world at large, that a life of such exemplary goodness and generous usefulness has been lived so long among us."

Turning to review the past year's work of Church extension in the part of the city, we find much cause to thank God and take courage. Truly, it may well be called a year of distinct progress.

A new chapel of the Atonement on Clason Avenue near Westchester was opened for service on October 30th, and consecrated by the Bishop-Coadjutor of the diocese on the 5th of last February. As reported near this chapel and the ground on which it stands were gifts from an anonymous friend. The altar cross, chancel window and font are gifts. Naturally both the congregation and the Sunday-school have increased in numbers since the opening service. Some months ago, through the kindness of the Bishop-Coadjutor, Deaconess de Leon was assigned to minister at this chapel as well as at St. Martha's Mission, and she has rendered helpful service. The lay reader of the Lay Helpers' Association, who has charge of the Chapel of the Atonement, has been connected with it since its organization, and the progress of the work has been largely due to his earnestness and energy.

St. Martha's mission is still a tenant in a dwelling at Morris Park Avenue and Graham Street, but it has already outgrown its accommodation.

We are glad to report, however, that the Bishop-Coadjutor has purchased for its future use two lots in the same neighborhood on Louise Street, and that an anonymous friend has contributed $2,000 toward the erecting a new chapel. An additional sum of $300 for the building has been received from the congregation. The prospects of a new house of worship for this promising mission are, therefore, encouraging.

The mission of the Holy Spirit has been moved a short distance to 1171 Madison Street. At its former site it had the use of a room in a dwelling on a part of each Sunday, as another congregation worshipped there at other hours. The mission now has larger quarters in a more desirable neighborhood, at a cost of $30 a month, but they are still temporary, and it is hoped that it may be provided with a permanent home in the future.

Emmanuel mission is still at 581 East 155th Street in a rented room tastefully fitted up as a chapel. The lay reader in charge, a parishioner of Grace Church, has recently been admitted a Postulant with a view to taking Holy Orders. The work has continued to prosper under his wise and diligent oversight, and more spacious accommodations are now urgently needed for the further enlargement of the mission's usefulness.

At the rented chapel of the Holy Nativity, Bedford Park, the late Rev. Alfred Duane Pell, after generously giving his services for some years, resigned to accept the rectorship of the Church of the Resurrection. Rev. Guy A. Jamieson was then placed in charge, but soon afterwards released him from his missionary duties with us in order that he might accept an appointment on the staff of St. Luke's Hospital. Mr. Jamieson was succeeded by the Rev. Herbert Müller Hopkins, Ph.D., an assistant minister at Grace Church, of whose valued services the Rector has kindly allowed us make use. A movement is now on foot to provide a new chapel on the south side of the Moshulu Parkway where most of the people of Bedford Park live, and where a larger work can be done.

Rev. Richard H. Wevill, Deacon, resigned some months ago as missionary in charge of St. Alban's, High Bridge. His work there was a most creditable one. He was really the founder of the mission, and had the satisfaction of leading it from its temporary rented quarters to the church which it now occupies and which was built with funds raised largely by his endeavors. It is noteworthy that during all his connection with St. Alban's he preferred that his service should be, as it was, a labor of love unaccompanied by any salary. He was succeeded early last summer by Rev. Horace R. Fell, who came to us from a parish in Brooklyn where he had gained valuable experience for his new field of service.

St. Stephen's, Woodlawn, has a handsome church edifice close to the southern boundary of Yonkers, and does a good work. The newer and smaller one at Bronxwood Park occupies a rented room at present, and is under the care of an earnest lay reader who is sowing good seed in good soil.

St. Simeon's has continued in East 163d Street near Fleetwood Avenue, though we expected a year ago that by this time arrangements could be made for its transfer to a permanent home. But new and unforeseen conditions have arisen. We found that the lot at the corner of 163d Street and Morris Avenue, which was bought with funds provided by Trinity Parish, was being surrounded by a Jewish population, and meantime the mission was fortunate enough to receive the gift of a triangular plot of ground bounded by Sheridan Avenue, 164th and 165th Streets, a few blocks from the present chapel. A part of this ground was the gift of William Waldorf Astor and the other that of Mr. A. Newbold Morris. The new church is now to be built upon this new site. The building fund already amounts to about $10,000, and it is expected that the lot given Trinity parish at a cost of $7,500, less than three years ago, can be sold for nearly twice that amount. The mission now reports 220 communicants; 530 baptized persons; 14 Sunday School teachers; 180 Sunday School scholars; confirmed during the past year, 42; 5 adults and 30 infants baptized; offerings of $1,200.74 at church services, $160 in the Sunday School, and $750 received from other sources for current expenses. On the whole, the outlook seems so favorable that we expect this mission at an early date to follow the example of two other of our Bronx missions that have within the past few years become independent, self-supporting parishes.

The growing congregation and Sunday School of St. George's, Williamsbridge, have had the use of a crypt for some years on ground owned by the Archdeaconry. They have lately, however, been greatly encouraged by the generous action of three ladies of Grace parish who prefer to withhold their names from publication. Recognizing the large opportunity for the work of the Church in that promising neighborhood, these friends have provided funds for the new church and rectory now in process of construction, and fast nearing completion, at a cost of about $13,000. Gifts of a large Bible from Mrs. Frederick J. Easton and of an altar, altar hangings and credence table from the Rev. Henry Chamberlaine, and of gas fixtures and a leaded glass window from Miss H. L. Josephi, of the House of the Holy Comforter, have also been gratefully received.

The same ladies who are doing so much for St. George's have provided a permanent home well furnished for St. Ambrose Italian mission at 236 East 111th Street at a cost of $17,000. The temporary quarters were formerly in a rented storeroom in East 109th Street. At the time of the purchase of the property in 111th Street there was a frame dwelling standing on the lot. This dwelling has been transformed into a parish house with a brick façade of ecclesiastical design rising in front of and above it, and a brick chapel has been built adjoining it and communicating with it. At the opening service in the chapel on Sunday afternoon, July 2d, the Rev. Dr. Huntington, Rector of Grace Church, the Rev. Dr. Nichols, Rector of Holy Trinity Church, Harlem, and the Rev. John Henry Watson, took part with the Archdeacon. The mission is in the heart of what is known as "Little Italy," the largest Italian colony in the city. In addition to religious services it maintains a Sunday School, a free medical dispensary, a labor bureau, clubs for boys and girls, a clothing bureau, and a kindergarten has just been established there by the New York Kindergarten Association.

St. David's mission to our colored brethren celebrated its ninth anniversary on Sunday, February 5th. The sermon was preached by the Bishop of New York. Services are still held in the crypt, but efforts are being made to raise funds for the completion of the church edifice which is greatly needed. This mission reports 230 communicants, 26 Sunday School teachers, and 472 scholars; offerings at services, $825.27, and in the Sunday School, $165.37.

Altogether our Bronx missions report 119 persons confirmed, 23 adults and 114 infants baptized during the past year.

In connection with the summer work, 550 beneficiaries were sent to

Fresh Air homes in the country for periods of time ranging from one to two weeks, and excursions were provided for the children of the Sunday Schools and for others.

In conclusion we are glad to report that the Bishop-Coadjutor has bought for the Archdeaconry two lots in Tremont Terrace, near Pelham Bay Park, as the site of a mission to be established when that now new neighborhood shall be ready for it.

Rapid transit to the Bronx is now an accomplished fact. It means the more rapid improvement of an area nearly twice as large as that of Manhattan. Homes for wage earners from overcrowded centres of population below the Harlem River are springing up as if by magic. We want larger spiritual homes and more of them for the great multitudes of families already on the ground or arriving from down town church fellowship or from an environment in which they have been as sheep having no shepherd. On that ground so plainly marked for greatness, many are the gates within which lurk forces that menace the welfare of the individual and of the community. We ask you, brethren of the clergy and laity, to help us to open and keep open the gates of righteousness that the people may go into them and give thanks unto the Lord.

Respectfully submitted,

R. M. POTT, *Asst. Treas.Report

OF THE ARCHDEACON OF DUTCHESS.

In accordance with the provision of the 18th Canon of the Diocese of New York, the Archdeaconry of Dutchess presents its annual report. A list of the missionaries and stations has been sent to the secretary, and the account of the annual receipts and expenditures has been made to the treasurer of the diocese.

There are eight missions and churches, which receive aid from the Archdeaconry

Some of these are churches which were at one time independent parishes, but now, owing to deaths and changes of population, need assistance from the missionary fund to maintain services. Others are stations which will eventually, we believe, become self-supporting parishes.

The past year has been marked in all the missions by a deepening of spiritual interest. The aggregate of baptisms—nearly fifty—is larger than for many years past. The parishes have in almost every instance met the amount apportioned to them in the support of the missionary work.

Amenia Union, St. Thomas' Church, the Rev. Alexander Hamilton, missionary. This parish, situated five miles from the Harlem railroad, is one of the oldest in the county. In its early history it was a strong and influential church, but now, owing to deaths and removals, its numbers are greatly depleted. The maintenance of the church services here is largely owing to the foresight and generosity of former parishioners. There is an endowment fund of $7,900, in the control of the Parochial Fund of the diocese, which, after being unproductive for several years, now yields an income of $250 per annum, which is used for the missionary's stipend. The church and rectory are in need of repairs. There have been eight baptisms and five confirmed since the last report. The Rev. Mr. Hamilton has devoted most of his time to the mission at Dover Plains, and services have been held infrequently in this parish.

Dover Plains, St. James' Church. This mission is under the care of the Rev. Mr. Hamilton. Since accepting his appointment to work in the Harlem valley, Mr. Hamilton has made many visits along the line of the Harlem railroad, covering a distance in this Archdeaconry of some forty miles. He has called at each station—ten in number—and has found in Pawling, Dover Furnace, Wassaic, Amenia Village and Millerton many who desire the Church's ministrations. These he has been able to furnish by occasional week-day services. In September, 1904, the mission at Dover Plains had in its treasury $229 towards a building fund. A lot had been secured whose title was settled in the Archdeaconry. Since that date a neat chapel, seating 150 people and costing, with its furniture, $3,500, has been built. All but $400 of this amount has been raised. The corner-stone of the church was laid by Bishop Greer on December 28, 1904. It is hoped to have the building ready for consecration this autumn. In the church are memorials erected by the friends of the late Archdeacons of Dutchess, Dr. Ziegenfuss and Dr. Burgess, and of other faithful churchmen and women. The people are harmonious and working with a will. The attendance at church services is most encouraging. A rectory should be purchased for the missionary. No house can be rented, and the needs of the mission demand a resident priest. The future of this work seems most promising. What has already been accomplished warrants a continuance of aid, until St. James', Dover, itself becomes the centre of missionary labor. The baptisms number seven; confirmations, six.

Pine Plains. Under the faithful ministrations of the Rev. Thomas Burrows, missionary, the Church's work is being felt in the community. The balance of the mortgage ($350) upon the rectory has been in full.

and a new furnace put in the church at a cost of $100. There is no debt. There has been a marked increase in church attendance, both on Sundays and week-days, in Lent. There have been fourteen baptized and eight confirmed.

Pleasant Valley, St. Paul's Church. Here the Rev. R. R. Upjohn continues his untiring labors. The financial condition of the church has been improved, owing in large measure to the introduction of the envelope system. There have been twenty-two baptized, eight of whom were adults.

The Rev. Mr. Ray, at Hopewell, the Rev. Mr. Ivie, at Glenham, and the Rev. Mr. Rodgers, at Lithgow, report the condition of their respective fields comparatively unchanged. There have been losses by deaths and removals, but the work of the Church has gone on steadily and quietly, and, it is believed, effectively.

At the West Pawling Mission, at Stone House, Mr. A. C. Burdick, a lay reader, continues in charge. For ten years he has gathered together the children every day for instruction, he has held house meetings, and read the service of the Church, and a service every Lord's Day, holding also a Sunday-school. The rented house where this work has been conducted is no longer large enough for the needs of the mission. On the 19th of August the corner-stone of a building was laid, to be known as the Neighborhood House, to be used for the purpose of the mission. This work is supported by a committee of ladies interested in the West Pawling mountain people and by the Archdeaconry of Dutchess, which contributes $200 for its maintenance.

The Archdeaconry of Dutchess is devoutly thankful for the results which have crowned its labors, and for the zeal and self-sacrifice of its devoted missionaries.

Respectfully submitted,

A. T. ASHTON,

Archdeacon.

On motion Mr. Jno. McL. Nash was elected Treasurer of the Board of Missions.

The Rev. G. A. Carstensen, Ph.D., offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That so much of the address of the Bishop Coadjutor as refers to the work of the Church among immigrants be referred to a committee of five to be appointed by the Chair, with request to report to the next Convention.

The Chair appointed as such committee the Rev. Geo. F. Nelson, D.D., the Rev. Leighton Parks, D.D., the Rev. R. B. Kimber, the Rev. J. E. Freeman and the Rev. J. S. Hammarsköld.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Coffey the thanks of the Convention were extended to the Board of Managers in appreciation of their efforts.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Huntington the Board of Missions rose and the Convention resumed its session.

On motion of Mr. George Zabriskie, to remove certain objections that might possibly be raised as to the regularity of the action of the Convention at its morning session, the amendment of Article III. as adopted at that time was reaffirmed by a concurrent vote of both orders, and the approval of amendments to Articles II., IV., and VIII., as at that time approved and referred to the next Convention, also reaffirmed.

On motion of Mr. George Zabriskie the following resolutions were adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That all the acts and resolutions adopted by the Convention of 1904, sitting under the presidency of the Bishop Coadjutor, and all elections declared by the Bishop Coadjutor, be, and they hereby are, ratified, and that all acts done under the authority of such acts or resolutions or declarations are hereby ratified.

Resolved, That all the acts and resolutions passed by this Convention, sitting under the presidency of the Bishop Coadjutor, be, and they hereby are, adopted and made the acts and resolutions of this Convention.

On motion of Mr. Geo. Zabriskie the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of three persons be appointed to confer with the Bishop, whenever he shall so request, upon the adoption of a coat-of-arms for the Bishopric of New York.

The Chair appointed as such committee the Rev. Dr. Huntington, the Rev. Dr. Douglas and Mr. George Zabriskie.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Stires the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Chair be requested to appoint a committee consisting of the Bishop Coadjutor, the five Archdeacons, three parochial clergymen and five laymen, whose duties shall be:

1. To apportion among the congregations of the diocese the entire amount of $132,200 apportioned to this diocese by the Board of Missions of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society for the fiscal year 1905-06.

2. To communicate to each congregation through its minister the amount of its apportionment; and

3. To take such other steps to enlist the full coöperation of all the congregations of the diocese on behalf of the Domestic and Foreign Missions of the Church, as, in the judgment of the committee, may be desirable.

The Chair appointed the committee to consist of the Bishop adjutor, the five Archdeacons, the Rev. Dr. Stires, the Rev. Dr. Lewis Parks, the Rev. Dr. Vibbert, Mr. F. L. Stetson, Mr. E. Wheeler, Mr. Stephen Baker, Mr. Haley Fiske and Mr. J. H. Field.

The Rev. Dr. Huntington presented and read the following report:

Report

THE NEW YORK TRAINING SCHOOL FOR DEACONESSSES.

This being the first report of the New York Training School for Deaconesses, under the resolution of 1904 authorizing the said Training School to report annually to the Convention, it may be well to rehearse a few historical facts respecting the origin of the institution.

The Canon, entitled "Of Deaconesses," passed the General Convention the session of 1889. In October, 1890, with the approval of the Bishop of the Diocese, who accepted the office of Visitor, the school was opened in the premises of Grace Church in this city, with a view to providing candidates for the Diaconate of women competent to meet the tests which the Canon required. A two-years' course was arranged and an adequate number of teachers engaged. The school as thus constituted was under the immediate care of the Reverend Haslett McKim, D.D., whose very valuable services, gratuitously rendered during the entire period of the school's history, are gratefully acknowledged.

The results of the first year proved so satisfactory that it was determined by the promoters of the school to incorporate it under its present name, the right being given to the Bishop of the Diocese to nominate candidates for vacancies occurring in the Board of Trustees. In this way, it is hoped that the school would no longer wear the look of being a merely local undertaking, although the rector of the parish above mentioned continued, under the statutes, to be ex officio the Warden.

The object of the course is to send out graduates thoroughly equipped to be the helpers of the clergy in their missionary and charitable work. With this end in view, careful instruction is given in the Holy Scriptures in the Book of Common Prayer, with special reference to the higher lessons of Sunday-school teaching. Church History and Christian Evidences are taught. Instruction is also given in cooking for the sick poor and visiting them in their homes. Eleven weeks of each of the two years are given to the actual and daily care of the sick, under competent guidance. During the school year the students are expected to teach Sunday-school classes and also to make a study of certain important parochial and institutional works.

Candidates for admission must be not less than twenty-one years of age.

The pupils live at the school-home, known as St. Faith's, No. 228 East Twelfth Street. Twice in the fifteen years of the school's existence has it been found necessary to enlarge the borders of this home, which now consists of three adjoining dwelling houses. Each one of these houses was a gift.

The school owed much, in its early days, to the loving care taken of the pupils by the first Housemother, Mrs. William Ogden Hoffman. At present one of the graduates of the school combines the two functions of Dean and Housemother. There are ten regular instructors. Of these we are losing, with very great regret, the Reverend Canon Douglas, who for several years has given gratuitous instruction of a most valuable kind, but who has felt obliged to resign his position as instructor on account of ill health. Grateful mention should also be made of the help rendered by the Rev. Dr. Charles C. Tiffany, whose services as an instructor, gratuitously given, were highly appreciated. He has now become a member of the Board of Trustees.

The pupils for the current year are twenty-five in number, a large increase upon previous years. Graduates of the school are at work in many parts of the world—one in Alaska, one in Hawaii, three in China, two in Japan, one in the Philippine Islands. Unsolicited testimony to the efficiency of these helpers of the clergy reach the management of the school with gratifying frequency. One of our western Missionary Bishops, under head of the twenty-first of the present month, writes as follows: "Both your workers are doing your school credit by ability, earnestness and pluck. I hope I shall get more of the same kind." The following has just been received from a foreign Missionary Bishop, the Bishop of Tokyo: "Miss R. and Miss H. are among the best of our missionaries. They live alone in a city of twenty-five thousand Japanese, in a native house, three hours' ride from their nearest English-speaking neighbors. They are always cheerful, never complain of being lonely or unhappy, and are devoted to their work. Please send us six more like them."

Similar words of cheer might be abundantly quoted, but these suffice to show that the school is, in some measure at least, meeting the demand of the Church for the skilled work of trained women. To reinstate in the place which she held in the primitive Church, "Phœbe, the Deaconess," is the aim of the Deaconess Movement. Thus far the pecuniary aid needed to carry on the enterprise, which is considerable, has come from very few persons, and those, most of them, directly connected with the parish in which the school originated. Now that the institution has been permitted to report to the Convention, and to become, so far forth, diocesan in its scope, it is hoped that the circle of its benefactors may widen.

It is only necessary to add that the school-home is always open to visitors who desire to become better acquainted with the methods of the training which it supplies. The Dean of the school, Deaconess Knapp, herself one of its graduates, holds herself always in readiness to furnish needed information, and has already addressed the undergraduates of several of the women's colleges in the country, on the subject of the work, with gratifying results.

W. R. HUNTINGTON,

Warden.

The Rev. Dr. Canedy presented the following resolution, which was adopted:

Whereas, The Committee on the General Theological Seminary has contemplated the Conventions of this Diocese, from time to time, on the widening development of that institution, and especially upon the character and attainments of its teaching body.

Whereas, A number of the endowments of that institution are of somewhat ancient creation and apparently inadequate for the proper support of the scholars of that body charged with the training of candidates for the ministry; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Trustees of the General Theological Seminary from this Diocese be asked to inquire into the income-producing power of the endowment funds of specific professorships, and to report to the next Convention, with a view to some large effort for the proper increase of such endowments.

The Rev. Mr. Harrower presented and read the following report:

Report

OF THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL COMMISSION.

The Sunday-school interests of the Church are now coming so to the front that this report might well be a broad survey of the general progress made during the past year. Certainly in our own Church at no former time has the field been more carefully studied, nor the outlook more encouraging. The spasmodic and sporadic efforts of the past have given place to a strong, widespread and intelligent interest. The Sunday-school is no longer on the defensive as a poorly conceived and sentimental branch of Church work, but presents its claims quite as distinctly as does the public school.

It is still sorely hampered in many ways. It has a large constituency, but wholly inadequate support, both in men and means. There are questions yet to be settled and methods to be improved. But no one any longer thinks that the Sunday-school is beneath the notice of the Church in her supreme councils. It is well for us to mark this. It proves that in this whole question of religious instruction the Church at large is coming to regard the Sunday-school as a serious factor. If you will run over the list of books sent out, largely in the last few years, on the general subjects of moral and religious training, you will be surprised both at their great number and at the large proportion of them that bear directly on the Sunday-school.

In referring to the work of the Commission for the past year, it is hardly necessary to go into details, many of which are quite familiar.

1. The General Offices at the See House provided for us, free of all expense, by the generous interest of the Bishop, are the scene of constant and increasing labors.

The volume of work wrought at the office is scarcely realized. Nor is it comprehended by figures merely. An immense correspondence, daily consultations with clergy and superintendents, editorial labor on books and lesson manuals and the large business of the supply department can only be appreciated by personal inspection on an average day. Over 14,150 pieces of mail have gone forth in twelve months. There have been 775 visitors to the Exhibit Rooms, in addition to thousands of communications through incoming mail, some forty to sixty a day.

Our lesson manuals are now used in hundreds of schools, even as far away as New Zealand, Australasia and Alaska. The demand for this series is greater than the presses can adequately keep pace with. There have been sold nearly 40,000 copies of one manual alone. The imprint of the series now runs up to a total of almost 200,000 copies. Seven branches or agencies, in all parts of this country and Canada, are now handling these supplies for the benefit of the Sunday-schools. There are over forty-five separate books in this series, all produced within three or four years. In addition to lesson manuals, a most important work has been done by the Secretary in the compilation of a Handbook of Religious Pictures, in which some 14,000 distinct illustrations, ranging from one-half cent to twenty dollars, are arranged in Bible order, easily distinguished by price and publisher.

Many addresses have been delivered by members of the Commission during the year, conferences attended and training classes held, especially by the Secretary. Extended tours in Canada, Tennessee, Ohio and Chicago have been made by the Secretary, while the Chairman and other members of the Commission have addressed similar gatherings outside of New York and in. A total of 109 addresses have been delivered since our last report.

There is no diocese in the Church which has provided for it a more complete and helpful bureau of information and suggestion than is found in the Commission Office. The exhibit shown there is regarded by those whose judgment is to be highly valued as remarkable for its fulness, the impartial and comprehensive nature of its information, and, educationally, it is one of the most important features of our work. Over 11,000 articles have been gathered and tabulated in proper order.

It is the hope of the Commission to gather, by degrees, what may be called a Sunday-school museum, showing the progress and development, not only of the modern Sunday-school, but the whole history of the religious instruction of youth. Such an exhibit would form in the future one of the most interesting possessions of the diocese, and would contribute in no small degree towards the advancement of Christian learning. Our entire exhibit has been displayed this year at Teachers' College, Richfield Springs, the General Convention and the Religious Education Association Convention in Boston, besides minor exhibits sent to eleven other cities.

2. The Commission Bulletin. Another factor of practical importance is the Commission Bulletin, published quarterly, beginning with the issue of December, 1904. This undertaking was made at the request of many Sung-school workers throughout the Church. It is a medium for the exchange of news and information along all lines of Sunday-school work.

The current number (September) contains reports from some thirty Dioceses, with other articles on Lesson Courses, Conferences and Conventions, suggestions and discussion, which cannot but prove helpful to the individual rector and teacher. The Bulletin aims to supply just those helps which would seem to be needed towards creating in every parish a sense of corporate interest in, and connection with, every other Sunday-school. It not only gives suggestion and presents theories, but records the actual results of methods and experiments.

3. The outlook over the Church at large is most encouraging. Since our annual report the Joint Commission on Sunday-school Institution has been appointed and organized for work. This is the one official Commission of the American Church, and its future usefulness can hardly be overestimated. This coming month there will be held, here in New York, a gathering representing this Joint Commission of the General Convention, Joint Diocesan Lesson Committee, and the Federated Diocesan Sunday-school Organizations. Of these last during the past year new ones have been organized, making ninety-six in all.

4. The Treasurer's Report. In connection with the Treasurer's report, I desire to say that not one dollar of the money spent by the Commission is lost to the output of literature. The money is required for salaries of the staff, for conferences, correspondence and expenses connected with the exhibit. We owe our thanks to those who have helped us so materially, both in providing office accommodations and by financial aid. The Commission fully appreciates this. Without it nothing could have been accomplished. Only I pray the Convention for a larger support. The budget of the Treasurer, amounting to about $2,000, is hardly more than that of a small mission station, and yet the work it represents reaches in reality the largest constituency.

5. The Sunday-school Association of the Diocese. The organization of this Association, last June, brought to pass one of the objects contemplated in the original appointment of the Commission. It will be interesting to recall the resolution adopted at the Convention of 1898: "Resolved, That a Commission be appointed, whose duty it shall be to consider the expediency of establishing a Sunday-school Institute in this Diocese which shall serve as a centre of communication through which information as to the best methods of organizing and conducting Church Sunday-schools may be gained, with a view of raising the standards of Sunday-school teaching, and furthering the work of the proper grading of schools, and the use of such text-books and lessons as may most satisfactorily meet the needs of the Church."

When in its report last year the Commission urged the adequate organization of Sunday-school Associations throughout the Archdeaconries of the Diocese it hardly dared to hope for so general a response. But through the personal interest and leadership of the Bishop and the Bishop Coadjutor, and the cordial coöperation of the several Archdeacons and many of the clergy, this has been so far accomplished, and there opens before us a new and altogether hopeful era.

Our part of the work, therefore, for which the Commission was originally appointed, has been accomplished in the forming of this Association. Certain things which the Commission has heretofore sought to do are now handed over to the Association. The work in the several Archdeaconries, the establishment of training classes and sectional conferences, the application of methods, matters of local administration and the regulating and compacting of efforts for improving the schools, these are within the natural promise of such an organization representing the schools themselves.

This Association represents, therefore, the point of contact between the Commission and the school, and undertakes the definite application of ideals and methods. It is a cause for deepest congratulation that this step has been taken, and the schools of the diocese so completely committed to the corporate working out of their great task, and to such cordial affiliation with the Diocesan Commission.

The Constitution and By-laws of this Association show the practical value of this new step that has been taken. It means that every school will be drawn into touch with every other, and that a sense of fellowship in a common task will be felt throughout the diocese.

6. Educational Ideals of the Age. In the light of this, the work of the past seven years stands out distinctly. It has from the beginning moved along a certain definite line. If at any time our policy has seemed vague and experimental, it was not so in actual fact. The general purpose was clear. The movement was, of necessity, larger, and outreached the borders of the diocese, because in reality it was part of a great and growing movement in the religious and educational life of the nation.

This movement has us in its grasp. The changed attitude of to-day is shown in the words of President Eliot in a recent address on religion in the University, where he asserts that, "a university which has no department of theology, and gives no religious teaching, is not entitled to that noble name, for it lacks the most essential and, historically, the most potent element of universality." Such words sound the note of a new sense of the part religious learning must play in the culture and life of the world. And this in time throws richer light on the work of the Sunday-school. For the Sunday-school is "unique among all those concerned in the education of children, as the only one devoted entirely to ethical and religious instruction and inspiration."

We must keep constantly in mind this larger and nobler conception of the Sunday-school if we are to save it from its own natural limitations and difficulties, and create for it a steadfast enthusiasm in the hearts of teachers and clergy. The accomplishment of such a task is now only in its beginnings. But that it has begun, the history of the past few years shows. It means the coming in of a new religious faith for the Church and Nation. We are not only to bring to the child knowledge of religion, and especially of the religious truth as held by his own Church, but we are to inspire him with a new reverence for God, a new reverence for his own life and the life of the world, and a new devotion to the worship of God.

7. The Cathedral System. There is one other fact to which attention should be called. The Cathedral system of this diocese has one feature peculiar to itself among all Cathedral bodies. It is the only one, it is believed, in which childhood and youth are distinctly recognized by any one officially connected with the Cathedral Chapter. There is in this a particularly sacred significance. The commission of Christ to His Church was one that directly gathered the childhood of the world to its heart. The meaning of this is not far to seek. The Cathedral body is in reality the extension of the Episcopate. And the Episcopate of this diocese has thus created a distinct personal relationship with the childhood of the Church.

It is more than we may at first realize that the great Cathedral is thus not alone the place of a glorious architecture and stately worship, but that it may thus become the Cathedral of the Holy Childhood. "Men live less by knowledge than by an appreciation of what has not yet been gathered up in the categories of science," and it is equally true that the Church lives less by the terms of an exact and definite creed than by those ever fresh enthusiasms and affections and wonders that come upon her from God through the mystery and need of the child and of the world.

The impress upon the heart of childhood of the higher religious spirit and attitude is the great end we are to reach. The Church that can make that impress has gone far towards saving the nation and conserving its moral life. And that is the high definition of Sunday-school work. Through all our work, through books and teachers, by all the fellowship and worship and service of the Church, by forms and sacraments, by creeds and prayers, we are set to make that impress. That is Sunday-school work, and for this we are to stand.

If that impress is given, and it can be, through all the methods and influences of the Church, to which the child is subjected, "we may dare to trust life with all its stress and pain, its periods of doubt and reaction, and hope that through all may remain the influence of wonder, reverence and enthusiasm to transfigure the moral life."

The following resolution is offered, whose object is to secure a permanent place for this Commission in the life and work of the Diocese:

Resolved, That at each annual Convention the Bishop shall appoint a Diocesan Sunday-school Commission, to be known as the New York Sunday-school Commission. It shall consist of not less than ten members, part of whom shall be clergymen and part laymen.

It shall be the duty of the Commission to study the problem of Religious Education, to investigate its conditions and needs, with a view especially of raising the standard of religious instruction in the diocese, furthering the work of Sunday-schools and all associations, and to foster in every way whatever may aid in the building of religious faith, Christian character and the spiritual life.

The Commission shall report annually to the Convention.

PASCAL HARROWER,
Chairman.

The Rev. Dr. Nichols also presented and read the following statement with reference to the financial needs of the work of the Sunday-school Commission :

Seven years ago the Bishop of this diocese announced to the Convention that he had appointed a Sunday-school Commission. The Convention responded to this announcement with enthusiasm, and appropriated $1,000 for the initial work of the Commission.

Since its appointment the Commission has labored industriously for the advancement of Sunday-school interests along all wise lines. Under its auspices, courses of lectures have been delivered, conferences held, institutes and commissions formed in other dioceses and in churches of other names; a fine exhibit of Sunday-school paraphernalia has been brought together and displayed in several centres; and connections have been formed with schools and universities on the basis of common interest in religious education.

The Sunday-school Commission of the diocese of New York has become a recognized authority and centre of influence in Sunday-school work throughout the country, a position for its Commission of which this metropolitan diocese may well be proud.

To accomplish this result a secretary and an increasing office force have been a first essential. The Commission gratefully acknowledges the unflattering support of the Bishop, by which central quarters in the Diocesan House have been placed at its disposal; and its work has been annually commended to the support of the diocese. Generous parishes and individuals have contributed each year, not for what they severally receive from the Commission, but from a sense of the value of such a work being carried on under the auspices of the Convention of the diocese of New York.

The number of such contributions is, however, small. The work of the Commission has grown entirely beyond its support. Prosperous and increasing work appeals to a larger outlay and consequent support.

Confident that the Convention of the diocese of New York believes in its Sunday-school Commission and is proud of its accomplishments, thankful for the support heretofore rendered, its Finance Committee appeals to the Convention for advice and coöperation in raising the twenty-five hundred dollars annually needed for its maintenance.

(Signed) H. H. PIKE,

Treasurer and Chairman of Finance Committee.

HARRY P. NICHOLS, D.D.

GEO. R. VAN DE WATER, D.D.

The Rev. Dr. Seabury offered the following proposed substitute for Article VII. of the Constitution as submitted by the Committee on Canons, and on motion the substitute was referred to that committee for consideration and report to next Convention:

Proposed substitute for

ARTICLE VII.

In all matters which shall come before the Convention the Clergy and Laity shall deliberate in one body. In voting each clerical member shall be entitled to one vote, the Bishop and Bishop Coadjutor having the right to vote with the Clergy. When votes are taken by orders, the lay delegates of each Church shall be entitled to one vote, except that when more than one Church or Chapel shall be united under one Vestry, and shall have been so united and recognized by the Convention prior to the last Wednesday in September in the year of our Lord 1850, the delegates of such Vestry only shall be entitled to one vote for each Church or Chapel.

Except in cases where a vote by orders is required, the concurrence of a majority of the clerical and lay members present shall constitute a vote; but in any case a vote by orders may be required by five members. When a vote by orders is taken the concurrence of a majority of each order shall constitute a vote. In the election of a Bishop the two orders shall always vote separately.

The Rev. Mr. Hulse offered the following report:

Report

THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL ASSOCIATION OF THE DIOCESE.

Sunday-school Association of the Diocese of New York was organized by the Sunday-school teachers and officers of the Diocese at a meeting of the Sunday-school Commission, held at the Synod Hall, June 7, 1905. The object of the Association is to unite the Sunday-schools of the Diocese for all purposes that affect their common welfare.

There are no dues, but to defray the modest expenses necessary the Association requests each Sunday-school to send them an offering on Sunday."

It is a representative association; every Sunday-school in the Diocese is represented by membership; each Archdeaconry is represented on the Executive Committee by the Archdeacon and one elected member.

It is a democratic association; membership in it is voluntary, and every Sunday-school is represented at the annual Convention. It purposes to bring together the Sunday-schools of the Diocese in an attempt to make the best of existing circumstances. It realizes that the conditions of Sunday-school teaching are not ideal, that the equipment is insufficient, that the rooms are badly adapted to the purpose, and that the teachers are for the most part untrained. But such as they are, we know that they are the best that can be obtained, and our effort will be to bring together those who are suffering from these disadvantages, that we may counsel and get the best results out of the imperfect tools we are compelled to use. We are glad to have as members of the Association the rich and prosperous Sunday-schools of the Diocese where conditions approach perfection, where one can afford to have paid teachers and fine rooms and beautiful pictures; especially welcome the poor school that has to be content with poor equipment, where the teachers come to their class tired because they work hard all through the week, and where they have little training but great love for children and for souls and that desire to be of service to the Church which all other training is of little use.

Through the effort we hope to make to help all the Sunday-schools of the Diocese and to improve the religious education of the young we ask the presence and good will of this Convention.

I have requested to present the following resolutions:

Resolved, That this Convention recommend to the Sunday-schools of the Diocese that they set aside the Second Sunday in Advent as Bible Sunday, and that they take up an offering for the Sunday-school Association of the Diocese at that time.

Resolved, That this Convention request the Sunday-school Association of the Diocese of New York to arrange so far as possible for the proper observance of the Second Sunday in Epiphany as Missionary Sunday, as recommended by the Board of Missions.

On motion the resolutions appended to the report were adopted.

The Rev. Dr. Van Kleeck, in behalf of the special committee on the time for holding Convention, presented the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That as the last Wednesday in September has been found to be inconvenient to many members of the Convention, the Bishop and the Standing Committee be requested to change the time of the Annual Convention to the second Wednesday in November.

Resolved, That the change of the time of holding the Convention be referred to the Committee on Canons, that such change may be made in Article I. of the Constitution as may be found necessary.

Mr. Henry Lewis Morris, in behalf of the Committee on Canons, offered the following substitute to Article I. of the Constitution, which was approved and referred to the next Convention for final adoption:

ARTICLE I.

There shall be a Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this Diocese in each year. It shall be held at the Cathedral on the second Wednesday in November, unless the Bishop, with the consent of the Standing Committee, or, in case of a vacancy in the Episcopate, unless the Standing Committee shall appoint another place or time.

The Rev. R. B. Kimber presented and read the following report:

Report

OF THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY IN THE DIOCESE OF NEW YORK.

The Woman's Auxiliary of this Diocese respectfully reports as follows:

This has been an exceptional year in the history of the New York branch, and it is with devout thankfulness that we record the increased interest in missions, in attendance at all meetings and in larger gifts. This is, in part, to be attributed to the wave of missionary enthusiasm created in Boston at the time of the General Convention by the splendid stings for women, planned and carried out by our efficient General Secretary.

The Advent meeting of the New York branch, held on St. Andrew's Day, St. Bartholomew's Church, was in every sense the best in the history of the Auxiliary, and which the Bishop of Tokyo pronounced the finest missionary meeting, except the large ones in Boston, that he had ever attended. Time does not permit a detailed account, but as a matter of history it may be interesting to know that 103 parishes in this diocese were represented by 655 persons who signed the attendance cards. Thirty-five sexes and missionary districts were represented by visitors, and six countries other than our own. In all, 810 cards were signed, but those did not fully represent the attendance.

Over 500 received the Holy Communion, and the offertory exceeded $500. A supplementary meeting was held the following afternoon at Synod Hall, in order to enable the Auxiliary to hear the women and other missionaries. It proved a successful experiment.

While several branches have been reorganized, we record only one new one, that of the Church of the Resurrection, on May 19th, but we have also one of our best branches, that of All Souls' Church.

Owing to the faithful and efficient work of the Chairmen of the Junior Department and the Babies' Branch, eleven new Junior branches and eight Babies' branches have been organized.

There are 112 parishes enrolled in the Auxiliary. One hundred and twenty-five are reported as having United Offering treasurers, against twenty-eight last year.

The most satisfactory progress has been in mission study classes, which supply the information so essential to intelligent work. Only one New York woman attended the Silver Bay Conference in 1904. She was so impressed by the spiritual teaching that she determined to form a normal class for mission study. This was held during the six weeks of Lent, resulting in eighteen young women forming as many classes in different parishes. So the endless chain has been started, all because one godly young woman recognized her opportunity.

Another class was held at the residence of the Diocesan Secretary, during Lent, conducted by the Educational Secretary, the Rev. Everett P. Smith, the subjects being Alaska and Japan.

Mrs. R. H. Soule, the beloved and successful Diocesan Treasurer for the United Offering, who carried over $20,000 to Boston, as a result of her tireless labor, resigned, owing to removal from the Diocese. It seemed as if no one could fill her place, but Mrs. James L. Truslow, Jr., was immediately found, and elected last November. She comes to the office with much experience, and a special talent for this work.

The St. Augustine's League, for work among the colored, loses, as its chairman, Mrs. Clement Cleveland, who for eight years has ably conducted its affairs. As she remains on as Vice-Chairman, the League will still be fit by her counsel. She will be succeeded by Mrs. John C. O'Connor, of St. John's Church, who will assume her duties in November.

Mrs. F. V. S. Crosby, the Treasurer of the Executive Board since its organization, is compelled by ill health to give up her office. She will be much missed in our Executive meetings as a superior officer.

The summary of the year's work will be found in the printed report. It shows a total in money and the value of boxes of $78,210.57. This includes $14,500 given to Bishop Ferguson for a Trade School for girls, by a member of the New York Auxiliary, also gifts in this diocese amounting to $2,505.14 in money and boxes; but omitting them, the reports still show a gain over last year in the grand total of $18,813.75. Besides, there is bank up to date over $3,000 for the United Offering of 1907.

Again we plead for new branches. The officers of the Executive Board stand ready to go any distance, at any time, to assist in the good work of organization. They feel assured that the rectors will find the Auxiliary a help rather than a hindrance. One rector has testified that his Auxiliary is more of a help to him than any other parish society. That is what the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions in this diocese aims to be.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY F. WATSON,

President.

THE LORD'S DAY

MEN, BRETHREN AND FATHERS:

It is not for nothing that Section III, of Canon 12 of the Canons of this Church, provides that "Every Bishop shall deliver, at least once in three years, a Charge to the Clergy of his Diocese, or Missionary District, unless prevented by reasonable cause"; and it can hardly be described as a "reasonable cause" for his not doing so, that he may see fit, from time to time, to season the statistical statements of his Annual Convention Address with certain counsels, or admonitions, which may happen to be appropriate to a conventional assemblage.

The ground of requiring of a Bishop, that, at least once in three years, he shall deliver to his people—for by the term "Clergy" in the Canon I take leave to understand as included with them those to whom it is the office of the clergy to minister—the ground I say for requiring of a Bishop a Triennial Charge is somewhat higher and wider than the requirement of an Annual Address. In its requirement of an Annual Address the Canon reminds the Bishop that he is a steward and a servant; and that, as such, he must give an account of his stewardship, report his ministrations, describe his journeyings and services, and submit such a statistical statement of his Episcopal Acts as shall show that, in those Canonical requirements of Visitations, Consecrations, Ordinations, and the like, he has at least endeavored to be faithful.

But a Bishop is not only a steward, he is a watchman. When we argue for Episcopacy, let us be careful not to go below the ideal of its original conception, or the inspired description of its highest responsibility. I confess I do not wonder at the answer of the child who, to the question, "What is a Bishop?" replied, "The top is a Confirming machine," for, however important the offices of confirming, ordaining and the like, and however lofty their significance as symbolizing those spiritual gifts and powers without which all the rest in the Church is of secondary value or consequence, it still remains that the original conception of the Episcopate in this Church involves and implies oversight: that wider range, that larger outlook, that more comprehensive vigilance, not always possible to those whose tasks are more circumscribed, and whose opportunities for observation are more limited.

And that some such conception of the Episcopate and its responsibilities was uppermost in the minds of those who fashioned the Church's formularies there can be no doubt. In the office for consecration of a Bishop it is said, "Hold up the weak, heal the sick, bind up the broken, bring again the outcasts, seek the lost"; and it is impossible rationally to think of any most imperative discharge of these obligations which does not reach over, and far out, far beyond the bonds of any particular fellowship, or communion, or society. The Christian disciple can not limit his rest or his efforts to these, and still less can he whose office it is to oversee (for such is the meaning of the word which designates the office) that whole domain of human society, of which, after all, the Church is but a meagre and militant part.

It is for this reason, men and brethren, that I ask you to go with me this morning to that loftier viewpoint which sees not the Church alone, but the whole land; and not alone this land, but all lands to which the Religion of Jesus Christ has come, or to which, by the means of your services and sacrifices and mine, and all theirs, the name of Christ, it is yet to come.

One thing, in these various lands, so far as they are Christian lands, at any rate, we see; and its large and profound significance is in vain that men seek to undervalue; and that is the clear and true relation of high ideas and ideals of civilization with a pure and true estimate of Sunday.

It is of that that I propose to speak in this Charge; and I may well frankly say, at the outset, that I shall not be deterred from doing so by the very natural, and probably very general, comment of the secularists, that the Minister of the Christian Religion must, none of them has lately said, "take care to make a good fight for his day, or he will lose his job." Of course there are, and always will be, people whose conception of the Christian Ministry must needs be much like that; and he is a wise man who meets their jibes with the kindly serenity which a knowledge of its essential falsehood ought to enable him to maintain. Indeed, I am not sure that it may not be well for him to go a step farther. The secularist says, "You parsons are concerned to maintain a reverent observance of Sunday because it involves, and especially conserves, your job." Very well, my brother, did it ever occur to you that Sunday is quite as important to you, and the great majority of your fellows, because, also it conserves your job? Some years ago, when the motor power of our street railways consisted of horses, a kinsman who related to me the experience was taken into a great car stable in which were stalled several hundred horses. He had been told that each car required three pairs or six horses; but to his surprise the horses were grouped in sevens; and on inquiring the meaning of this arrangement he was told that when a car was used every day, as were the cars and also the horses of the street railways, it had been found, by practical experience, that there must always be one extra horse standing in the stables. Or, in other words, that what for horses there was no law of Sunday rest, one seventh of the horses necessary for this service must be, every day, at rest.

I do not undertake here to discuss the physical law behind this. It would require a volume by itself; but I would invite the attention of those to whom I speak to an essay on the subject by the late Professor Egleston, some time a professor in Columbia University and a Vestryman of Trinity parish, whose array of facts, in this connection, is at once startling and conclusive. For, concerning the law itself, there can not honestly be any doubt. From the bottom to the top, Nature has proclaimed the law of Periodic Rest in tones which cannot be mistaken. Whether it be a car-wheel, or a human brain, something of absolute and supreme authority must give it pause; and there is no people on earth that so sorely needs to recognize this fact as we fevered and overdriven Americans. Everything in the conditions of our life—the characteristic of our climate, more highly charged, I believe, with electricity than any other; the sharp competitions of our businesses; the national restlessness and passion for change, which make it so hard for us to live where we were born, or to work where our fathers worked before us; all these things conspire to produce a result which is at once menacing and melancholy. The strife of our unresting life reminds one of that athlete who, to outstrip another, runs swiftly up a steep hill, and drops dead with heart disease at the top of it.

And, all the while, the law remains, to bear witness to the august fact that we can not trifle with that divine principle which is written, first of all, in our own members. Undoubtedly, the conditions of our modern life conspire, with an often curious ingenuity, to provoke us to its disregard. If one were so minded, he might draw a suggestive contrast in this connection between the modern and the mediæval Sabbath breaker. Five hundred years ago life was far more narrow than it is to-day, and more monotonous. The week-day tasks recurred with a regularity and identity which made their burden to consist, quite as often as otherwise, in their intolerable sameness. They were handicrafts, usually, whether of the husbandmen or the mechanic, in a literal sense. But to-day they are much more. The discovery and application of machinery, taken together with the employment in energizing it, of steam and electricity, have made a great deal of work-a-day life indefinitely more arduous and anxious. Unquestionably it has eased the shoulder of the wayfaring man of many a burden; but it is a question whether what it has lifted off at one end it has not added on at the other. A society in London called the Sunday League (designed, I suppose, for the purpose of lightening the strain of modern life upon the workingman) "ran no less than twenty-three special excursion trains on one Sunday in June four years ago, from London to Portsmouth, carrying fourteen thousand passengers." * No doubt, these twenty-three trains, by taking their passengers to the sea, afforded them the relief of a most blessed change; but nobody seems to have been concerned with the crews that manned the trains. And if it be said—as of course it will be said—that this was a case of "the greatest good of the greatest number," a much graver and more fundamental question arises, and that is the question of my deriving good at the cost of another's involuntary injury. Involuntary, I say, for bear in mind, my brother, that no man climbs to his place on a Sunday train as a volunteer, but, ordinarily, because it will cost him that place if he refuses to do so.

official will tell you, nothing has been more significant during the last twenty years than the increased demand for Sunday trains. But the Sunday train is, most of all, significant and menacing because it is symptomatic, and because you can not multiply travel and railway traffic on Sunday without multiplying, in countless ways, the demands upon the workingman. And the question for every one who owns himself to be under the law of a divine brotherhood is this: How far am I ordering my life, and the lives of those who are in any wise dependent upon me—my children, my domestics, my work-people—so as to safeguard for them a day of rest?

It is at this point that there enter other and larger questions which it belongs to you and me to face, and concerning which our national apathy should be matter of grave concern. We, many of us, live and act as if the traditions of our forefathers were in this matter to continue to prevail, and that all that can be required is to maintain their observance with a certain good-natured ridicule for their Puritan exaggerations. I shall not weary you by rehearsing those Puritan exaggerations; but it is time that you and I were reminded that the Puritan exaggerations of Sunday observance were the inevitable and often heroic reaction and protest against abuses of Sunday which, in the older world, everywhere turned it into an often godless and licentious play-day. In the Book of Homilies will be found one entitled "Of the Time and Place of Prayer," and in this is a vivid picture of Sunday profanation as it existed in the latter half of the sixteenth century. "It is lamentable," says the Homily, "to see the wicked boldness of those that will be counted God's people, who pass nothing at all of keeping and hallowing Sunday. And these people are of two sorts. The one sort if they have any business to do, though there be no extreme need, they must not spare the Sunday, they must ride and journey on the Sunday; they must buy and sell on the Sunday; they must keep markets and fairs on Sunday; they use all days alike, workdays and holy days are all one. The other sort is worse. For, although they will not travel nor labor on the Sunday as they do on the weekday, yet they will not rest in holiness as God commandeth; but they rest in ungodliness and filthiness; they rest in excess and superfluity, in gluttony and drunkenness, like rats and swine; they rest in brawling and railing, in quarreling and fighting; they rest in wantonness and toyish talking, in filthy fleshliness; so that it

th too evidently appear that God is most dishonored and the evil better served on the Sunday than upon all the days of the week besides." *

Now it must be remembered that this language is not that of one inflamed and exaggerating dissenter, but of that Book of Homilies which was issued by the Church of England and appointed to be read in all its sanctuaries; which describes a situation concerning which obviously there could be no dissent. What we call the Puritan reaction was the instinctive and inevitable recoil, extravagant and excessive if you choose, but inevitable, in view of a total perversion of a sacred institution to uses alike corrupt and degrading.

It is for us, men and brethren, to face a situation singularly like that existing in England in the sixteenth century, though brought about by different causes. And all the more is this the case because, while there is identity in the situations, there is absolute dissimilarity in the causes that have produced them. In foreign lands, whenever Sunday has been profaned, it has been mainly because it was a reaction from conditions of monotony which I have already described. It is profaned to-day in America, not so much because the week-day conditions of the workingman are monotonous, as because they are feverish and over-exacting. The other day in a neighboring State two trolley cars came into fatal collision with one another because the motorman of one of them had fallen asleep at his post. How many hours had he been on duty with every faculty strained to its utmost tension? Nobody, it would seem, was concerned to find that out, and yet that, plainly, is the one fact of consequence which underlaid the whole tragedy. "Yes," somebody may answer, "but if he could not stand the strain there were dozens of men who believed that they could, and who were waiting to snatch his place."

And that brings us to another feature of the present situation about which any discussion of it would be equally irksome and idle. I have not concerned myself, as you may have noted, with any discussion of the usual arguments for Sunday; and I am bound to say that, for our purpose, they would be equally superfluous and pertinent. If any one of you is anxious to review them, let me commend to him Archdeacon Hessey's Bampton Lectures for 1860, published by Cassell & Co., and in all respects the ablest discussion of "Sunday, its Origin, History and Present Obligation" of which I know. But the question for us here in New York is the question, How are we going to conserve Sunday at all, and what is the line of action open to men who recognize its fundamental relation to our social order and our national life? Fundamental, I say, because without at all insisting upon the force of the physical obligations of the law of Sabbathic rest, there are other questions which, though they are chiefly intellectual, touch the foundations of our national and domestic existence and which cannot be ignored. There can be no question as to the drift of our national life to-day—it is to alternate between drudgery and amusement; for while it is true that culture is more diffused and the physical conditions of life, even in the case of the poorest wage-earner, better than they were, it is no less true, as I have shown, that the conditions of our modern workday life, from the bottom to the top, in professions as truly as with handicrafts, are more exacting and more exhausting.

And so it has largely come to pass that with the great majority of people, at any rate in cities—and it is in these more and more that the majority of people are coming to live—the alternative of drudgery is recreation. The statistics of places that undertake to provide amusement would just here be a most suggestive study; for though the great majority of those who are represented in this Convention may not happen to be people who are driven by drudgery to turn to the coarsely comic for refreshment, there can be no doubt that those places of amusement—and especially those places of cheap amusement—that, night after night, are the most crowded, are places that make the smallest possible demand upon any serious attention, and provide the broadest and most bizarre appeal to the instincts of jesting and ridicule. The drama, we are wont to say, has in it the very highest possibilities, in the way of filling the imagination with lofty and inspiring images, or in illustrating, in tragic forms, the due rewards of virtue and the just chastisements of vice. Yes; but is it any such service that dramatic performances oftenest render to modern humanity? And if we may not hope for the illustration of a great moral, or civic, or social ideal by such means, would it not be well to rescue at least one day in the week, or, at any rate, some part of it, for some such higher use? The bler life of the nation, we are wont to say, must begin in the bler life of the family—and we are right. But where, as modern e is too often constituted, are we to find the hours in which the rking man, the business man or the professional man may cul-ate the acquaintance of his own children and apprehend for mself and them those higher ideals without the recognition of ouch the family, first, and then the State, must crumble into in?

It is at this point in our redemption of Sunday that I would in begin—and that for a reason to which I have already referred. is very easy for my Puritan brother, whose conception of Sun-y is at once sharp and precise, to insist upon recovering the unday, let us say, of our New England forefathers, and, to that id, to demand that legislation shall so safeguard one day in the eek that it shall neither be profaned by traffic nor disfigured by leaseure; and no sane man, however much he may be disposed to sent Sunday laws which invade, as he affirms, his rightful free-om of action, no sane man, I say, can be insensible to the neces-ty of legislation which protects the workingman from undue tactions and safeguards some hours for repose and meditation. ut the difficulty with us to-day is in securing some general con-urrence as to the hours to be thus segregated and the ends for hich they shall be guarded. Once, and that not so long ago, we ere a tolerably homogeneous people, and we, who believed strongly to the duty and necessity of safe-guarding Sunday, could say to e foreigners—I have said so myself in a sermon published some irty years ago—"If you don't like our Sunday traditions, you in stay away where they will not irk you. We mean to maintain em, as we have inherited them." Well, we cannot say so any nger! A group of statistics lately published in a responsible news-aper affords, just here, food for reflection, the significance of hich it would simply be grotesque to ignore. There were born, the Borough of Manhattan, last year, in round numbers, seventy-e thousand infants, and of these not more than one-fifth were t American parentage. Still more suggestive is the fact that hile more than eleven thousand of these were of Italian paren-ge, twenty-three hundred of German and thirty-eight hundred of ish, nearly sixteen thousand were of Hebrew parentage—or, in her words, represented a race and a religion which do not hold to erving Sunday at all!

It is plain from this that if the American citizen is to rescue his Rest Day, in any sense, he must recognize elements in the situation which are absolutely new, and which will demand, at any rate, first of all some such unification of effort as does not now anywhere exist in this land. Of course, if we are determined to refuse to recognize facts as they are, if we are wedded to endeavors to reproduce the Sunday of our Puritan ancestry, we can expend our strength in a spectacular performance which will be as pathetic as it is impotent; and, worst of all, we can conspire with Sabbath Committees and other organizations which shall labor to produce a legislation the final effort of which will simply be to contribute one more illustration of our American passion for enacting laws destined to be treated only with contempt.

And this brings me to speak of that other and higher aspect of this whole subject, of which, I doubt not, you have all the while that I have been speaking been mentally ready to remind me—the relation, that is to say, of such a body as this, and most of all of the Church of God on earth, for which this body stands, to human society, which is not economic, nor sanitary, nor moral even, but, first and last and all the time, spiritual. Man wants rest from labor; he wants recreation; he wants intellectual stimulus and nurture; he wants the guardianship of laws and customs which shall honor and maintain the Home and the Family. Yes, my brother, but, most of all, he wants God; and the supreme tragedy of human life consists in this, that, so often, he is striving to live without Him. A recent writer has called attention to the significant words in this connection of Addison. You will find them in the 112th number of the Spectator; and one may well compare with them Boswell's Journal of Johnson's "Tour in the Hebrides." Addison is spending a week out of town and says, "I am always very well pleased with a country Sunday, and think, if keeping holy the seventh day were only a human institution, it would have been the best method that could have been thought of for the polishing and civilizing of mankind. It is certain that country people would soon degenerate into a kind of savages and barbarians were there not such returns of a stated time, in which the whole village meet together, with their best faces, and in their cleanest habits, to converse with one another upon indifferent subjects, to hear their duties explained to them, and join together in adoration of the supreme Being." Addison goes on, as some of you will remember, to enlarge upon the Village Churchyard as affording that exceptional opportunity for a social exchange and a dress rehearsal, which, to his somewhat conventional mind, seemed so universally important. But the significant thing here is the recognition of the fact, however incidentally it is recognized, that there can not be a society that is not essentially barbaric, unless it have, underneath it, the enduring consciousness of divine sanctions and standards, and of divine examples and inspirations as determining all that it aims to be.

And it is just here, brethren, that we come abreast of the question of supreme consequence in our world and life of to-day. We have had some tragic instances, lately, of the facility with which, what most of us believe to be, fundamental moral standards may be obscured. We have been taught, in our social life, in our business life, in our domestic life, by lessons as humiliating as they were unmistakable, that the very foundations of all our measurements of conduct may be slowly and unconsciously eaten away, unless, from time to time, we restore them at the feet of the Source of all standards! No more disastrous effect of that great reactionary movement, away from what many people (and that not altogether unwarrantably) have regarded as over-strictness, whether in regard to Sunday observance, or to the whole system of which rigid Sunday observance was a part—no more disastrous effect, I say, of that reaction is to be found than one may trace in that setting down of all standards of right-doing which has come to be the menace of our American civilization to-day.

And, therefore, it is that it has become of paramount importance that we should recover our Lord's Day. I do not forget what I said a few moments ago, as to the complexity of this problem, in view of the huge preponderance of an alien sentiment as to Sunday with which we in this Diocese are confronted. But I beseech you to recognize that it is just at this point that our duties fall into two groups, one of them co-operative and the other exemplary. We are to strive with the humblest day-laborer, of whatever race and faith, for a common rest day; but we are, most of all, to remember that for us the old Rest Day, the horae sabbaticae, have passed forever into the incomparably higher privilege, and dignity, and potency of the Lord's Day!

Now then, suppose that, possessed of this treasure, we should strive to live worthily of it! We Churchmen are wont (not without a touch of complacency, sometimes, it is to be feared) to remind ourselves of our immeasurable superiority to other Christians about us. We are, indeed, the children of the Reformation, we say, but we are, most of all, the inheritors, whole and undefiled, of the Catholic Faith and Order. We are the guardians of Scriptural creeds and of a reverent worship. We are not idolaters of the "net and the drag," and yet are the heirs of ancient rites and ceremonies. We are in bondage to no reactionary formularies, and yet we are bred in wholesome reverence for a noble past.

Yes, my brother, all this may be true; but if it is, what are you doing with your trust? A great inheritance involves great responsibilities; and if you and I are the members of a Divine society, what is such a society doing for that modern communism, tinted, if not tainted, a little with the laxities and corruptions of that essential paganism of standards and ideals which, from the four quarters of the earth, our New York has assembled? Nowhere on earth is there so magnificent an opportunity for the Church of God to reach the hearts of men as that which is offered to our Communion on this continent to-day. We are embarrassed by no secular allegiance or alliance, are subject to no foreign autocracy, but are essentially the incarnation of Mazzini's ideal of a "Free Church in a Free State." Nor are we weighted with a past stained with cruelty and rich in its heritage of craft and duplicity. Beginning our life on these shores under conditions of pathetic feebleness and widespread misapprehension, we have won our way, step by step, to a place of commanding influence wholly disproportioned to our wealth or our numbers. Do I remind you of these things, as ground for our vainglorious boasting? God forbid! I recall them because, in connection with this matter of the right observance of the Lord's Day, I am anxious that you should realize how vast are your obligations, and how exceptional is your opportunity! The time has come when, by one common endeavor, the Christian people of this land must rise up and rescue its Lord's Day. Differ as we may as to what it stands for, or how most wisely it may be improved, there are, in connection with our American Sunday, one or two fundamental facts which admit of no dispute. One of these is that you cannot have, whether in the life of the individual, the home, or the Republic, enduring or ennobling moral standards, apart from Divine Ideals. And the other is that Divine Ideals can work no transformation in human character or conduct, unless there be opportunity for their appeal. And for this the law of our modern life must make a place.

That this has been recognized in our ancestral history there is abundant evidence. Again and again in England, for example, there has been a movement toward the redemption of Sunday from bad and base uses, of suggestive import. In the year 1833, Sir Andrew Agnew brought into Parliament a bill which began by declaring that "it is the bounden duty of the legislature to protect every class of society against being compelled to sacrifice their comfort, health, religious privileges and conscience, for the convenience, enjoyment or supposed advantage of any other class on the Lord's Day." Nothing could have been nobler than such a postulate, had it not been followed by a paragraph in the bill, excepting from its provisions "menial servants acting in the necessary service of their employers." In other words, Parliament was to make a law protecting all classes and conditions except those who needed that protection the most! It was not surprising that, contemporaneously with this proposed legislation, there was published in the same year (1833) that curious volume which some of us, I presume, have seen, called "Sunday in London, illustrated in 14 cuts by George Cruikshank," which contained this paragraph: "It is, nevertheless, most unquestionably true that whilst profound repose reigns undisturbed in 'the perfumed chambers of the great,' the cattle and the servants within their gates, and the tradesmen, 'on the great depending,' are breaking the fourth Commandment with all their might, in obedience to the orders of the great: the coachmen, and the grooms and the helpers are washing and scrubbing the cattle, and the barouches, the britzskas, the carriages and the cabs, for the afternoon-morning rides and drives; the fishmongers and poulterers are trimming the turbot and killing the quails, and the cooks and the scullions are lighting the stoves, and concocting the condiments, and graduating the gravies for the Higher Order dinner party; that is to say, the 'select' or grand dinner party."

The annotator of Cruikshank wrote these words concerning another society than our own more than three thousand miles away, and nearly a century ago. But will anybody to whom I speak care to deny that it portrays with ghastly accuracy the Sunday life among those who call themselves "superior people" to-day? And the tragedy of it, men and brethren, is not merely that some men and women must slave on the Lord's Day that others may feast; but, most of all, that they who are answerable for such a use of Sunday are saying, in effect, to the man-servant and the maid-servant within their gates, "Slave of my whim, and panderer to my appetites, Jesus called you my brother, my sister, but you are not! He told you that you were made in God's image, but you are not! He bade you believe that this life is but the vestibule and ante-chamber of another and a diviner life, but it is not! You were made to toil for my indulgence. Work or starve: and remember! Sunday is not for such as you!"

It will, perhaps, be urged that, in this discussion, I have said nothing of that which is one of its gravest aspects, and which is forced upon us by a disposition just now to utilize Sunday for the profit or amusement of those who are promoters of coarser pleasures—of baseball matches and the like—on the Lord's Day. Undoubtedly, concerning all such enterprises, it is time that a plain word should be said. It will be well to remind ourselves that that word cannot justly be merely a sweeping condemnation of a movement concerning which many of us know very little, and toward which our circumstances, it may easily be, incline us still less. It is only necessary that one should recognize how few—even though, thank God, they are more numerous than they were—are the opportunities in great, or even small, cities for an outing of any kind, in the case of wage-earners, to enable us justly to estimate the impulse which welcomes a Sunday afternoon's sport—and a gathering for the purpose of witnessing it—of whatever sort.

But, all the same, the methods which are just now pushing to the front to this end are, most of them, diseased, and, if not degrading, at least debilitating. They involve, often, the fiercest passions—brutal violence, and reckless gambling. They compel to labor on our one rest-day increasing numbers of people without whose services games and contests of whatever sort are impossible. The wildest enthusiasm of any devotee of them could not describe them as restful either to mind or body. Worst of all, they are essentially pagan, both in their origin and in their tendency. If one asks, how far is the liberty of the individual to be restrained on a Sunday from devoting some part of it to mental or physical recreation and exercise, I answer, unhesitatingly, that must be a question for the individual. "Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind," but "none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself." And "if thy brother be grieved with thy meat, now walkest thou not charitably. Destroy not him with thy meat for whom Christ died." No State, no Church, no household, can make laws for a Sunday observance which Christ has not made; but, in the exercise of our personal liberty, each one of us is bound to consider not alone his own needs, but the highest well-being of his fellow-men.

And it is at this point that, in this whole matter, we emerge from our various traditions and find ourselves upon a common standing ground. It may easily be that God has not given all of us the courage of the Reformer or the heroism of the martyr. But this, my brother, He has given you—the opportunity to bear witness! Just to live a life of consistent self-restraint; and, above all else, in dealing with those who are less favored than yourself, to cherish the principle of a fraternal equity—this will mean, in practice, to lighten, on the Lord's Day, the burdens of all those who toil for you, and to give to them the inspiration of your faith in that Divine Life which you thus take care to make more real for them as well as for yourself.

I can hear some one say, at this point, "This is all very pretty, and it might, under certain circumstances, be very proper; but one who urges a theory of social order which requires us to take account of the circumstances under which the wage-earner of whatever class does his work, really forgets or ignores the conditions of our modern life." On the contrary, I would not ignore and I can not forget them. And since I cannot, I think the Church may not dare to be silent concerning their mischievous drift. It is just because the conditions of our modern life are, in so many ways, so much more exacting, more anxious, more absorbing, than those which have preceded them, that it becomes imperative for us to recognize that "man doth not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God"—that, in other words, there is a higher life than the bread life, and that the question of the means and opportunities for feeding that life was never so imperative as to-day.

It is for this reason that I would, in conclusion, urge upon your attention three things in connection with the observance of Sunday, and entreat my brethren of the Clergy to press them upon the attention of their flocks.

1. Take care that Sunday is unlike any other day. There is no smallest doubt that the effort to attain this end has been, in many ages, and by many devout people, disfigured by rules, the mechanical note of which was equally dreary and grotesque. Dr. Sanday, in the fourth volume of Hastings' Dictionary of the Bible, under the article "The Sabbath," uses these words, "The (Hebrew) prohibition to tie or untie a knot was too general, so it became necessary to define the species of knots referred to." It was accordingly laid down that a camel-driver's knot and a boatman's knot rendered the man who tied or untied them guilty; but Rabbi Meir said, "a knot which a man can untie with one hand only, he does not become guilty by untying"; and Rabbi Jehudah plunged the whole question into a delightful and characteristic obscurity by laying "down the rule that any knot might be lawfully tied" (and, of course, lawfully untied) "which was not intended to be permanent." It is easy enough to ridicule this sort of thing, and to say that there was too much of it in the legislation and life of our Puritan ancestors. Undoubtedly there was, and the reaction which we see to-day is in no wise surprising. But the question for you and me is the question whether our fathers, after all, did not succeed in conserving something—the sense of God and of our dependence upon Him—which we are in danger of losing? If you wish to understand what I mean—for in this matter there is need of plain speaking—go with me some Saturday afternoon to the Grand Central Depot, and see the people who are going into the country to spend Sunday! They are on their way to a country house, which they will find full of gay people, the majority of whom are communicants of the Church, but not one of whom, on Sunday, will cross the threshold of a Church or think of turning his steps toward a Church door. They will, when Sunday comes, lounge in bed, or stroll out to the golf-links, or play bridge in the library. My brother, my sister, who art host or hostess for such a group, I entreat you to redeem your home for godlier usages! Let it be understood, in your house, that the Lord's Day implies a Lord's House, and that you expect your guests to accompany you thither.

no plea of weariness, or superciliousness, or indifference except those whom your roof shelters from requirements which go far and high above their mere tastes and preferences!

And this brings us, naturally, to the Church door. "But the Reverend A. B.," it may be urged, "is a very dull preacher and does not edify me." Yes, my intellectual descendant of a non-conforming ancestry, it may easily be that you have been nurtured in an atmosphere which makes a sermon the supreme witness for Christian religion. But you are a sinner needing forgiveness. Suppose you kneel down and ask for it! You are a child, groping in the dark, in a world of infinite mystery and perplexity. Suppose you sit down and hearken for a little, while out of God's Word comes a Voice which shall help to show you the way! You are a lonely traveller, struggling to find a nobler life; and, you can, to serve your fellow man. Suppose that for a little pause, and turn your eyes toward that one incomparable man who has shown us how to live, and how to serve, and how to die! All this the Church and her Services help you to do, be the preacher never so dull!

In one word, my brother, remember that you have a soul! Most of all the aggressive forces of our modern life conspire to make you forget it. The fierce competitions of the street, the office and the shop: the tremendous demands made by this twentieth century upon both brain and muscle, tempt most of us to believe that if we can satisfy these, we shall have done the one task which is the imperative to our peace and our prosperity. But we are mistaken. For, when every secular want has been satisfied and every temporal triumph achieved, there still remains that insistent undying hunger of the Soul which Jesus Christ can alone satisfy, and for which He has built His House, and ordained His Sacraments, and appointed His day, to provide. Let us be slow to esteem what He has given us!

Do not forget, let me say here in conclusion, that I have decided in this Charge two situations wholly different and dissimilar. Remember, my brother, that situations which have a superficial similarity may have an essential identity, and that neither your nor mine can be discharged by indifference to the one any more than to the other.

In other words, there are multitudes of people in this Diocese and in this Republic to whom we owe one duty, because of our common humanity. May God give us courage and wisdom to discharge it! And then, high above it, there rises another and a holier duty—our duty to our fellow disciples. For these, and for ourselves, we must safeguard the Lord's Day. May we have unerring wisdom and untiring fidelity in discharging this higher duty!

ADDRESS OF BISHOP GREER

AT THE DIOCESAN CONVENTION, 1905.

BRETHREN OF THE CLERGY AND LAITY:

Instead of reading the record of my official acts during the past year, I will, in the interest of the economy of time and following the usual custom of the Bishop of the Diocese, hand it to the Secretary to be printed in the Journal. I will also make a report in due time of the receipts and disbursements of the money which has been generously given me, in response to my appeal for a Discretionary Fund, and will send this report to the contributors.

There is, however, a subject of considerable importance, and bearing upon our work as a Council of the Church, which I will venture to bring to your notice. At a recent Convention of the neighboring Diocese of Long Island, a resolution was adopted requesting the Chairman of that body to appoint a Committee, whose duty it should be to memorialize the Board of Education of the City of New York and the State Board of Education, in behalf of a larger measure of religious and moral instruction in the Public Schools, recommending specifically the teaching of the Ten Commandments with their recognized and approved summary, and the systematic study of Ethics as applied to conduct. A member of that Convention, and the mover of the Resolution, has asked me to bring this action to your notice, and I very willingly do so, though you may not deem it wise to endorse and approve it. It will, however, I think be generally admitted, not only by all good Christians but by all good citizens, that the subject to which it refers is imminent and timely and of great and vital importance. There is, I presume, no other country in the world where the average of intelligence is so high as it is in this country, where so much attention is given to the education of the people or where such progress has been made in the enlightenment of the people. But is the moral progress of the people of this country keeping pace with their intellectual progress, their ethical advancement with their mental advancement, their conscience with their intelligence? Do we not observe to-day with some degree of concern, and at times perhaps of alarm, a growing disrespect not only among the more illiterate classes but among the educated classes as well, for order and for law, and with increasing tendencies towards corruption, graft and fraud, and the cheapening of human life and various kinds of crime, and other spots and blemishes in our social system? The statement for instance has been recently made, and the maker of the statement gives his authority for it, that whereas the number of British soldiers killed during the three years of the Boer War was about twenty-two thousand, the number of homicides in this country during the same period was upwards of thirty-one thousand. He also states that in the City of London in the year 1903 there were but twenty-four murders, and that every murderer was executed except two who committed suicide; while in the City of Chicago, with less than one-third of the population of London, there were during the same year one hundred and twenty-eight murders, and only one murderer was executed. Statistics show, he further states, quoting from authoritative reports, that criminals in this country have increased, from one in 3,442 of the population in 1850, to one in 715 in 1890.*

But I need not cite statistics; I need not quote facts; you know them as well as I. But let me not be misunderstood; I am not an alarmist nor a pessimist; and while recognizing the existence of all these tares of evil in our social life I recognize the further fact that the wheat is growing with them, and that the same society in which these evils grow will in time destroy them or at all events abate them. But how is that to be done? Can it be done by a process of intellectualization? Can it be done by the State through her public schools? Their work indeed is good, very good; it is an indispensable work, a patriotic work, entitling them to be, as in fact they are, our patriotic pride, to be not only generously and liberally supported with patriotic zeal, but jealously watched and guarded against every form of foe and opposition to them. And yet is not the feeling beginning to prevail, and here and there to appear and manifest itself, that if we are to meet and successfully resist those subtle, strong and appealing and seductive forms of evil, indigenous to and springing from the rich and fertile soil of our modern life, with its new strange and straining conditions and occasions and manifold attractions, something else is needed than the training which is furnished by a secular education; not to take the place of it, not to infringe upon it, but to supplement and enforce it, the training which is furnished by a secular education with the training which is furnished by a moral education.

And moral education, how shall that be given? It cannot be given effectively, permanently and substantially, by secular means alone. These may be and are very helpful aids, and not only helpful but needful; and yet as unaided aids they are not sufficient. They do not reach and touch the deepest springs of action; they do not go to the root of moral obligation, and the gospel so much in vogue to-day of secular education, while useful as an ally in all moral reform, cannot by itself produce a moral reformation. It is not adequate, as history has shown, in which it is made to appear that all the great moral movements and reforms have had their ultimate source not in secularism but in religion, or in some religious faith. That has been their motive power, the power that gave them start, the power that gave them birth and sustenance and growth. Like the faith of the Christian Church, which in spite of all its crudities at times, its bigotries and excesses, yet, as another has said, conquered the Empire of Pagan Rome, laid the foundations of modern civilization in the conversion of barbarous hordes, breathed new life into the world of thought and spirit in the Sixteenth Century in Europe; and, it may be added, into that new world of thought and spirit which came into being here on these American shores. For it was that faith that quickened and inspired those early settlers here, who came, as Russell Lowell said, not to seek gold but God; and that next to the fugitives whom Moses led out of Egypt that little shipload of outcasts who landed on these shores are destined to influence not only our future but the future of the world.

And how and why? Because of that religious faith which they then possessed, or which possessed them, and of that moulding moral power which was potential in it.

That is the faith which entered into the early form of our American life, giving its moral tone, its moral force and fiber, its moral sanction to it. And even those who stood in the later days of our history, whether from their own fault or from the Church's fault, beyond the Church's limits, and who as standing there outside of the Church's pale, lifted up their voice for righteousness and justice and brotherhood and freedom in this American land, as in the troubled days of the Slavery agitation, were inspired and kindled by that religious faith. That is our inheritance, that religious faith. It has entered into our system, our social and national system, and is circulating with our blood. Those to-day who think that they have cast it off, or who in its more definite form do not or cannot accept it, are nevertheless in their moral judgments, sentiments and principles influenced greatly by it. For it does by no means follow that an intellectual severance from a faith is a moral severance from it. It may indeed and often does still linger and survive as a moulding moral force in character and life. I feel at heart, said Renan, that my life is governed by a faith I no longer possess, and all that is best in me I owe to Christ. And that was but to voice, as another has said in quoting him, the experience of multitudes at the present day.

This, then, it seems to me is not only the teaching of history in general but of our American history in particular—that moral training finds its sanction and its force in religious training. And how shall that be given? The modicum of religious instruction which the State might with safety and consistency introduce or permit to be introduced into the Public Schools, such as the reading of the Ten Commandments and a few Bible chapters or parts of Bible chapters carefully selected, so as not to offend any religious opinion or denominational prejudice, might be a little gain; but it would be very little, more nominal than real, and would be too scant to accomplish much in the way of moral result; and might besides, by the introduction of an element of strife and discord into the schools, have the effect in the end to do more harm than good.

How then shall it be given, and who shall give it, that needed religious training? Well, that is what the Christian Church is for, that is her office and task, her distinctive office and task. That is the work which she must try at least to do. And how? Not by usurping the place of the schools, and certainly not by criticising them for leaving undone what they are not intended to do; but rather by an active, earnest and vigorous co-operation with them, along her own legitimate and proper lines of work, and in that manner helping the schools, they in their way and she in hers, to meet and solve more fully some of our important and important social problems. The schools are doing their part in their legitimate sphere, are doing all they can do. Is the Church doing her part in her legitimate sphere, and all that she can do? It seems to me she is not; and that with no other machinery or instruments or tools than what she now possesses she might do very much more than what she now is doing. There are, for instance, in this country, with its polyglot population, some great and hard racial problems to be solved. The public schools of the country are solving them in part by bringing together the children of all these different races—Jews, Germans, Swedes, Poles, Hungarians and others—into one homogeneous group, and making Americans of them. And that is good and important. And yet in order to solve these difficult racial problems adequately and fully the Church must help the schools, and she can help them to a far greater extent than what she now is doing.

Why, for instance, does this Church of ours have but one faithful Chaplain at this great port of entry, this City of New York, through which hundreds of thousands of foreign speaking peoples are passing every year, to be taken up and absorbed into our American life and become important factors in its development and growth? Why again does she have but one Swedish woman missionary for the one hundred and forty thousand Swedish speaking people who, during the years 1904-5, landed at Ellis Island; and none at all for the other foreign nationalities with the exception of the English? Why does she not meet them all with a Christian word of greeting and a Christian act of service at that most important and most necessitous time, and thus make at the very start Christian impression upon them, or cause them thus to feel at least that this new land to which they have come is a Christian land? Or what again does she do for them after they have come? Nothing, but not much. Why does she not do more? I recognize the difficulties that seem to block the way and know how great they are; but back of all these I recognize the basic and fundamental fact that the Gospel of Jesus Christ is for all the different tribes and tongues and races of men on earth; and here they are right here, in this metropolitan city.

As an illustration of this there is a public school in this city where there are to-day Italians, Germans, Irish, Poles, Russians, Poles, English, Scotch, Greeks, Syrians, Welsh, Austrians, Egyptians, Swedes, Norwegians, Danes, Chinese, Japanese, Swiss, Galicians, Lithuanians and a few Americans. Yes, here they are, in our midst, at our very doors. What wonder if across the seas our foreign missions languish, when, with her Christian faith intended for all mankind, even when it is reinforced by patriotic duty, the Church is doing so little to cultivate and work the foreign field that is here. She needs no new machinery, no new religious machinery. What she has is ample if only she will work it up to its full capacity; and in this free country of ours she is perfectly free to work it. Why does she not do it?

Again, what about the ten million negroes in this country, constituting more than one-tenth of the whole population? What about the problem which they present? That great and formidable problem, than which there is I think no greater and no harder in all our national life; our "Problem de Profundis," as an English writer calls it. Can we hope to solve it fully and adequately by secular education or by industrial education? These, indeed, are important, imperative and essential. But must there not go along with these such educational help as the Christian Church can give, such educational help as will tend to change the character, to regulate the emotions, to purify the passions, to develop or create or gradually instil those fixed moral principles which would tend to make those Afro-American people dwelling in our midst a moral force and factor in our national life and growth, and help them thus to reach that destiny still undetermined, but great and high as I believe, which awaits them in the future. What are we as a part of the universal Christian Church doing to solve this problem? We need no new machinery, no new religious machinery than what we already possess. It is adequate and ample; and while we are discussing various ways and means of how to solve this problem and how to go about it and what to do it with, the answer, it seems to me, is coming to-day to us as it came to the leader of Israel long ago—"What is that in thine hand? A rod? It is enough. Go, take it and use it for the deliverance of my people!"

Still again we are hearing much to-day of the need of political reformation and social reformation; and doubtless they are needed. But political reformation and social reformation must in their last analysis rest on moral reformation. They must be wrought and brought about not only or not chiefly by a reform of the statutes, the ordinances and the laws, but by a reformation of the people. The only effective way in which to make good citizens is by making first good men, and that must be and is the work of the Christian Church. I do not mean to say, of course, that there are not good men and citizens outside of the Christian Church and all religious bodies. There are. And some too there are within the Christian Church who are not good men and citizens. And yet it is the work, the missionary work of the Christian Church to make them, and notwithstanding all her failures and her lacks she is making them. With a noble band of devoted and consecrated men serving at her altars and teaching in her pulpits, she is doing to-day her work, her missionary work, and doing it on the whole, as far as the range of her influence extends, faithfully and well. But she is not doing enough of it. Why does she not do more? Again I say she does not need any new religious machinery or any new kind of machinery. What she has is good, and in this free country of ours, with nothing to let or hinder or trammel or restrain, she is perfectly free to work it. Why does she not do it? Why does she not make more of her teaching capacity in the Sunday schools? They are in their infancy as yet, and she has not begun to develop or to realize and utilize their educational power. Why does she not make them more capable and efficient? Why does she not have, as the public schools of the country, something like Normal Institutes for the training of her teachers? Why does she not go with these schools and missions, and various other agencies, to where the people are, or to where they soon will be, to lay the strong foundations of righteousness among them, for them and for their children? Why does she not address herself more adequately and fully to all these moral tasks to which I have referred, and many more besides; to all these moral needs, these present and pressing needs? That is her business in the world; why does she not perform it, on larger and more liberal lines of propagandist adventure? I think that one of the reasons is—it may not be the only one, but it is the only one of which I care to speak at present—she has not faith enough in herself to attempt it. And what to-day she needs, as another has expressed it, is a new faith in herself and in the message she has to offer, and in the divine forces which have been entrusted to her. Or rather, that is what we need, and yet so often lack. We make our little plans, and we ask for a little aid to help us to carry them out. Sometimes we receive it and sometimes we do not. More often perhaps do not. For people to-day as a rule are not much interested in little enterprises; they do not kindle towards them or feel very much enthusiasm for them. And the Church has a large enterprise upon her hands, very large, surpassing all the others in this enterprising age, not only in the greatness of its scope but in the greatness of its character. It is nothing less than the establishment in this city, and in every city in this diocese, and in every diocese, of the righteousness of God as revealed in Jesus Christ, until every knee shall bow to Him, and every tongue confess Him, to the glory of God the Father. Great? Yes, sublimely and audaciously great; and yet if we make it less we weaken its appealing power and put it out of class with the temper of the time.

For this is an age, as I have said, when large things are attempted, hopefully and bravely; and large things are done. Let but some sane and wise and promising business venture be clearly planned and formed, and no matter then how great the capitalistic need for its successful furtherance there is no difficulty in securing its underwriting. And not only is it an age of large commercial venture but of large educational venture, when great educational schemes on liberal lines are planned, and great educational plants are numerous established and generously endowed; when, not only as in Lord Brougham's phrase, "the schoolmaster is abroad," but when he also is so magnificently equipped.

And all that is good and much to be desired. It ministers to a need, a great and urgent need. But there is another need, as great as or greater, in this American Republic, and which unless supplied will make all our secular enlightenment and development militate against our real and true advancement. It is the need of Righteousness; not only on our statute books to be so often evaded; not only in our public speech simply to be applauded, but woven into the heart and life and fiber of the people. And that is the need which the Church of Jesus Christ, as God's appointed school for that specific purpose, is called upon to meet, and which she may not hope vicariously to meet, adequately and fully, through any other school. It is not an easy task, and certainly not a cheap one. Its scope is large, its nature is difficult, its performance is expensive; and yet it is the work which the Christian Church must do. not only for society's sake but for her own sake, to vindicate and to-day her own divine credentials. She claims to be of God, so she is; so she is. But let her make good her claim; not only in such manner as to persuade those who are already persuaded, but beyond all doubt and question, beyond all possible cavil, doing here and everywhere the righteous work of God.

That is now the task to which the Church is summoned, to which she now is challenged. Let us in this great diocese, with its many possibilities, take it up and meet it, hopefully, bravely and bravely. To this end, let us meet gladly and generously our Missionary Apportionment, good measure pressed down and running. To this end, let us make, gratefully and liberally, our Tercentenary Thank Offering for the establishment of this Church of three hundred years ago on these American shores. To this end let us give to our own diocesan tasks, whatever they may be, to the building of this great People's Church on these Cathedral heights to the maintenance of the humblest mission and the noblest missionary, who is bearing to-day so bravely and cheerfully his burden on his heart, our sympathy and support. And in all these ways, let us help the Church to do to-day her work, God's appointed Training School of Righteousness on the earth.

The land on which the chapel of the Good Shepherd stood having been taken by the Water Commissioners of New York City, we were obliged to secure, early in the winter, a new site. A lot was purchased in the neighborhood and the building moved thereon. This change, and the severity of the winter, caused a suspension of the services for nearly three months. A sufficient award will doubtless be made in time by the Commissioners to pay for this removal, but the condemnation of so much land in the vicinity has caused many persons to seek homes elsewhere, and consequently the work of the Chapel has been carried on under many difficulties. Now that the boundaries of the watershed appear to be fixed, we hope for more prosperous days.

The gift of $25,750 on Easter last for the reduction of our debt marked an epoch in the history of the Parish, and enables us henceforth to work without worry. This munificent gift by an anonymous donor is so deeply appreciated that all of the Parish find it impossible adequately to express their gratitude. This sum will not be reported until next year, our fiscal year running from March to March.

The great reduction in communicants compared with last year is fully accounted for by the erasure of all names of persons wholly unknown to the clergy, or not heard from in any way whatever for five years. Such a purging of Parish lists is absolutely necessary in the interests of truth and accuracy.

By actual count, 1,374 communions were made on Easter Day. Our income now provides for all expenses and, besides, retires $5,000 of the debt every year.

The number of communicants reported is the number of those who have actually received the Communion during the year and are enrolled in our records. The total number of communions made during the year was 7,687. The average number receiving the Communion, counting all celebrations, was 41. The large number of persons reported as "admitted otherwise," 146, are those from whom it was impracticable to obtain the canonical letters of transfer. So many parishes and so many communicants are careless with regard to the observance of this canon that the number of communicants whom we have enrolled from whom we could obtain no letter is more than twice as large as that of those who have actually brought the canonical letters.

Though the Rector has been the whole year largely incapacitated for duty through illness, the Sunday services have been maintained. The Rector gratefully extends acknowledgments to the Bishop, the Archdeacon and his own parishioners for their support in this direction.

During the year the Church has received a new carpet. New curtains have been placed in the chancel, choir and rood screen, and the pew cushions have been newly covered.

At Christmas, white altar hangings and dossal were presented by St. Agnes' Guild, and a frontal by a parishioner.

Through the combined efforts of St. John's, St. Agnes' and St. Agatha's Guilds, $700 has been paid on a mortgage upon this Rectory, reducing it to $2,000.

A vacant lot in a very desirable location near the present Rectory has just been secured by St. John's Guild as a site for a new Church.

ARTICLE I.

THERE shall be a Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this Diocese in each year, at such place as the Bishop shall appoint. It shall be held on the last Wednesday in September, unless the Bishop with the consent of the Standing Committee shall appoint another date. In case of the inability of the Bishop to act, or of a vacancy in the Episcopate, the Standing Committee shall appoint the time and place of holding the Convention.

And before he shall be entitled to a seat in the Convention, he shall transmit such certificate to the Secretary, to be recorded in the book mentioned in the preceding Section. The certificate shall state the time and place of the election, and shall certify that the person appointed has been duly chosen by such Church or Congregation as a Lay Delegate; that he is a Lay member of such Church or Congregation, and has been such member for at least twelve months next preceding the time of his appointment, and that the election was held in accordance with all the requirements of the Canons.

SEC. 15. The calling of the names of the Clergy entitled to seats and of the Lay Delegates may be dispensed with by a unanimous vote of the members of the Convention present, provided that evidence satisfactory to the Convention of the presence of a

The President, being elected, shall declare the Convention organized for business.

SEC. 17. The Convention shall then proceed to the election of a Secretary and Treasurer of the Convention, by ballot, unless dispensed with by the unanimous vote of the members present. The Secretary shall appoint two assistants, and announce their names to the Convention.

CANON XX.

Of the Trial of a Clergyman not being a Bishop.

Whenever any Minister of this Diocese, not being a Bishop thereof, shall become "liable to presentment and trial," under the provisions of any Canon of the General or Diocesan Convention, the mode of proceeding in this Diocese shall be as follows, viz. :

SEC. 1. The trial shall be on a presentment in writing, addressed to the Bishop of the Diocese, specifying the offences of which the accused is alleged to be guilty, with reasonable certainty as to time, place, and circumstances. Such presentment may be made by the major part in number of the members of the Vestry of any Church of which the accused is a Minister, or by any three Presbyters of this Diocese entitled to seats in the Convention, or as hereinafter mentioned. Whenever, from public rumor or otherwise, the Bishop shall have reason to believe that any Clergyman is under the imputation of having been guilty of any offence or misconduct for which he is liable to be tried, and that the interest of the Church requires an investigation, it shall be his duty to appoint five persons, of whom three at least shall be Presbyters, to examine the case, a majority of whom may make such examination ; and if there is in their opinion sufficient ground for presentment, shall present the Clergyman accordingly.

SEC. 2. A presentment being made in any one of the modes above prescribed, the Bishop, if the facts charged shall not appear to him to be such as constitute an offence, may dismiss it ; or if it allege facts, some of which do and some of which do not constitute an offence, he may allow it in part and dismiss the residue, or he may permit it to be amended. When it shall be allowed in whole or in part, the Bishop shall cause a copy of it to be served on the accused, and shall also nominate twelve Presbyters of this Diocese, entitled to seats in the Convention and not being parties to the presentment, and cause a list of their names to be served on the accused, who shall, within thirty days after such service, select five of them and notify their names in writing to the Bishop ; and if he shall not give such notification to the Bishop within the said thirty days, the Bishop shall select five, and the Presbyters so selected shall form a Board for the trial of the accused, and shall meet at such time and place as the Bishop shall direct, and shall have power to adjourn from time to time, and from place to place (but always within this Diocese), as they shall think necessary.

SEC. 3. A written notice of the time and place of their first meeting shall be served at least thirty days before such meeting on the accused, and also on one of the persons making the presentment.

SEC. 4. If, at the time appointed for the first meeting of the Board of Presbyters, the whole number of five shall not attend, then those who do attend may adjourn from time to time ; and if, after one adjournment or more, it shall appear to them improbable that the whole number will attend within a reasonable time, then those who do attend, not being less than three, shall constitute the Board, and proceed to the trial, and a majority of them shall decide all questions.

SEC. 5. If a Clergyman presented shall confess the truth of the facts alleged in the presentment, it shall be the duty of the Bishop to proceed to pass sentence ; and if he shall not confess them before the appointment of a Board for his trial, as before mentioned, he shall be considered as denying them.

SEC. 6. If a Clergyman presented, after having had due notice, shall not appear before the Board of Presbyters appointed for his trial, the Board may nevertheless proceed as if he were present, unless for good cause they shall see fit to adjourn to another day.

SEC. 7. When the Board proceed to the trial, they shall hear such evidence as shall be produced, which evidence shall be reduced to writing, and signed by the witnesses respectively ; and some officer, authorized by law to administer oaths, may, at the desire of either party, be requested to administer an oath or affirmation to the witnesses that they will testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, concerning the facts charged in the presentment. If, on or during the trial, the accused shall confess the truth of the charges, as stated in the presentment, the Board may dispense with hearing further evidence, and may proceed at once to state their opinion to the Bishop as to the sentence that ought to be pronounced.

SEC. 8. Upon the application of either party to the Bishop, and it being made satisfactorily to appear to him that any material witnesses cannot be procured upon the trial, the Bishop may appoint a Commissary to take the testimony of any such witness. Such Commissary may be either a Clergyman or a Layman, and the party so applying shall give to the other at least six days' notice of the time and place of taking the testimony. And if the person on whom the notice shall be served shall reside more than forty miles from the place of examination, an additional day's notice shall be given for every additional twenty miles of the said distance. And both parties may attend and examine the witness, and the questions and answers shall be reduced to writing and signed by the witness, and shall be certified by the Commissary, and enclosed under his seal, and transmitted to the Board, and shall be received by them as evidence. A witness examined before such Commissary may be sworn or affirmed in manner aforesaid.

SEC. 9. The Board having deliberately considered the evidence, shall declare, in a writing signed by them, or a majority of them, their decision on the charges contained in the presentment, distinctly stating whether the accused is guilty or not guilty of such charges, respectively, and also stating the sentence which in their opinion should be pronounced ; and a copy of such decision shall be, without delay, communicated to the accused, and the original decision, together with the evidence, shall be delivered to the Bishop, who shall pronounce such canonical sentence as shall appear to him to be proper, provided the same shall not exceed in severity the sentence recommended by the Board ; and such sentence shall be final. Before pronouncing any sentence the Bishop shall summon the accused, and any three or more of the Clergy, to meet him at such time as may in his opinion be most convenient, in some church to be designated by him, which shall for that purpose be open at the time to all persons who may choose to attend, and the sentence shall then and there be publicly pronounced by the Bishop. But the Bishop, if he shall be satisfied that justice requires it, may grant a new trial to the accused, in which case a new Board of Presbyters shall be appointed, the proceedings before whom shall be conducted as before mentioned.

SEC. 10. All notices and papers contemplated in this Canon may be served by a summoner or summoners, to be appointed for the purpose by the Bishop, and whose certificate of such service shall be evidence thereof. In case of service by any other person, the facts shall be proved by the affidavit of such person. A written notice or paper delivered to a party, or left at his last place of residence, shall be deemed a sufficient service of such notice or paper.

SEC. 11. The defendant may have the privilege of appearing by counsel; in case of the exercise of which privilege, and not otherwise, those who present shall have also the like privilege.

CANON XXI.

Concerning the Dissolution of the Pastoral Relation by Reason of Disability of a Minister.

Whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Bishop, on competent medical testimony, that by reason of incurable mental or physical disability a clergyman has become incapable of discharging the duties of his cure, it shall be competent for the Bishop, on the application of the Vestry or Trustees of the Church, and upon reasonable notice to all the parties concerned, to dissolve the pastoral relation between such clergyman and his church.

CANON XXII.

Concerning Alterations in the Canons and Additions thereto.

No proposed alteration of, or addition to, the Canons shall hereafter be considered by the Convention, unless at least one day's previous notice be given thereof in open Convention; nor, unless by unanimous consent, until such alteration or addition shall have been referred to and reported upon by a Committee of at least two Presbyters and two Laymen. Nor shall such alteration or addition be adopted, during the same Convention, if two-thirds of the votes of both orders, taken separately, shall not concur therein; but in such case the same (unless negatived by a majority of the members present) shall lie over for consideration until the next annual meeting of the Convention.
